Little League Standings

Dodgers	0	3

Coming Games—Friday, May 31, Indians vs. Giants; Monday, June 3, Giants vs. Dodgers; Tuesday, June 4, Braves vs. Indians; Wednesday, June 5, Indians vs. Dodgers.

After three games each under their belts, the Braves lead Little League baseball teams here with three wins against no losses. The Indians are one game out with two wins, one loss; the Giants follow with one win, two losses; and the Dodgers have no wins with three losses.

The teams this year seem to be very evenly matched and any team may defeat the other on any night. Right now all of the teams have been hampered with illnesses and so far have not been up to their 15-man strength. In another high-scoring tilt last Tuesday night, the Indians out-ran the Giants, 24-11. The Indians started their scoring spree in the first inning and kept it up throughout the game as they picked up runs in each frame. The Giants finally got a rally going in the bottom of the fourth with eight runs and getting three more in the fifth. Frank Halvorsen and Pat Kilkenny pitched for the Indians with the Giants using LaVerne Van Marter and Brian Hughes.

Wednesday the Giants took on the Dodgers and got their first win of the season at the Dodger's expense, 13-3. The Giants picked up four runs in the first, another tally in the third, then bombarded the Dodgers in the fourth with seven runs, and got the final score in the fifth. They held the Dodgers to one run in the first, second, and sixth innings. Terry Brock went the distance for the Giants with the Dodgers using Robin Duffy, Jon O'Donnell, John Harris, and Kit Anderson.

In the game Thursday night, the Braves went scalping as they took the Indians, 17-5. The Braves opened up the scoring in the first frame and kept up the pace for five innings getting 17 runs. Meanwhile, the Indians picked up one run in the first and were held scoreless until the bottom of the sixth when they pushed four more tallies across. Kent Pratt pitched a 2-hit game for the first five innings for the Braves when Dallas Harsin and Kelley Green came into relieve. Kent helped his own cause as he slammed two home runs over the fence. Pat Kilkenny started for the Indians with Frank Halvorsen, Ronnie Plamater, and Keith Nelson relieving.

An addition is being added to the nightly Little League games. They will have scones for sale on the grounds and proceeds will be used to buy baseball equipment for the season.

In game action Monday night the high riding Braves downed the Giants 14-6 to give them four wins with no defeats. The Giants opened up the first frame as they scored three runs when Bill Stockard got on a fielder's choice, Keith Currutt walked, and LaVerne Van Marter singled to score two runs. Van Marter then stole home later. The Braves were held scoreless until the bottom of the second when Kevan Pratt singled, Kent Pratt singled to score Kevan, Larry Beilenbrock singled then scored on an overthrow, and Bill McLeod walked, stole second and third and scored on an overthrow to tie up the game. From then on the Braves bats got going to send 11 more runs across the plate before the game ended while holding the Giants to three more tallies. Larry Pettyjohn went three innings for the Braves with Bill McLeod going one and Kelley Green on the mound for the fifth and sixth innings. The Giants used LaVerne Van Marter and Ronnie Flug.

The Rev. Kenneth Robinson, pastor of Hope and Valley Lutheran churches, and Gerald Peterson will attend the North Pacific district convention of the American Lutheran church from June 3 through 6 on the campus of Pacific Lutheran University, Parkland, Wn.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Farra took their son, Jim, to Pendleton Sunday to take a plane to his new assignment at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Ill. The Farras then journeyed to Summerville to visit the Buster Dodsons.

Labor Census Shows Increased Specialized Jobs

By ESTHER KIRMISS

Over fifty young people are graduating from Morrow county this week. What are their chances in the U. S. labor forces?

"White collar" jobs now outnumber "blue collar" jobs. Service jobs are increasing; but farm jobs are decreasing.

Data compiled by the U. S. Dept. of Labor from the 1960 census showed a marked occupational shift when compared with 10 years earlier. Mrs. Elvera Horrell, OSU Extension Agricultural Economist, reports in the new OSU Farm and Market Outlook circular. Copies are available from county extension offices.

The changing face of the local, national and world occupational picture carries many implications for farm people. Many look for off-farm jobs as farming opportunities wane.

If the trend of the 1950's is carried into the 1960's and beyond, the best opportunities lie in those jobs requiring education and specialized training. During the 1950's professional, managerial, clerical and sales workers recorded a faster growth than craftsmen, operatives and laborers.

Within both the white collar and blue collar classifications, jobs requiring the most education and training grew fastest. Service jobs also rose. The same decade saw a decline in the number of farm and industrial laborers and in self-employed manager and proprietors.

In the past decade, the greatest increase among professional and technical workers was in electrical and electronic technicians. Second in line were mathematicians, followed by industrial engineers and sales engineers, all pointing up the growth in research and development and in defense and space programs.

With the sharp rise in the number of school-age children came an increase in elementary and secondary school teachers. In the 1950's, this group increased nearly half again, Mrs. Horrell noted. Medical and health workers increased about a third.

Clerical workers led the increase in white collar non-professionals, especially office machine operators and cashiers. Sales workers and salaried manager jobs, other than on farms, also increased. Self-employed managers declined as supermarkets and other large-type stores replaced the independents.

Among manual workers, the biggest increase in the past 10 years came in foremen. Mechanic and repairmen jobs rose as more people were needed to service the growing number of machines and other equipment.

Decreases were reported for locomotive engineers, machinists, carpenters and laborers. Service workers, both private, household and other, increased about a fourth, but agricultural workers dropped more than 40 per cent.

Graduates Get Diplomas May 24 At Riverside

By MARY LEE MARLOW

BOARDMAN—Dr. Frank B. Bennett, president of Eastern Oregon College, La Grande, spoke on "This Is Your Life" to the graduating class of Riverside High school in the gymnasium last Friday night. A large crowd attended the exercises.

Janice Lee Parker was salutatorian, and Dorothy Eileen Rash gave the valedictory address. The professional was played by Mrs. Harold Baker, organist, and Carolyn Burg, pianist. The Rev. Herman Burg, pastor of Boardman Community church, gave the invocation; Miss Burg played a piano solo; Ronald Daniels, school principal, presented the seniors, and they were presented their diplomas by Harvey Warner, member of the Morrow county school board.

Daniels gave out the following scholarships: College of Idaho athletic grant for $500 to Johnny Partlow; the Union Pacific agricultural award for any school for $200 to Kent Boothman; a $295 scholarship to Eastern Oregon College to Patricia Partlow. Dorothy Rash received a three month scholarship to Pacific Business College at Portland, one of six granted in the state. The $50 Jack Plug Memorial fund scholarship was to go to Gloria Friend, and in case she could not use it, alternates were Sharon Franke and Barbara Davis. Dorothy Rash was presented the valedictorian trophy, and Janice Parker the salutatorian trophy.

The benediction was by the Rev. John Kenney, pastor of the Assembly of God church, Irrigon; the recessional was by Mrs. Baker and Miss Burg.

tunities weren't bright, recent legislation should be of considerable help to farm people looking for off-farm jobs.

Federal-state programs have now been authorized to train unemployed and underemployed workers in skills to fit the work of the job opportunities of the 1960's. Opportunities are still to be found in farming and ranching, but even here training increases the chances for success.

Dick Ruhl Plays Center Spot Now

Dick Ruhl, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ruhl of Lexington, is now playing center and defensive linebacker for the Oregon State University football team. He saw considerable action on both offense and defense Saturday when the Varsity defeated the Alumni, 36 to 28.

His parents and mother and father-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clint McQuarrie, and their son, Dan, all attended the game. The Ruhls stayed with their son and daughter-in-law during the week-end.

Ruhl intercepted a pass that resulted in the first Varsity touchdown in the ball game that was witnessed by more than 7,000 persons. The Alums was defeated despite the expert help of Terry Baker who completed passes good for 357 yards.

Ruhl last year played full-back on offense but was shifted to the line to fill a spot needed there.

McQuarrie said that OSU provided a very enjoyable day of sports with the OSU-Oregon U baseball game, and high school track meet going on during the same day. Lee Padberg of Heppner was in the track meet, and the Heppnerites saw him run.

Athletes Place In Track Meets

Lee Padberg, Heppner High school athlete, won fifth place in the mile run at the state A-2 track meet at Corvallis Saturday and sixth in the finals of the 880-yard run. He had qualified for the events by taking first places in each in the district meet.

Padberg ran the mile in 4:33.4 and the 880 in 2:03.5. Winner of the mile event was Gene Faircloth of Reedsport in 4:25.3, and he also won the 880 in 1:57.6.

Padberg accounted for Heppner's three points in the meet. Burns of the Greater Oregon League scored 18.

In the state B track meet a week earlier, Tom Heimbigner of Ione high placed fifth in the pole vault with a vault of 11'3". He had far exceeded this height in practice.

4-H Judging Day Set for June 1

The spring 4-H Livestock Judging Day originally scheduled for April 20, is being rescheduled for Saturday, June 1, at the Harold Wright farm at Ruggs, according to Joe Hay, county extension agent. The judging day will start at 1:30 p.m.

The event is designed to teach 4-H livestock members the basic principals of livestock judging. Four-H members will be judging beef, sheep, and hogs. Possibly one class of dairy animals will be available for judging.

"Written reasons will be required on at least one class of animals," Hay said. "Four-H members should study their 4-H Livestock and dairy judging bulletins to learn the correct procedure for giving reasons." Judging and reasons cards will be furnished but 4-H'ers should bring a pencil.

Scores from the livestock judging day will be used with scores from the judging day held last fall and the 1963 county fair. All 4-H livestock members should plan to attend the judging event.

OSU Grads Get Degrees Sunday

Three Heppner students will receive degrees June 2 at Oregon State University's 94th annual commencement.

Helen Ann Graham will be graduated in the School of Business and Technology.

This is the second largest number in history, topped only by the veteran-packed class of 1950. The number of advanced degrees this year is a record total.

A breakdown shows approximately 1400 bachelor's degrees this year, 420 master's degrees, 70 doctor's degrees, and 4 professional engineering degrees. The commencement program will be at 2 p.m. in the OSU Coliseum. The public is invited.
