

Lanham Resigns Position On Heppner Council

Conley Lanham submitted his resignation as a member of the city council Monday night because he will be gone for some six months on a trip to Europe. It was accepted by his fellow council members with best wishes for a pleasant time.

Lanham was reelected to the council in November of last year for a four-year term. The council has not acted to choose a successor.

Repercussions from late winter highwater in Heppner brought a problem to the council at the meeting. Herman Winter, attorney, appeared on behalf of clients, Bill Mahan and Mrs. Fred Booker, asking for restoration of a retaining wall on the back of their properties for protection from Willow Creek. The wall went out in a storm when water coming down Donaldson canyon overflowed at the Chase street bridge and cut across their properties.

There was some discussion about the city's liability on the matter but the council finally took the position that it will try to correct the washout with the understanding that it assumes no legal liability. Superintendent Vic Groshens was asked to get estimates of costs, and Ed Gonty was named chairman of a committee to work out details.

At the same time, the council made it clear that it would be receptive to petitions from property owners for formation of an improvement district to build curbings that would prevent such occurrences in the future. This may be done on an assessment basis with repayment over a period of time.

Building permits surged with the approval of a $35,125 permit for the bowling alley now under construction. A $500 permit for construction of a 2-car garage at the Leonard Kummerland property was approved subject to approval by Fire Chief Ruggles, since the property is located within the fire zone.

Two farm homes served by city water above the new city well may have to provide their own water beginning this coming winter. They have received water from the city's main coming from the well above, but if flow in the new well continues as at present, the former well will not be used this winter. Supt. Groshens said that it would cost the city about $300 to run the pump to supply these two farm homes for four months. It was decided that Groshens and Recorder Ted Smith notify them of these instructions by the city council.

Once again the council discussed the hazard and nuisance of the old metal shed back of the Heppner Hotel. Action two years ago by the council brought the response that the building would be repaired, it was reported at this meeting of the council. However, this has not been done. The recorder was instructed to write a letter to the property owner informing of the existing hazard and requesting that the structure be removed.

Chief of Police Dean Gilman asked that the council return Duncan-Miller parking meters now installed here, buy the automatic meters that have been installed and add 25 more of the automatic meters. The action was approved.

Supt. Groshens brought up the matter that the new high school does not have adequate fire protection being served only by a 12-inch water line. He said that it should have a 6-inch line that would have to be brought around the hillside and might cost in the neighborhood of $10,000. The matter was left in abeyance until word is heard from the school board.

Groshens reported on the county's offer to trade city labor in restoring a 6-inch pipeline from the courthouse to the county reservoir for sealing work on city streets, already done by the county. Groshens said his crews could not do the work now but might later. The matter was left to him for action.

Red Cross Drive Brings in Over $1300

The 1963 Red Cross drive, to date, has received contributions totaling $1,311.66, according to Rev. Charles Knox, campaign chairman, and does not include the money turned in when the mail-appeal was issued through the Gazette-Times in April.

Although it did not meet the quota of $1500 set up at the time of the door-to-door canvass drive between June 17 and 27, it is felt that good achievement was made.

In expressing appreciation, the Rev. Knox states, "I want to thank each one who helped make this drive a big success. This was a busy season, but turned out to be a very rewarding experience for our community and Morrow county."

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tubbs of Portland spent the week-end here with her cousin, Mrs. Amanda Duvall. They attended a picnic dinner Sunday at Battle Mountain park, together with Mrs. Julia Lloyd of Springfield, Mo., who is a houseguest of Mrs. Duvall. Others present at the picnic were Mr. and Mrs. Niel White, Pilot Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Waid, Ukiah; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Waid, Ritchie, Anne and Susan, all of Hermiston; Lenna Waid, Stanfield; and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Waid, Portland. It was also in honor of the birthday of Niel White.

Umatilla Fair Prospects Good

HERMISTON—In spite of a threat of equine influenza, Umatilla County Fair officials are working toward bigger and better events involving horses until they have word that there is real danger in this area. In other departments prospects are good, by latest report.

Gray Thompson, 4-H extension agent, said preparations are continuing for all horse events just as in previous years.

Thompson said he foresees a wonderful array of livestock exhibits, particularly from the Blue Mountain Beef club for the fair which starts August 14.

"There will be over 1000 exhibits from 4-H, both inorganic and four-legged," he said. Leo Lytle, Umatilla rancher, is entering a registered yearling bull and a heifer of the Santa Gertrudis breed. This chestnut red descendant of Brahma and other stocks has interested him for several years and now he is trying them out to see if the claims made for them are true. The breeder has been the King Ranch of Texas.

Dan Follett, Hermiston packing plant owner, will exhibit his five year old Holstein-Short Horn steer which he named "Babe, The Blue Ox," after Paul Bunyan ox. He stands 5 feet 6 inches at the shoulder and weighs 2315 pounds.

Mrs. Altha Kirk, Hermiston, head of the horse show, reported that the visiting courts as well as the Umatilla County Fair Court will be introduced at the start of the horse show both Friday and Saturday, according to plan. She has room for more entries and invites people interested in entering to request blanks directly from her at 712 Newport Avenue, Hermiston.

Bryan Branstetter, head of the Fair Follies of Friday night, reported he has arranged a well-balanced show. Sixteen acts of many varieties will include music, dancing, and acrobatic acts. The fair court will be among the performers.

Mrs. Robert Woodward, Hermiston, head of the Flower Show of Friday and Saturday, said this event will be judged by accredited judges of the Oregon State and National Federation of Garden Clubs. A flower arranging contest will be held for 4-H members who must register by Friday, August 16, at the 4-H office, fairgrounds.

Mary Evelyn Tucker will return home from Oregon College of Education, Monmouth, this week-end. She has been going to summer school there but will spend a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Padberg, before returning for the fall term in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Erickson and family of Madras visited in Heppner two days this week and were guests of the Alvin McCabes. He was formerly employed with the Heppner branch, First National Bank, before moving last year to the Madras branch of the bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wilson and family attended the annual picnic of the Harry Holt Korean orphans held at Creswell. The Wilsons visited Gene Case in Portland and Fern Graves at Madras.

Mr. and Mrs. Gale McClintock and daughter left Sunday for their home in Portland. Mrs. McClintock and daughter spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ayers, while her husband was harvesting at the Bill McClintock ranch.

Visiting last week at the Art Watkins home was their daughter, Mrs. Connie Cushman, and two children of The Dalles. On Friday Mrs. Watkins' mother, Mrs. A. A. Dunlap, Grass Valley, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haynes, and family of Philomath, visited here.

Wranglers Shape Plans for Show, Cowboy Breakfast

Of primary interest at the Wranglers club meeting Tuesday evening was discussion of the Wrangler Horse Show set for Friday, August 30, starting at 9:00 a.m. with the halter classes shown in the forenoon and the performance classes shown in the afternoon.

The cow riding trophy for Saturday night at the rodeo is furnished by Herman Green, which has previously been awarded only to a Wrangler cow rider, is open this year to all Morrow county cow riders.

Money, gift certificates and prizes have been donated for events by Heppner Lumber Co., Bank of Eastern Oregon, Wilson's Men's Wear, First National Bank, Cornett Green, Fulleton Chevrolet Co., Fred Mankin, Humphreys Drug, Penney's, and Elma's Apparel. Plans for a real good show have been made, so entries are encouraged now.

Another big event for the Wranglers is the cowboy breakfast planned for Sunday morning, September 1, at the Wranglers' grounds, with Mrs. Lowell Gribble and Mrs. Al Fetsch as co-chairmen. Two additional wood stoves are needed, so anyone having one to lend or knows where one may be obtained is asked to phone Mrs. Archie Mankin, 676-9744, or Fred Mankin, 676-9687.

New improvements at the club grounds have included new aluminum siding on the Wrangler barn, new box stalls and new corals, under the work and supervision of Fred Mankin, with the assistance of Art Vance.

'Rustled' Cattle Find Own Way Home

Seventeen head of cattle which were thought possibly to have been rustled from Grinch Ranches have found their own way home, Sheriff C. J. D. Bauman said Thursday morning.

Last week the cattle turned up missing and all attempts to find them failed. A $100 reward was offered by Grinch Ranches for their recovery, and a Portland daily newspaper had a big spread on its front page telling of what might be the biggest case of cattle rustling in years.

But the missing cattle nonchalantly wandered home by themselves and no one got the reward, the sheriff said. A few calves are still missing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Huff and family will leave Friday on two weeks' vacation.

Mrs. Huff has recovered from a tonsillectomy which she underwent last Friday. They plan to go to Halfway to visit his mother, Mrs. Bernice Huff, and to Zillah, Wn., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Burns. They also expect to go to Portland and Salem before returning home. Bert will be on vacation from his position in the First National Bank here.
