Folder Describes Oregon Vacations

"Six salubrious vacations in spectacular Oregon" are described in a colorful folder now available from Pacific Northwest Bell for use by Oregonians and their out-of-state friends and relatives.

The company printed the folder as part of the "Welcome to Oregon" program, aimed at expanding the state's number three industry, tourism.

Earlier this year Oregonians sent more than 100,000 specially printed PNB "Welcome to Oregon" letters to out-of-state business associates, friends and relatives. Thousands more were distributed at conventions and meetings all over the nation.

Copies of the new "sell Oregon" folder are available at any PNB business office. The folders are free of charge and may be had in any desired quantity.

Pacific Wool Names Arnold as Manager

Pacific Wool Growers is under new management. Effective July 1, 1963, Bruce E. Arnold is the new manager of Pacific Wool Growers. G. R. "Toby" Kappler is promoted to assistant manager. Retiring manager is R. A. Ward.

Bruce Arnold has 23 years experience in the wool marketing field with Pacific Wool Growers. He will continue to supervise all warehouse operations, including the grading and handling of wool; and his supervision of all fieldwork which has resulted in his personal acquaintance with nearly all sheep men in the great Northwest. Arnold's activities, as former assistant manager, have also given him first hand experience in marketing wool to both Eastern and Western mills and topmakers. He had the leading role in the development of the Pacific International Livestock Exposition Wool Show into the largest of its kind in the United States.

Toby Kappler, secretary-treasurer and now also assistant manager, has 14 years experience with the association. The board of directors has made him officer in charge of business management. This will cover all office personnel, operational expenditures, and financing.

Pacific Wool Growers is the only cooperative wool marketing organization in the Northwest and serves 4,000 wool producers in Oregon, Washington, Western Idaho, Northern California and Alaska.

Corvair 700 Club Coupe

The hardest part about parking a Corvair is finding a nickel

That may be a slight overstatement, but such jauntiness comes easily when you're a Corvair owner.

And you can usually back it up—as easily as you can back up a Corvair. You'll find yourself doing that occasionally, if only to adjust the brakes—they're self-adjusting. That's all there is to it, and that's a good example of how delightfully easy Corvair is to own, drive and maintain.

But since we began by talking about driving, let's stick with that awhile. A large factor in the fun of driving a Corvair is the location of its engine in the rear. Why the rear? It gives Corvair extra traction on any road surface. It provides a nearly flat floor for more useable interior space. Best of all, it produces steering so light, so responsive, you wonder why no other American-made car thought of it.

Corvair's engine is also air cooled, we might add, which means there's no antifreeze or water for you to add. Ever.

All that pleasure from something so practical almost makes you think Corvair is unique among American cars. Which isn't surprising, because it is!
