First National Makes Increase Of $60 Million

The First National Bank of Oregon has released third quarter deposit and loan figures which surpass comparable figures for any period in the bank's 99-year history.

First National President Ralph J. Voss announced that the bank has accumulated deposits of $1,010,179,865—a gain of more than $60 million over the comparable figure for a year ago and $8 million over the record established in December, 1962.

"First National also has maintained its position of leadership in the field of loaning, with a gain of almost nine percent over total loans for the third quarter of 1962," he disclosed.

Loans outstanding for the system as of September 30 totaled $605,529,299.

The Heppner branch of First National reported third quarter deposits of $5,583,568 and loans outstanding of $3,492,241, according to Branch Manager J. H. Bedford.

Comparable totals for the branch a year ago were $5,565,748 in deposits and $3,163,429 in loans.

First National Bank of Oregon listed total resources of $1,110,026,514.

The 94-office banking system has five buildings under construction with opening dates scheduled for November and December. New First National branches will open in Portland's Burlingame district and at the intersection of Mohawk and Centennial boulevards in Springfield. Modern new buildings will replace present facilities at Central Point, The Dalles and North Oregon City.

Oregon Horsemen OSU Shortcourse Set November 16

Two of the nation's leading experts on horses will be instructors at Oregon's 8th annual Horsemen's Short Course November 16 and 17 at Oregon State University.

They are Mrs. Fern Palmer Bittner, equitation teacher at Lindenwood College in St. Charles, Mo., whose specialty is judging and equitation classes; and Dr. J. D. Wheat, veterinarian at the University of California in Davis, who will discuss feet, legs and unsoundness in horses.

The short course is open to anyone, 18 years of age or older, who is interested in horses. Registration fee is $10, announced A. W. Oliver, OSU professor emeritus of animal science, who is in charge of the event. Advance registration is not necessary, but may be advisable, he said, because the course will be limited to 120 students.

A film on different breeds of horses will lead off the short course. The public is invited to the film, which will be shown in OSU's Withycombe auditorium November 15 at 7:30 p.m.

Also on the short course agenda will be a discussion of breeds, and a panel on various other aspects of horses.

You're surrounded by clean and quiet warmth when you heat your home electrically. Every room is the exact temperature you wish. Flameless electric heat is as clean as sunshine itself—no grimy walls or drapes. And just as silent, too—no noisy furnace startups.

And think of the extra benefits you enjoy with electric heat! Less redecorating bills! No furnace maintenance costs! No wonder electric heat is becoming so popular, especially here in the Northwest where PP&L rates are far below the national average.
