

Good Crop Forecast With Harvest Nearing

If weather continues to cooperate, a good crop of wheat will be harvested in Morrow county this year, Al Lamb, manager of the Morrow County Grain Growers, said Wednesday.

There has been some rust damage but the cooler days of late June seem to have enabled most of the county's grain to overcome much of the expected rust loss in production, the warehouseman said.

Harvest is expected to begin shortly after July 4 in most areas with the North Lexington area starting first and probably having the best crop.

Lamb said that he expects no difficulty in handling this year's production, with one exception. Because of planting changes, the makeup of Western White wheat will likely run heavy to non-club varieties this season in the Pacific Northwest.

Therefore, in order to keep present markets, he feels all wheat should be stored by varieties so that as near satisfactory blends as possible may be maintained.

This need is also shared by officials of the Oregon Wheat Growers League and others interested in expanding markets as a result of the no vote in the recent wheat referendum, Lamb said.

There is a possibility that club varieties may be at a premium this year if the protein content is satisfactory and if they are not shipped too early in the season, the Grain Growers' manager said.

At present there is no premium offered on the Portland market but Seattle, which shows as "coast" on the list, is now offering at 4c premium. The additional freight to Seattle more than offsets the Seattle premium, Lamb pointed out.

"These conditions may change during the coming marketing year and because of this possibility, the local cooperative will try to separate white wheat varieties as they are returned," he said.

"Cooperation of the area's farmers is asked," he concluded. "It may be to their financial advantage."

Leonard Wise, 28, Dies in Accident; Services Thursday

Leonard E. Wise, 28, of Heppner died in an automobile accident east of Echo about 2:30 a.m. Saturday when the car he was driving missed a curve. A passenger, Lucille Judy Privett, 25, also of Heppner, was injured in the accident and is now recovering in Pioneer Memorial hospital with two broken ribs and contusions.

Wise, who came to Heppner about 15 months ago, was employed by L. E. Dick as television and appliance service man. He was born March 15, 1935, in Tillamook and came here from Redmond.

Funeral services will be held today (Thursday) at 11 a.m. at Prickett Funeral Home, Forest Grove. His mother, who died about seven years ago, is buried in a cemetery at Forest Grove.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Vivian Wise and three small daughters, all now of Springfield; a brother, Don Wise of Heppner; and the father who has been employed at the George Griffith place at Morgan.

State police reported that the car failed to negotiate a sharp curve to the left just outside of Echo on the cutoff to highway 30. It was theorized that the driver had fallen asleep at the wheel.

Mrs. Privett was first taken to Good Shepherd hospital, Hermiston, but was removed to the hospital here Monday. Her doctor said her condition is good and that she may be released in three or four days.

Among those from here going to the funeral were the father, the Don Wise family and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spaulding.

Board Holds Long Meet, Eyes Work

Five new directors took the oath of office for the Morrow County School District R-1 board at a meeting Tuesday night following the election of four of them the preceding Saturday and the appointment of the fifth by the retiring board recently.

The newly-elected directors are Howard Cleveland, representing the rural Heppner zone; Ken Batty, Heppner; Irvin Rauch, Lexington; and Roy Partlow, Boardman. Milton Morgan, lone, is the appointee who replaces Fredrick T. Martin who was recalled in an election earlier this year.

A sixth new member, Andy Van Schoiack of Heppner, who was elected before the others at the regular school election in early May ironically will be the last to be seated as he does not take office until the term of Ed Dick expires on July 1. Dick and Director Harvey Warner of Irri-gion were the only ones of the "old" board to participate in the Tuesday meeting and Van Schoiack watched in the audience.

But the neophyte board lost no time plunging into the heavy volume of business that it faces in the wake of the mass of resignations, including those of the administrative staff who have quit.

Accumulated business occupied four hours of their time, after which they went into an executive session to consider candidates for a new district administrator. Those reviewed applications from some 18 candidates, and the post-session lasted until the early hours Wednesday morning. In the process, they screened the field to five, including four from various parts of Oregon and one from out-of-state.

Acting Superintendent Gordon Pratt was asked to notify the five to come for interviews at a later time, and it is expected that further attention will be given to this matter at the regular July 8 meeting.

Director Warner was called upon to serve as chairman of the board, pro tem, but a regular chairman will not be elected until after Van Schoiack is administered the oath of office at the July 8 meeting.

In opening the meeting, Warner said, "We certainly appreciate the things that the other board has done, and we solicit the help and cooperation of the district. We're going to forget any hard feelings and are going to put forth our best efforts for the district and the county."

An official canvass of election results was postponed until July 8 because total tabulation of all votes for director had not been completed.

Pratt was named to continue as acting superintendent of the district until a new superintendent is chosen, and it was decided to continue regular meetings at the same time as in the past—the second Monday of each month, starting at 7:30 p.m. in the winter and 8 p.m. in summer.

The board considered whether or not to continue the position of director of special services in the system, a post vacated recently by Darrel Reisch who has accepted a principalship in Homedale, Idaho. A decision, however, was postponed until a later date. Both pros and cons were expressed.

It was decided to authorize $1500 to continue land leveling work by Dick Meader behind the new Heppner High school, and a board committee was chosen to review the work and check on what more needs to be done on this project.

A request to move the community-sponsored Heppner kindergarten from the George house to the basement of the junior high school was approved, subject to space available.

The board authorized Pratt to purchase capital outlay items essential to the operation of the school program for the coming year, and it awarded the bid for a 48-passenger school bus to the low bidder, Lexington Implement Co. The International bus will have a Carpenter body.

A 3-year contract was offered to Michael Tolar as administrator of A. C. Houghton school, Irri-gion, to succeed Don Olmsheid, who has resigned. Tolar has been at the Houghton school three years and carried the recommendations of the Irrigon and Boardman advisory boards as well as that of the retiring administrator.

Considerable discussion centered on the teaching personnel at lone. It was agreed to hire Eugene Doekter of Rupert, Idaho, to teach and coach one sport, subject to receiving his proper credentials. Dick Strait who taught at Heppner during the past year will handle other coaching duties there and teach. However, it was pointed out that with only one English position yet to fill, there are no woman teachers on the staff, and this brought some questions from Director Milton Morgan. Richard Correa, formerly of Echo, was hired to teach in the Houghton school.

Pratt told of the pressing need to fill other teaching positions in the district. Yet to be filled (Continued on page 8)

Budget Passes by 2 1/2 to 1 Margin

Vote Reverses First Election; Board Named

Morrow county school district's revised budget for 1963-64 Saturday won approval by about the same resounding margin as the original budget was defeated on April 22. But the total vote was 200 less throughout the county than it was in the previous election.

The vote Saturday was 540 yes to 216 no, about 2 1/2 to 1 margin in favor. On April 22, the vote was 274 yes to 697 no, about a 2 1/2 to 1 margin against the budget.

Every area of the county voted in favor of the revised budget which calls for general fund expenditures of $991,662, of which $484,431 is in excess of the 6 per cent limitation.

The latter figure is $69,979 less than the amount in excess of the 6% limitation in the original budget.

Only one area of the county—Boardman—had voted in favor of the budget that was submitted on April 22.

By areas, the vote Saturday was as follows: Heppner, 266 to 58; Lexington, 35 to 25; lone, 71 to 60; Irrigon, 74 to 25; Boardman, 48 to 21; Rugg, 33 to 21; Pine City, 13 to 3.

Four won positions on the board of directors at the special election held for directors concurrently with the budget election Saturday. Roy Partlow of Boardman defeated Ralph Skoubo, 395 to 285, for the position from that zone; Howard Cleveland defeated Elmer Heath, 515 to 200, for the rural Heppner position; Ken Batty was unopposed for the Heppner City position; and Irvin Rauch was unopposed for the Lexington position.

All the new members were sworn in at a special directors' meeting Tuesday night.

Swim Classes Start July 2

New two weeks swimming classes will begin at the Heppner pool July 2. Tom Hughes, Red Cross swimming instructor, states.

All youngsters interested in the beginner, intermediate, or swimmers class are asked to sign up at the pool at 9:00 a.m. on July 2. The fee is $1.00 which is used for pool maintenance. Those wishing to take intermediate instruction must have passed a deep water test before they can enter the class.

Hughes says the swimming is down so far this year from last year by 2,000 swimmers. For the month of June he tallied 2,950 swimmers compared to 5,000 last year. Weather conditions the latter part of June has held the swimmers out of the pool.

Hours are 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday; 6-8 p.m. evenings and 1-5 p.m. Sundays, closed Mondays.

Christian Churches Combine for Picnic

The annual combined picnic of First Christian churches in Heppner and Lexington is planned for Thursday, July 4, at Cutsforth Park. Members of each church are asked to bring food and table service for a picnic dinner at noon, with games and hiking to follow in the afternoon. Friends are also invited to attend.

Condon To Hold Fourth of July Celebration

An old-fashioned Fourth of July with modern touches will be observed in Condon on Thursday next week as the Commercial Club attraction gets underway at 7:00 a.m. with a buckaroo breakfast.

A patriotic program will take place at 10 a.m. at the athletic field with a speech by State Representative Jack L. Smith. A flyover of four F-102 jets will precede the parade which begins at 11 a.m. Some 12 floats have entered the parade and special guests will be the Morrow County Fair and Rodeo Queen Sandra Eubanks and her court, Shannon Mahoney, Nancy Cleveland, Louise Pointer and Sharon Donovan.

Afternoon fun and festivities will include a Pee-Wee baseball game between Condon and Arlington at 2 p.m.; tennis, archery and horseshoe contests; skydivers performing; and free swimming all afternoon compliments of the Condon Elks.

The evening will be highlighted by a giant fireworks display after dark and a variety show and street dance on the tennis court early in the evening.

Elks Picnic Draws Optimistic Families

Despite inclement weather last Sunday morning, some 150 persons, Elks and their families, gathered at Cutsforth Park for the annual Elks picnic.

A potluck dinner was held at noon with the Elks furnishing the winners and buns, ice cream, dill pickles, and beverages.

This was followed by racing games for the youngsters and the adults got into the act in the egg throwing contest with their son or daughter. And through it all, the weather-man cooperated by holding off the rain with some sunshine in the afternoon.

July 4 Next Week; Early Paper Slated

Much to the dismay of weekly newspapers, this year's holidays are tending to fall on Thursdays—publication day—and July 4, coming next week, is no exception.

This means that the Gazette-Times staff has the job again of getting the paper out early, and it is expected that it will be in the mail late Wednesday afternoon, July 3.

All advertisers are asked to bear this in mind, and their cooperation is sought in getting material ready early. Correspondents and others submitting news items are also asked to get their items in as soon as possible. In any case that the material can be in the hands of the paper Monday it will be appreciated if this consideration is given.

Van Houte Takes Post With OEA

Robert Van Houte, who recently resigned his position as superintendent of Morrow County School District R-1, has accepted a post as placement director of the Oregon Education association. It was announced this week. He will also be in charge of the OEA office in Portland.

With his family, Van Houte moved to Portland Tuesday, and their address will be 17923 S. E. Lincoln, Portland 23.

Van Houte served as superintendent of the Morrow county district for the past four years, during which time construction of several new schools marked educational progress in the district, including the new high school at lone, an addition to the A. C. Houghton school in Irri-gion, Unit-A in Heppner, and now in progress, the new Heppner High school, which encompasses Unit-A.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clement, Portland, were week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hartle.

Summer 4-H Camp To Use TV Theme For Coming Week

The annual Morrow County 4-H summer camp will be held at Cutsforth Park, 20 miles southeast of Heppner, June 30-July 3, according to Joe Hay, county extension agent. The 4-H camping program in Morrow county is designed for younger 4-H members, 9 to 13 years of age.

"TV Land" was the theme chosen for this year's summer camp, by a group of older 4-H members who attended a recent camp counselor training session at the Cutsforth Camp site. The theme will give continuity to the camp program and provide a framework for many of the camp activities as well as being a lot of fun for the campers. The tent groups will be named for various TV programs, like the Jetsons, Flintstones, and the Beverly Hillbillies. The camp theme will also be carried out in camp decorations and evening programs.

Campers will assemble at the Heppner fair grounds at 2:00 Sunday afternoon, where they will be transported to camp by trucks. Campers will also return to Heppner on Wednesday afternoon by truck. They will arrive at Heppner between 2:00 and 2:30.

A number of interesting camp activities are planned for this year's campers. There will be classes and free choice of activities on first-aid, outdoor skills, wildlife, survival, forestry, rock-hounding, crafts, fire safety, birds and bird feeders, bridge building and outdoor cookery.

A well-rounded sports program will also be available to the campers.

Mr. John Hartman and daughter, Cheryl, Toledo, arrived here Monday and are house guests of her mother, Mrs. Tillie Rauch.

'ZIP Code' Due For Postal Use Starting July 1

A five-digit "ZIP Code" is due to be inaugurated throughout the postal system of the United States as of July 1. Postmaster James H. Driscoll announces, in Heppner and Lexington the ZIP Code will be 97836.

"Everyone in Heppner and Lexington will use this ZIP Code on all their correspondence to speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of mis-sent mail," Driscoll said.

He stressed the importance of all citizens learning this city's ZIP Code and using it in their return address on all correspondence. In answering mail, ZIP Codes taken from return addresses on incoming mail should be used.

In the revolutionary new system that is expected to improve mail dispatch and delivery, the ZIP Code number should follow the city and state on addresses. Postmaster Driscoll cited this example:

John Jones
P. O. Box 926
Heppner, Oregon 97836.

The new plan for the first time will permit the Post Office department to short-cut repeated address reading. The address on mail must often be read as many as eight or ten times by postal employees, to get it to the proper destination. Each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to the opportunity for human error.

With ZIP Code the clerk will need only to glance at the code to know immediately to what national area, state and post office the letter is addressed and to speed it on its way, cutting up to 24 hours off the time between deposit and delivery.

Gary Van Blokland Hurt in Accident

Gary Van Blokland, 18, is recovering from a freak accident that occurred on the Frank Anderson place Monday while he was working with hay.

Gary slipped and fell in front of a moving truck as he was attempting to go around to pick up a bale of hay. The driver, Steve Anderson, did not realize that Gary had fallen, and one of the wheels of the truck rolled on to Van Blokland's leg.

The direction of the truck was parallel to the position of Van Blokland's leg as he fell, and the tire missed the bone, so no bones were broken. He emerged with a very sore leg and possible pinched muscle that will require him to be on and off crutches for a few days.

Van Blokland was taken to a doctor in Heppner for treatment and was released.

Morrow Grain Growers Show Earnings over $114,000

Completion of the audit of Morrow County Grain Growers shows earnings for the crop year 1962 as exceeding $114,000, Al Lamb, manager, announces.

Ten per cent of these earnings will be paid the patrons in cash during 1963 with the remaining 90 per cent going to the patrons in the form of capital reserve certificates. In addition, Series 10 and 11 of the capital reserve certificates are being called in for cashing during the month of July. These series cover the 1951 and 1952 crop years.

Earnings on crops delivered during 1963 and later years will be distributed on a basis of 25% cash and 75% capital reserve certificates with total earnings allocated being taxable to the individual patron receiving the same, Lamb said.

This change in payments comes into being as a result of the Revenue Act of 1962 pertaining to tax treatment of cooperatives and their patrons, he said. The 1962 act imposes a single current tax liability on income from farmer cooperative operations—taking those returns once currently, either in the hands of the cooperative or its patrons.

The major effect of the new laws provision is to make cooperative tax liability on all net earnings which are not distributed to patrons in cash or under other required conditions to impose the tax liability on patrons in their individual tax returns. This is exactly the same treatment accorded all corporations doing business on a cooperative basis.

All income which belongs to the corporation is subject to federal income tax, but funds which are distributed to patrons on patronage basis are taxable to the patrons.

While provisions of the new law may impair slightly the ability of cooperatives to accumulate capital, their right under the law to expand remains unimpaired, Lamb pointed out. The mandatory payment of cash up to 20 per cent of earnings may cause financial hardship on some cooperatives but the new tax treatment should not affect the ability of a cooperative to borrow from banks for seasonal operating funds.

In preparing for this eventuality, the Morrow County Grain Growers have reduced their outside obligations to banks and others over the past few years to the point where all banks and in full, the manager said. The other obligations are now paid present balance sheet shows only minor current business bills as being owed with no other obligations applying against its facilities and assets. The ownership of the cooperative is therefore in the hands of holders of capital reserve certificates, which were accumulated from profits, and the preferred stock owners.

Preferred stockholders have first claim on the unobligated assets of more than $1,450,000 in case of sale, with the remaining going to capital reserve certificate holders. The preferred stock amounts to $109,770.
