House Minority Leader Discusses Taxes, Tactics

Legislators who introduce bills "for publicity purposes only" drew sharp criticism this week from Representative F. F. "Monte" Montgomery, House minority party leader.

"With Oregon's taxpayers spending more than $1,250,000 to operate this year's Legislature, it seems ridiculous to see some of the activities of certain members who sponsor bills with no public appeal and which do not meet any demonstrated public need," he told us.

"There are those in the Assembly," he said, "who adhere to the principle of government by press release. We neither can afford, nor do the people want, such a system."

The tall Eugene Republican emphasized that a Legislator should "not be judged on the number of bills he introduces" or how many times he is able to get his name in the local newspapers.

As examples, he cited the Basic School Support budget, which must support "15,000 additional youngsters each school year—at a time when both Federal and property taxes are at an all-time high."

Minority leader Montgomery discussed Governor Hatfield's $405 million budget, which was submitted (by statute) last December 1.

"The Governor had a good budget. But it is difficult to anticipate revenues and expenditures as far as 32 months in advance," Montgomery explained.

"This budget is designed primarily to meet the demonstrated needs of our times—an objective with which no one can take exception."

"It's a system employed in Oregon for more than 100 years—the results of which made our state the envy of other states for its fiscal security," he said.

"My viewpoint is that when the Democratic leadership gets through with their alleged slices in the Governor's program and other 'adjustments' they want to make—the final result will be an increase of from 1% to 2% over Governor Hatfield's recommended budget, and not a decrease," predicted Montgomery.

Bond Sales Up; Drive Plans Set

During February Morrow county sales for United States Savings Bonds amounted to $14,634, according to J. H. Bedford, Savings Bonds Chairman.

In this monthly sales release the county chairman said, "While our Savings Bonds Sales in Oregon were off slightly in February, sales in the State are still about 6% ahead of the first two months of last year."

Announcement was also made by Bedford that an effort is being made in all Oregon counties to obtain the cooperation of the major civic, service, patriotic and women's organizations, as well as farm and union groups where they exist, for an effort by each group to take an active part in the coming Freedom Bond Drive by seeking to earn the United States Treasury Department Citation through purchases by 50% or more member families of one or more Savings Bonds by July Fourth.

He asked that organizations in the county which are interested in seeking this citation get in touch with him as soon as possible.

If we but stand on the solid ground of faith we can remain calm and unshaken regardless of the unexpected turns that life may take.

Hoof, Horn Club Tells 4-H Work At Chamber Meet

Members of the Hoof and Horn 4-H Livestock club of which Marcel Jones is leader, told of the many different types of club work open to members in a report to the Chamber of Commerce Monday, March 4, in connection with national 4-H club week.

They were introduced by Joe Hay, county extension agent, and each of the 14 present shared in the presentation with a brief talk on the different clubs.

Discussion on the new fire patrol tax bill, now in the legislature, brought support of the Chamber. It was introduced by Rep. Jack Smith and would decrease the amount paid per acre for owners of both forest and grazing lands.

Litterbugs Cost $183,782 Yearly

Keeping Oregon's highways clean and attractive cost the State Highway Department $183,782 during 1962, according to Forrest Cooper, state highway engineer.

Of this amount, approximately $91,500 was cleanup costs directly chargeable to servicing the 700 litter barrels located on highways throughout the state.

Much of the remaining cost went to cleaning up scattered rubbish left behind by litterbugs. This work, plus the litter barrels, has resulted in the Highway Department's receiving many letters from out-of-state visitors complimenting the state for its clean highways.

The Highway Department has installed signs at strategic locations throughout the state reading "Don't Litter Highway—$100 Penalty," but not everyone heeds the warning. "Litterbugging" along the highways of Oregon last year caused the arrest of 87 persons and fines totaling $1,107, and dumping rubbish caused the arrest of 93 persons and fines amounting to $1,507.50, according to the Oregon State Police.

Among the cases cited was the arrest of a carefree motorist in Marion county. The patrolman observed him cruising along in a pickup, singing lustily, drinking beer and tossing the empties out the window. He was charged and convicted of litterbugging. In Klamath county, a passenger was arrested after throwing out three wine bottles; he was fined $100 and was given 20 days in jail when he couldn't pay.

A truck driver was fined $10 after emptying six quarts of oil in his motor and dumping the cans along the highway. Near Pendleton, a female college student slyly slipped pieces of paper out the rear car window; she was fined $25 after conviction.

JUST LIKE OLD MAN RIVER

If you want a truck that does its work without yelling for attention all the time, buy a "new reliable" Chevrolet.

You have to take care of it; it's a machine. But this isn't a full-time activity. The clear idea is that the truck works for you, not vice versa.

The way to build such a truck is to put more quality into it. For example, Chevrolet doesn't build one type of suspension system for all sizes of trucks. Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense?

Conventional pickups have double-wall construction in cabs, doors, lower side panels. Roofs are insulated. Body floors are select wood, not metal. Tailgate chains are wrapped in rubber. If you'd like to examine or drive a new '63 Chevrolet truck, just call us. We'll be right over.
