

SEOUL, KOREA. — Every movable, salvageable, usable scrap of lumber is utilized, in Korea, for projects sponsored by the joint efforts of The American-Korean Foundation and the Armed Forces Assistance to Korea program.

The "committee" above, including military, civilian, and canine personnel, are shown inspecting a recently assembled lot of salvage lumber donated by AFAK to The American Korean Foundation to be used for 4-H Club structures, including improved hog pens and shelters.

For the farm youth of Korea, the 4-H Club program is a way of life, and today much of Korea's food comes from stock and seed, as well as technical training given young Koreans under programs initiated and sponsored by the Foundation. Just as American G.I.'s in Korea have always helped Korean orphans, they have also rendered voluntary and invaluable service to the Foundation in its 4-H Club activities.

First National Deposits, Loans At Record High

The First National Bank of Oregon registered record high deposits and loans at mid-year, President Ralph J. Voss announced.

Deposits of $962,633,676 were reported June 29, as compared with $921,320,103 in June of last year. The new figure represents an increase of $57,658,683 over June, 1961 deposits.

Loans outstanding among the banking system's 92 offices totaled $588,144,243 for a gain of $57,866,229 over the June, 1962 figure. Resources continued to top the $1 billion mark.

Figures were announced in response to the quarterly call for statements of condition by the Comptroller of the Currency.

The Heppner branch of First National reported mid-year deposits of $5,046,999 and loans outstanding of $3,878,706, according to Branch Manager J. H. Bedford.

Comparable totals for the branch a year ago were $5,167,842 in deposits and $3,130,857 in loans.

During the first half of 1963 the First National Bank added the University branch in Eugene, the North Oregon City branch and the Madras branch to the statewide system, Voss said. In addition, the 5th and College Street office in Portland was opened to replace the 6th and Lincoln branch, which lies in the path of a freeway.

Six new banking offices currently are under construction, with opening dates set for this year. The new Standard Plaza branch in Portland will open late this month, and offices in Portland's Burlingame area, Springfield, The Dalles and Central Point are scheduled to open during the last quarter of the year.

Also under construction is a permanent structure for the North Oregon City branch, which presently operates from a trailer.

Unlicensed Tank Cleaners Said Working Racket

State Health Officer Richard H. Wilcox, M. D., reports that the swindle of home owners by unlicensed septic tank cleaning operators is continuing this year despite repeated warnings to the public.

In one instance a woman from Hood River paid almost $500 to have her 500-gallon septic tank pumped out. Don Patton, chief plumbing inspector, Oregon State Board of Health, reports that licensed pumpers in the Portland area would charge between $25 to $35 for pumping the same size tank.

Patton suggests homeowners observe the following precautions:

1. Be cautious when anyone offers to give your tank a free inspection. Invariably these individuals will look at the solids at the top of the tank and tell the homeowner, "It's full up! We'll have to pump it right away."

There is always a layer of solids at the top of the tank, Patton points out, and the usual indication that a tank needs pumping is not the layer of solids at the top but whether or not effluent has begun backing up into the house. Whether or not the tank requires pumping further depends on the size of the tank and the amount of water used by the household.

2. Ask to see the state license and the county permit both of which are required for septic tank servicing operations. If in doubt, call your local or county health department.

3. Look at the side of the truck, which by law must bear a sewage pumper identification label on each side. These currently are bright red with white lettering stating they are issued by the Oregon State Board of Health.

4. Have the operator tell you the cost of the job in advance. Patton reports that he has seen families traveling around the state in trucks rigged for pumping septic tanks apparently continuously on the move. Responsible pumpers are licensed, dump the extracted sewage in approved treatment areas and never hesitate to state their rates.

On Sunday the Ed Gonty family met their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gonty, and family of Renton, Wn., in Yakima, Wn. The Senior Gontys brought home two grandchildren, Russell and Ramona.

Monument

By MARTHA MATTESON

MONUMENT — Danny Heilly and Miss Ruth Ann Burke of Salem arrived Friday with his brother, Dewayne Copeland for a visit with his uncle, Stanley Boyer and family. The young couple returned to Salem on Saturday.

A bridal shower was held last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Gertson for Miss Lula Stirkwall. She received many lovely presents from the 27 guests who were present. Hostesses were Doris Capon, Mable Roach, Darlene Forrest, Kay Harris, May Dee Hinton, Lydia Gertson and Clarice Campbell. Her marriage is planned for Sunday afternoon in the Monument gymnasium.

Bill Elder of Ontario came Wednesday to take his brother, Frank Elder home with him for a visit.

Mrs. Jessie was hostess Friday afternoon for a birthday party honoring her son, Robert Dale, on his seventh birthday. There were 27 guests present. They enjoyed swimming in the river then went to the Scott home for refreshments of cake, ice cream and punch. There were seven mothers to help with the little ones.

Jim Croker was involved in an automobile accident last Wednesday when his car went out of control on the road to John Day. He escaped without injury. D. L. Matteson of Athena spent the week-end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Matteson. They were joined Sunday by his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scott and two sons.

Mrs. Kay Lee and baby of Eugene were in Monument Saturday visiting with friends.

Mrs. June Hutchison, Mrs. Jessie Scott, son Robert Dale, and Miss Janice Hutchison drove to Pendleton Monday morning on business, and Janice visited her mother there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reynolds and daughter and Mr. Reynolds' mother, Mrs. Stella McCarty and son Paul returned home Friday from a five day visit with Mrs.
