Penlands Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Penland, former publishers of the Gazette-Times and now of Livermore, Calif., visited with old friends in Heppner last Wednesday and Thursday. They came north to attend the 50th anniversary observance at the journalism school, University of Oregon, Eugene, and intended to visit friends in Bend and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Penland, at Klamath Falls on their way back home. Penland is now publisher of the Livermore Herald and News.

Club Sponsors Hunt

On April 8 the meeting of the Knifty Knitters was called to order at 4 p.m. at the home of Jeanette Ledbetter. We discussed having an Easter egg hunt for our little sisters and brothers. We decided to have it on Saturday, April 13, at 10 a.m. at the Lexington schoolhouse. Kay Van Winkle was our visitor. Jeanette Ledbetter, reporter

Agent Leads Lesson For Rhea Creek Club

Rhea Creek Extension club met April 3 at 10:30 for an all-day meeting. An interesting potluck dinner of foreign dishes was served at noon. Miss Esther Kirmis gave an informative lesson on the "Care of the Sewing Machine."

Members are making plans to attend the Homemaker's Festival in May. At the next meeting, the club will have a white elephant sale.

Joe Hartle, Gazette-Times printer, went to the Veterans' hospital, Portland, last Monday for a checkup on a back ailment for which he underwent surgery over a year ago. Mrs. Hartle accompanied him, and the next day they motored to Coos Bay to see a brother-in-law, Willis Williamson, who was hospitalized following a log truck accident. However, when they arrived, they learned that he had just been transferred to the Nyssa hospital. He lives in Nyssa and had been working near Coos Bay.
