SUCH BEAUTIFUL weather for this time of the year! And saving on the fuel bill, being practical, now. It is real nice when attending football games both in the afternoon and evening. Speaking of ball games, go see one this week-end, the grade schoolers play in Arlington Friday afternoon and the high school team will tangle with Pilot Rock here that evening.

ANOTHER REMINDER or two: The "Make it with Wool Contest" in Pendleton Saturday at the Tapadera motel, and the annual Smorgasbord at St. Patrick's parish hall, Sunday from 3-7 p.m. Bring the family for a delicious dinner.

SIX TABLES were in session Tuesday night for duplicate bridge at the Elks club. The Venard's of Madras were week-end hunting. Ruests were enjoying the potluck dinner where the Al Lovgrens, Marshall Lovgrens, Bob Lovgrens, Stacey Lovgrens, Archie Aldermans, and Cal Sumner.

THE JIM Lovgrens entertained guests Saturday night in honor of Cista Venard's birthday. The Venard's of Madras were week-end hunting. Ruests were enjoying the potluck dinner where the Al Lovgrens, Marshall Lovgrens, Bob Lovgrens, Stacey Lovgrens, Archie Aldermans, and Cal Sumner.

GWEN HEALY won high Friday night at Bridge club with Eileen Prock as hostess. Donna Gordon was second and Duveen Schubert was low. Also in on the play were Patty Prock, Edda Mae Lovgren, Gwen Green, and Nadine O'Brien.

NORMA FRENCH had a coffee hour Wednesday for her mother, Mrs. Nettie Denton, who has been making her home with the Frenches but left Monday to spend the winter with another daughter, Mrs. Lea Tillson, Stratford, Conn. Ladies calling at the French home were Mrs. Paul Hisler, Mrs. Randall Martin, Mrs. Zetta Brosnan, Mrs. Jerry Brosnan, Mrs. Bob Brindle, Mrs. Earl Blake, Mrs. Ron Currin, Mrs. Gerald Swaggart, Mrs. Allen Hughes, and Mrs. George Currin.

PINOCHLE WAS IN play again Friday afternoon at the home of Beulah Mankin. Carrie Beckett won high, Martha Lane, low, and Beulah and Hazel Hamlin came up with the pinochle at the right time! Quitting time, that is! Others playing were Esther Bergstrom, Ola Ruggles, Gladys Beckett, Hannah Anderson.

HEARD A good hunting story on Dorothy Scott and Loy Harsin. The two gals took off for the mountains one day last week for overnight and a day of hunting. So, early in the morning they were sneaking around, not really expecting to see any bucks. But making the effort, they both ran onto the unsuspecting creatures. Dorothy said she shot "all over the place" and heard Loy doing the same close by. . . . and the bucks, they went on their way untouched! They still declare it was loads of fun and quite exciting, but better luck, next buck.

ETTA PARKER entertained the Duplicate bridge club last Thursday evening. The gals play with a running score for the evening and have four "highs" and four "lows." The "highs" were Sadie Parrish, Grace Nickerson, Ola Ruggles, playing for Hazel Hamlin and Etta. The "lows" were Wavel Wilkinson, Mae Gilliam, Gladys Connor, and Marjorie Worden, playing for Ruth McMurdo.

A BIG event of the fall was the Soroptimist card party and dessert held Monday night at the Episcopal parish hall. Five tables of bridge and seven of pinochle were in play. LaFyne Pratt won high in bridge and Helen Cohn was second. Madge Bryant had high score in pinochle and Lillian Key was second. A drawing was held for the harvest food basket and was won by Gena Leonard. She received a turkey, homemade goodies, and fresh vegetables, just in time for Thanksgiving dinner! Homemade pies or cakes were given as the prizes for the card games. A fruit cocktail dessert was served before play began and Betty Pfeiffer was general chairman of the event. Daisy Collins had charge of the harvest basket. Fall flowers were used on the tables and about the room. The proceeds from the party are used for scholarships and some is sent to the National Foundation Endowment fund which in turn is used for scholarships and research.

AFTER THE first night of the Elks Pinochle tournament, Irma Keithley and Carolyn Bergstrom are high east-west, and Ola Ruggles and Madge Bryant are high north-south. There are nine tables playing with the possibility of one more table joining this week. Each person plays with his same partner throughout the six-week tourney. The scores were low this first week with only 4600 for five HIGH SCORES were the thing Tuesday night as Myrna Sutherland entertained the Pinochle club. Marge Eckman won high with a score of over 8,000 and second high went to Jackie Allstott with an 8,000 score! Marian Strait had low, wonder what her score was? Usually they give a pinochle prize but hostess Myrna latched onto the prize midway through the evening and no one else had a pinochle all night! Others playing were Carolyn Cole, Beverly Sherman, Jackie Glennie, Donna Gordon.

THE RUMMAGE Sale committee is still taking any and all unused items you may want to donate. Just call Mrs. Jim Richardson or Mrs. Morgan Connor. Those in Lexington may call Mrs. Pat Outforth. Remember the sale is October 25-26 in the old Bakery building.

SUPPLIES OF many fruits and vegetables are tapering off now, however there are still many items from which to choose. Apples, bananas, pears, and grapes are fruits in most ample supply. Cranberries are just starting to come in from the Coos Bay area. The price of oranges has advanced and the lemon price is rising some. Good ruby red grapefruit from Florida are available. This is the big reason for cabbage, broccoli, and cauliflower. Also good buys in the vegetable family are celery, carrots, lettuce, squash, potatoes, and the first of the season's spinach crop from the Columbia River area is available and quality is good. Stewing hens offer good values, simmered slowly until tender, these meaty birds serve as the basis for hearty nourishing meals. Old favorites: chicken and dumplings or noodles, and chicken pot pie. Mouth watering good!
