GALS, DON'T store those skirts and sweaters or even your "woolies" cause "Old Man Winter" is having his last fling! Anyhow the youngsters had a wonderful time hunting Easter eggs Saturday and Sunday, if it was done by early Sunday afternoon. Not too much in the social whirl this week, most everyone busy for the Easter activities. Coming up is the Wranglers Cow Cutting show this weekend, and don't forget the annual Band Carnival April 27. The date has been changed so many times, you may be confused, but it is the 27th!

SADIE PARRISH entertained the Bookworms club last week with the members reading their favorite poems, some old and some new. Those present were Virginia Turner, Luey Peterson, Florence Green, Ruby Beckett, Elsie Cole, Madge Thomson. The members will journey to Ione as guests of the Ione Garden club April 23. Elsie Cole will review a book at this meeting.

I RECENTLY read a story in an old issue of the REDBOOK magazine on how to be a witch, written by a mother of a daughter. She says it takes 12 years and there are two prime requirements, first you must be the mother of a daughter and you must develop the ability to say, "No!" You start by saying "No" when she doesn't want to go home but wants to play longer, then at five years of age and up there is the battle of the wardrobe, just nothing to wear. "All of the other girls are wearing, etc., etc." Then by age 10 and 11 she has been into your cosmetics while you are away and insists she must wear lipstick. "All of the other girls are!" The life expectancy of a witch is six years and by the time your daughter is 18 you will cease to be a witch and in the place of your little imp is an attractive, agreeable and charming human being! No truer words were spoken, anyway so far as I've gone, especially that wardrobe bit!

DORIS WATKINS won high at pinochle Friday afternoon and with Millie Evans' help, she melded 1500 trump! Carrie Beckett entertained the girls for the afternoon play, Mary Harris won low and Beulah Mankin and Millie won the pinochle. Also in on the play were Gladys Beckett, Hannah Anderson, and Pearl Wright.

THIRTEEN TABLES were in play Monday at the annual Easter Monday card party held at the Episcopal parish hall. Hostesses for the event were Laurel Van Marter, Sue Jones, Bobbe Driscoll, Shirley Blake, and Virginia Rosewall. The hall was decorated with lovely spring flowers and the guests were served angel food cake with a topping of whipped cream mixed with crushed peanut brittle. Dr. W. H. Wolff won high in bridge; Karen Thompson, second; and Flora Nys, the door prize. Martha Lane, won high in pinochle; Prudy Casebeer, second; and Ola Ruggles, the door prize.

CAROLYN COLE entertained at her home Tuesday night with two tables of pinochle. Donna Gordon won high, Marge Eckman, low; and Mickey Mollahan won the pinochle. Marlys Phegley melded 1,000 Aces during the evening play. Others playing were Beverly Sherman, Jackie Glennie, and Myrna Sutherland.

TROPHIES AND cash awards were made Wednesday night at the Elks pinochle tournament party. Trophies went to first place winners, Prudy Casebeer and Ruth Bergstrom and to

Cow Belles To Name County Father Soon

Morrow County Cow Belles held a potluck luncheon and business meeting at the home of Mrs. Wm. J. Doherty of Sandhollow on April 9, with 15 members attending. The club decided not to participate in the State Father of the Year Contest this year, due to the lateness in receiving material, but will conduct the contest in Morrow county, with the dinner for the county winner to be held on June 11.

Cow Belle cookbooks will again be given to 4-H fair winners in meat demonstrations in both junior and senior divisions.

In hopes of again having a theme for the fair, the fair committee is to be contacted. The Cow Belles believe this gives more continuity to the booths, floats, etc., as well as giving those who work on these projects a basis from which to start. Morrow county brand placements and state beef cookbooks are still available.

Committees appointed for the year are: Father of the Year Contest, Marilyn Robinson, Kay Anderson; Father's Day beef gift for baby, Esther Anderson, Lorena Jones; beef promotion, Shirley Rugg, Pat Brindle; 4-H, Esther Kirmis; Home Economics, Mildred Wright; place mats, Mary Doherty, Lela Palmer; fair booth, Helen O'Brien, Nora Turner, Beverly Wright, and publicity, Dorris Graves.

Visiting Monday and Tuesday at the Claude Cox home were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clair H. Cox of Corvallis. They left on Tuesday for an extended trip east, with plans to be gone until the first of June.

Gilliams To Observe Golden Anniversary At May 1 Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Gilliam, Heppner, will be honored on their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Wednesday, May 1, at a reception at All Saints' Episcopal Parish hall between the hours of 2:00 and 4:00 p.m. Arrangements are being made by ladies of the Episcopal church and by Ruth Chapter, No. 32, Order of Eastern Star. They extend a cordial invitation to all relatives and friends of the couple to call and share the occasion with them, and the Gilliams express their wishes that no gifts be brought.

Wedding Reception At Lexington Hall Honors Messengers

A wedding reception was held at the Lexington IOOF hall on Saturday afternoon, April 13, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Messenger of Medford, recently married, and visiting here for the Easter holidays. A color theme of yellow and white was carried out. A three-tiered wedding cake, decorated in the same colors and adorned at the top with three yellow satin wedding bells, centered the lace-covered serving table, flanked on each side by long yellow tapers.

Coffee was served from a silver serving set, and punch from a milk glass punch bowl, with the center of this table being an arrangement of white carnations and daffodils, flanked with yellow tapers in milk glass holders.
