

4-H'ers Add Beauty, Comfort To Homes Through Club Work

Home is where the heart is and where 4-H Club members are hard at work with wall-paper, paint, hammer, saw and sewing machine.

Coast to coast some 200,000 girls and boys are midway in 4-H home improvement projects, reports the National 4-H Service Committee. Their hearts are set on winding up near the top in the annual competition for state, county and national awards.

Family Enterprise

The home improvement project usually involves the entire family because whatever the 4-H'ers plan to do must have the sanction of their parents. An outlay of cash is often required. Re-shuffling of space, change in color and room arrangement and an extra hand or two requires the whole-hearted cooperation of Mother and Dad.

One example of a family enterprise in California was that of the Ervin Williams who purchased a home in Visalia. It needed a thorough refurbishing job.

Daughter Patricia, 19, through her 4-H home improvement training and learn-by-doing experiences made a major contribution.

Patricia helped with the planning, interior rebuilding and decorating. What's more she selected colors for walls and draperies, chose fabrics and sewed both draperies and curtains.

The Williams' home became a showplace for home improvement 4-H Clubs in the area. Patricia's reward was pride of accomplishment, saving her folks money, and last but not least, winning a national 4-H home improvement college scholarship and a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago last year.

Room is Palace

On the East coast another 4-H home improvement national award winner claimed that "my room is my palace" and worked up a prize-winning demonstration to prove it.

She is Kathleen Scott, 18, who has "done one room at a time" in her Amsterdam, N.Y., rural home. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Scott who operate a 350-acre farm.

Next fall the Cooperative Extension Service will select the 1963 state award winner on the basis of all-around 4-H achievement, leadership, citizenship and excellence in the home improvement project.

Awards for Many

The girl or boy will be a state delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress and will be eligible for one of six $500 national scholarships provided by the Sperry and Hutchinson Company. County medals and the congress trip award also are given by S & H, new sponsor of the national 4-H home improvement awards program.

The National 4-H Service Committee announces that the scholarships have been increased this year from $400 to $500 in most 4-H programs.

STYLE LEADER — Heading Pontiac's parade of 1964 cars is this Grand Prix sports coupe above. With its "over and under" headlamps and new rectangular front parking and turn signal lamps, the Grand Prix commands immediate attention. From every angle the Grand Prix uses its clean lines to suggest a longer, lower, wider look. The profile is highlighted by a thin roof line and large concave rear window. Floor console, bucket seats and special instrument panel treatment add a sports car flair. The 1964 Pontiac Catalina four-door sedan below is completely restyled while retaining a strong Pontiac identity. In addition to new styling, colors and interiors, the 1964 Pontiacs feature a wide range of high-performance V-8 engines, improved suspension system and a complete group of accessories for added safety and comfort. Other Catalina models are a two-door sedan, a two-door sports coupe, a four-door hardtop, a convertible and six and nine-passenger station wagons.

For Your Protection Turner, Van Marter and Bryant Answers Your Insurance Questions

QUESTION: Some friends of ours had a fire in their house and moved most of their furniture to the home of a neighbor. It's just an idea but I wondered what would happen if the neighbor's house had also burned. Would our friends have been paid for their furniture?

ANSWER: Yes, almost all fire insurance policies protect the owner of furniture against loss temporarily when the furniture has been moved to a new location. If the move is permanent, the company must be notified.
