BOWLING BITS

By JO PETTYJOHN

WHEW, THE men's second half of tournament play ended with tension and excitement as the Heppner Elks team came on to overtake the Hi-Ho Club and win first place. The Lexington Oil Co-op finished in third place and the Bi-County boys are holding down seventh spot. In games Monday night the Elks won all four from UPRR, and the Hi-Ho team lost three and one-half to the Quarterbacks to put the Elks in first by one-half game! That is really shaving a little close, fellows! The Elks and Hi-Ho, winners of first half of play, will meet in a match within the next two weeks to decide the league winner.

In other action the Lexington Co-op boys won three from Bi-County to hold onto third place. For the Elks, four of the team had over 500 series with Vic Groshens and Jimmy Miller tied for top of 531. Jimmy and Gene Orwick tied for high game of 190. Vernon Munkers had high series for Co-op with a 534 and Dean Hunt had high game of 199. Archie Munkers is groaning a little because he had 198! Bob Kilkenny had high series for Bi-County of 524 and Pat Cutsforth edged out Bob for high game with a 189, Bob had 188. Distracting, huh? The three men's teams from here, with other Echo league teams, will bowl in a 2-day tournament in Echo Monday and Tuesday nights. Also the playoff dates will be set by then.

WELL, PADBERG Machinery is still riding on the "magic carpet" as they "bowed over" MCGG Wednesday night on their way to the top. Only Sheets Clothing and a few "ifs" stand in their way to win first, which will be decided after this week's matches. In MCGG's downfall last week, the Padberg gals were still bowling great runs with Iris Campbell and sub Mary Snyder leading the way. Iris had high game with a 204 and Mary had high series of 546. For MCGG Cherry Hermann had high game of 163 and Lois Hunt had high series of 435. The MCGG gals are in fourth place.

In other action the Turner, Van Marter, Bryant gals couldn't find their mark as they lost 2½ to Echo Hotel to stay in sixth place. Vesta Kilkenny had high game and series for Turner with 158 and 460. If Padberg wins first for this half they will meet Eagle Valley in a match later to determine the league winner.
