Session Will Probably Set New Length Record

A few weeks ago, most legislators were confident of winding up the current session on or before the 120th day. But now, as that point approaches, it seems more likely that the Legislature will shatter the previous record of 128 days, set in 1957.

May 13 is this session's 120th day. After that date, there will be an added incentive for rapid adjournment, however. Although the lawmakers established their salaries at $3,000 per year, they put a 120-day limit on the additional $20 per day expense allowances.

Senate President Ben Musa (D-The Dalles) last week predicted that two matters—the tax program and the proposed constitutional revision—may make an early adjournment almost impossible.

Indications are that the Senate version of the income tax bill will be quite different from the one which passed the House. In fact, a number of Senators had considered asking the House to revive its previously-tabled 3 percent sales tax bill, for submission to the voters in 1964.

But last week, the House emphasized its opposition to a sales tax. It removed it from the table, and promptly voted to "indefinitely postpone" it. This, in effect, kills it completely this session as far as the House is concerned.

Although the House and Senate still have considerable differences on a tax approach, there also is a problem over the proposed new state constitution. President Musa has said that the choice may be either to delay the session "or do nothing" about constitutional revision this year.

To become effective, a new constitution would have to receive a two-thirds favorable vote of both the House and Senate, and then go to the voters for ratification next year.

Rep. F. F. Montgomery (R-Eugene), House minority party leader, has said that the Legislature's work would be only "partially completed" if it adjourned before the 120th day. "To adjourn prior to accomplishing the responsibilities with which we are charged would be a violation of the confidence our people have entrusted in us," he added.

Montgomery, incidentally, was one of the 17 Republicans and single Democrat who earlier this year opposed raising the Legislative pay to $3,000.

As of the 110th day, only about 10 percent of the session's nearly 1,550 bills had reached the governor's desk for signature. Of course, many of them never will get there, because they were—or will be—killed in committee or on the House or Senate floors.

One of the recently-enacted bills is the "full crew" law. It retains the state regulation that railroads use three brakemen on main line freight trains. This bill, introduced at the request of the Railroad Operating Brotherhoods, won out over one proposed by the railroads. The latter sought to reduce the requirement, pointing out that most states permit just two brakemen on today's modern railroads.

Both the House and Senate have approved a bill which will extend Daylight Savings Time in Oregon to the last Sunday in October. As originally approved by the voters last year, DST would have ended in September. The extension bill was introduced to keep Oregon on the same schedule as other Pacific Coast states.

Starting this November, all new cars in Oregon will be required to have seat belts, according to a bill which also was accepted by both House and Senate. Although the House version called for the belts in both front and rear seats, the Senate modified it to include just the front seats. The latter will probably prevail. This law, incidentally, exempts school and commercial buses.

Passage of three bills dealing with sex crime offenders hit a hurdle last week following criticism by Sen. Thomas Mahoney (D-Multnomah) that they all "so poorly drawn that they will have to be reworked by the Senate." Mahoney is chairman

Grade Track Teams Score in Two Meets

Coach Don Cole and his Heppner Grade school cinder team finished third out of five schools entered at Pilot Rock two weeks ago and fourth at Arlington Friday out of nine schools entered. This is the first year for organized track work for the youngsters with about 115 junior high students participating. A meet was set for Wednesday here but was postponed because of field condition.

The Junior Olympics are scheduled for the Rodeo field here later this month with all schools of Morrow county participating. Winners from the contests are eligible to enter in the state meet in Portland the first of June.

At the Pilot Rock meet, playing in group A were: Larry Pettyjohn, 1st, running broadjump; 2nd, 40 yard dash; 2nd, baseball throw. Group B: Jim Bloodsworth, 2nd, 50 yard dash; 5th, running broadjump; Kevin Duff, 3rd, 50 yard dash; 4th, high jump. Vern Fredrickson, 3rd, running broadjump. Group C: David Hall, 2nd, 60 yard dash; 4th, high jump. Bill McLeod, 4th, 60 yard dash. Randy Stillman, 5th, running broadjump; 2nd, baseball throw. Group D: Allen Witherrite, 2nd, 100 yard dash; 4th, running broadjump. Rick Johnston, 5th, 100 yard dash; 5th, shotput. Jim Doherty, 1st, running broadjump; 3rd, high jump. The relay team of Hall, Johnston, Doherty, and Witherrite finished 4th. Others participating were Jeff Turner, Frank Lovgren, Dean Massey, Matt Hughes, Tim Loyd, and Jim Sherman.

In the Arlington May Day meet held Friday, the students were divided into age groups. All schools except Heppner and one had girls entered in events. For the 11 and under age group: Larry Pettyjohn, 1st in softball throw; 4th in 50 yard dash. Vern Fredrickson, 1st in standing broadjump. Jim Bloodsworth, 5th in standing broadjump. In the 200 yard relay, Pettyjohn, Fredrickson, Bloodsworth, and Don Cossit finished 5th. Group of 12 and 13 year-olds: Dean Massey, 3rd in running broadjump; 3rd in 75 yard dash. David Hall, 2nd in 100 yard dash; 2nd in high jump. Bill McLeod, 3rd in high jump. Relay team of Hall, Massey, Stillman and McLeod placed 2nd in 300 yard relay. Group of 14 year-olds: Bob DeVore, 5th in shotput. Allen Witherrite, 1st in 400 and 2nd in the 100 yard dash. Alternates taken on trip were Ivan Carlson, Tim Loyd and Jim Sherman.

Father Gravely Ill

L. E. (Ed) Dick received a message from Helena, Mont., Wednesday reporting that his father, L. E. Dick, Sr., who has been seriously ill for some time, is in grave condition. Mr. and Mrs. Dick and his brother, Kemp Dick, expected to leave Thursday to be at his side. Ed recently spent some time with his father when he was called on the latter's illness. Mr. Dick Sr. is a former resident of Morrow county for many years, having lived both in Ione and Heppner.

BOWLING BITS

By JO PETTYJOHN

OVER 100 bowlers and their wives and husbands attended the Echo city league bowling banquet at the Pendleton Country Club Saturday night. The trophies and awards were presented at this time with the local teams bringing home a share of the "cups".

PADBERG MACHINERY gals walked off with 12 trophies! Nice going gals and keep 'em polished! The team finished in second place for the season and won trophies with a 1,003 and 2,889 for high team game and high team series. Then Ronnie Lovgren, Padberg team member, came home with two more "cups" to add to her collection as she won high individual game and series with a 225 and 578. When asked where she had the trophies, Ronnie said she has had them in every room of the house! MCGG finished in fifth place for the season and Turner, Van Marter and Bryant was sixth.

THE HEPPNER Elks team finished in second spot with Lexington Oil Co-op in fourth and Bi-County in seventh. Archie Munkers, Co-op received the high individual series trophy with a 259 and Gene Orwick Elks, and Johnny Ledbetter, Co-op, received first place trophies for winning the men's doubles tournament held during the year. The Elks and Padberg teams will compete in the Umatilla county team tournament to be held in Pendleton this month. Padberg will bowl May 19 and Elks on May 26. Good luck and, until next fall, have fun bowling this summer for good entertainment!

Mystery Play Wins Top Award For Plot, Acting

A dramatic play, "Sorry, Wrong Number," brought "top production" honors to its cast and director Friday night at the one act play festival presented by Heppner High school speech and drama department.

Its leading actress, Marcia Rands, carrying the heavy and dramatic part of Mrs. Stevenson, an invalid, was appropriately judged best actress for the evening. Other characters in the suspense-ridden plot of getting aid by phone for a planned murder were taken by Ginny Moore, Don Majeske, Larry Muessig, Anita Groves, Kathy Ray, Nancy Cleveland, Bill Sherman, Mike Smith, Glenda Hills, Mary Johnson, Pam Cochell, Aaron Smith and Kitty O'Hara.

Richard Clark, in his portrayal of Henry Fenton in the action-packed, moving play, "Roughly Speaking," was judged best actor of the evening. Characters in the play, each having his own ideas on how to best use the Fenton "shack," were taken by Kathy Ray, David Clark, Shirley Erwin, Margaret Green, Rodney Ayers, Mike Smith, Laura Sumner, Bill Sherman, Shirley Carlson and Spencer Sampson.

For filling his character part of Larrabee Chatfield, a colorful novelist, in a realistic and entertaining manner in "Roughly Speaking," Mike Smith was chosen as the best supporting actor.

For keeping things under control in the Graham household in the play, "Mr. Vincent," Mary Johnson was judged the best supporting actress in her characterization of Caroline Graham. Title part of "Mister Vincent" was played by Lee Padberg, with his artistic originator, Penelope Graham, played by Pam Cochell. Others in the cleverly developed play were Don Majeske, Ginny Moore, Nancy Cleveland and Doug Dubuque.

The opening play, "Sunstroke," was a light comedy with entertaining developments for a "train party," planned by Isabella Weiskopf and her friends. In the cast of characters were Sheridan Wyman, Judy Jones, Mark Brown, Maureen Doherty, Rogena Wilson, Terry Hutchens, Diane Schaffitz and Joan Stockard.

All plays were directed by Mrs. Janet Groves. She was presented a gift of appreciation by the play casts at the close of the evening.

Production staff included Lee Padberg, Doug Dubuque, stage construction; David George, assistant; Mike Smith, sound effects and lighting; drama department, furnishings, costumes and makeup, and Ann Jones, programs.

Judges in selecting the best play, actresses and actors were Mrs. William Rawlins, Harlan McCurdy and Gene Pierce.

Condon Nips Ponies To Break Win Streak

After a four-game winning streak, the Condon graders put a halt to the Heppner Ponies winning ways last Friday afternoon. The team had beaten Pilot Rock and Ione each twice. Condon went into the game also undefeated. The two teams will tangle again on the Condon diamond Saturday, May 11, at 1:00 p.m.

Jeff Turner scored in the first after getting to first on a fielder's choice. Then Condon came back to tie the game when Logan scored in the bottom of the frame. Heppner was held scoreless until Turner came across for another score in the third while Condon picked up one in the second and four in the third on three Heppner errors.

The Ponies, going into the top of the fifth on the short end of an 8-2 score, came up with four runs to make the final score 8-6. Dennis O'Donnell pitched for the Ponies giving up eight runs on seven hits, four walks, and three strikeouts.

In the strike game with Ione on their field April 19, the Ponies opened up the game with four runs and never let up as they picked up three more in the second and four in the fifth. The lone team picked up one tally in the bottom of the first and Jim Doherty, Heppner pitcher, shut them out from then on. Leon McGill and Mike Davidson teamed up on the mound for the lone team to give up 11 runs on three hits, 11 walks, and three strikeouts. Doherty gave up one run on one hit, four walks, and seven strikeouts.

Heppner graders will conclude their baseball season with the return game with Condon there Saturday.

Mrs. Penland on Roll

Among those on the winter term honor roll, dean's list, at Oregon Technical Institute, Klamath Falls, is Mrs. Neal Penland (Lydia Van Houte), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Houte, Heppner. Mrs. Penland is taking accounting technology and attained a grade point average of 3.14. Almon L. Geiss, director of information, reported.

Turner, Van Marter and Bryant Answers Your Insurance Questions

QUESTION: When a car goes out of control and damages a house and the home owner has extended coverage insurance and the car owner has property damage insurance, which insurance company pays for the damage to the house?

ANSWER: The company carrying the extended coverage insurance would guarantee the repairs to the house and would seek reimbursement from the company carrying the property damage insurance if the car driver was at fault.
