

Anna Harshman Dies October 19 Of Heart Attack

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Harshman, age 77, were held Tuesday, October 22, at 2 p.m. at the First Christian church. Officiating was the Rev. Charles Knox. Interment followed in the Heppner Masonic cemetery.

Mrs. Harshman died at St. Mary's hospital in Walla Walla, Wn., on Saturday, October 19, following a heart attack. She had been dismissed a few days previously from the hospital where she had been recovering from a broken hip resulting from a fall about three weeks ago. She had been making her home recently with a daughter, Mrs. Delsie Mae Wilbur, in Walla Walla.

Born May 24, 1886, on a ranch near Morgan, she was the daughter of Emery and Frances Sperry. At an early age, she moved with her parents to Parkers Mill where her parents homesteaded. She attended schools at Parkers Mill and Hardman.

She was married to Harvey Harshman in Heppner on December 13, 1904. They operated a large sheep ranch in the Eight-mile district for many years. After his retirement, they moved to the edge of Heppner, living in the house now occupied by the Bert Corbins. After her husband's death four years ago, Mrs. Harshman made her home alternately with her children.

She was a member of the First Christian church, Heppner. Survivors include five children: Mrs. Irene Averill of Walla Walla, Wn.; Lloyd Harshman, Dayton, Wn.; Everett Harshman, Heppner; Buel Harshman; and Mrs. Delsie Mae Wilbur of Walla Walla; 13 grandchildren; and 22 great-grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Bert (Cora) Ward of Townsend, Mont.; Mrs. Roy (Margaret) Thomas of Walla Walla, Wn.; Mrs. Blaine (Delsie) Chapel of Hardman, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Morrow CowBelles Pick New Officers; Plan For Luncheon

Mrs. Alex Lindsay entertained the Morrow county CowBelles at their fall meeting last Wednesday at her home north of Lexington. A potluck dinner was held at noon with the business meeting following.

New officers named were Mrs. Ron Currin, president; Mrs. Ralph Beamer, first vice president; Mrs. Wavel Wilkinson, second vice president; Mrs. Albert Wright, third vice president; and Mrs. Raymond French, secretary. Carol Ann Harper, Boardman, was named winner of the CowBelle's cookbook, "Roundup of Beef Cookery," given by the CowBelles for the best meat demonstration at the county fair. She will be presented this award at the 4-H Achievement party in Irrigon October 26.

The menu was planned for the noon luncheon to be served the Morrow county Livestock Growers during their meeting November 1 in the fair annex.

The CowBelles will hold an afternoon tea the following day, Saturday, November 2, and Mrs. Larry Shaw is on the program to show slides of her year of study in Europe. She will narrate the pictures and tell something of her time spent there. The tea is at 2 p.m. in the Odd Fellows hall and anyone interested in the pictures of the CowBelles organization is invited to attend.

Hostess for the affair is the losing "traveling basket" team headed by Mrs. Herb Hynd. The CowBelles were divided.

Ione High Students Attend Workshop

Four Ione students, student body officers for the high school, attended the student council workshop in Pendleton, October 14 and 15. They were accompanied by Gene Harryman, Ione principal, advisor for the group.

During the meet the students discussed problems which might confront student body officers in high school.

Those attending from the school were: Steve Lindstrom, student body president; Dick Hynd, vice president; Cheryl Lindell, secretary-treasurer; and Shirley Hicks, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Turner Talks To Delta Gammas

"Education's Challenge to a Changing Social Pattern" was the title of a talk given by Dr. Ewald Turner, past president of the National Education Association and now vice principal of Helen McCune Junior High School, Pendleton, at the Delta Kappa Gamma luncheon in Heppner Saturday.

Dr. Turner said that problems in the field of human rights exist in Oregon and emphasized the belief that it is the responsibility of leaders to develop a concept of the problems of negroes, Indians and other minority groups today.

After a short business meeting the session was adjourned so that members could attend the art workshop at the Hermiston Junior High school.

Attending from Morrow county were Mrs. Zoe Billings, Mrs. Lavern Partlow, both of Boardman; Mrs. Leon Bentley, Mrs. Robert Smith, both of Irrigon; Mrs. Franklin Ely, Ione; Mrs. Roy Kirk, Heppner; and Mrs. Adrain Bechtold, Hardman.

Two Take Trip East

Mrs. J. O. Hager, Heppner, and Mrs. Bert Shaw of Pendleton left October 4 for an extended trip in the East. They are spending considerable time at the home of Col. and Mrs. Clayton A. Shaw in Washington D. C. Col. Shaw is the son of Mrs. Bert Shaw, and his wife is the former Harriet Hager, daughter of Mrs. Hager. Mrs. Hager is also visiting old friends at New Castle, Penn. They are enjoying the traditional sight-seeing tours in and around Washington, D. C.

Barak Receives Cuts In Chain Saw Mishap

Jack Barak of Lexington suffered a cut near one eye and on the back of his left hand Saturday when he was using a chain saw to clear land at a site in the mountains.

Poles that had crossed caused the saw to jump, and he apparently slipped at the same time. The saw, which narrowly missed seriously damaging his eye, cut a horseshoe-shaped gash around the eye as well as lacerating the hand.

Barak was treated by a physician as an outpatient at Pioneer Memorial hospital and was released.

ed into two teams to start a "traveling basket" around among the members as a money raising project. The team gaining the most money was declared the winner and the losers will be in charge of the tea. Mrs. John Graves was in charge of the winning team. The proceeds are used for team promotion.

New Teams Enter Athletic League

Chenoweth High school of The Dalles will be an addition to the western division of the Greater Oregon High school athletic league beginning with basketball season. Athletic Director Bob Cantonwine of Heppner High school announces, Heppner is a member of this division of the Greater Oregon league, along with Grant Union of John Day, Sherman county of Moro, Pilot Rock and Burns. Addition of the school, which has some 370 students, will bring the division to six teams.

Chenoweth, locating in the Harvey Aluminum district of The Dalles, includes students also of the Mosier area.

At a league meeting at John Day last Wednesday night, the forthcoming entry of Maupin was also discussed. Maupin, currently classed as a B school, is attaining A-2 status and is expected to ask to come into the league next year. This year's Maupin football team has been a strong club that has bowled over a number of A-2 teams.

Chenoweth will compete in basketball, baseball and track during the coming seasons. Its first competition with Heppner will be a basketball game on January 11.

It was also decided at the league meet that Heppner will be host to the sub-district track meet again in the spring. Attending the meeting with Cantonwine was Principal Gordon Pratt of Heppner.

Elementary Teachers Attend Art Workshop

Three Heppner elementary school teachers were among those attending the Oregon Art Education Association workshop at the junior high school in Hermiston Saturday. Making the trip were Mrs. Don Kirk, Mrs. Adrain Bechtold and Mrs. Anita Stockard.

Various arts and crafts were displayed from the Oregon Art Association which gave beneficial ideas for bulletin board and regular art classroom use to the teachers.

Clean up "weed beds" to keep weeds out of crops

Every fence row, ditch bank and other noncrop area around the farm or ranch can be a thriving "weed bed." Here weeds start, flourish and spread into wheat and other croplands. These "weed beds" can complicate, or even defeat, your weed control program.

Effective chemical weed control in these noncrop areas simplifies your weed problems, reduces the fire hazard of dry weeds and cuts maintenance costs by doing away with hand-cutting of hard-to-mow areas.

Advantages of chemical weed control. Atrazine and Simazine herbicides give safe, long-lasting weed control. Extensive use of these products on farms and ranches has shown that a single application gives effective results for a full season. The economy of weed control with Atrazine or Simazine is obvious when compared to mechanical methods which provide only temporary control and usually require follow-up methods during the season.

What to use and when. Atrazine attacks weeds through both roots and foliage. It can be used before weeds emerge, or soon after weeds appear above the ground. Atrazine gives long-term weed control, especially in areas of low rainfall. Simazine provides effective long-lasting control when applied before weeds emerge. Since it has no foliar contact action, there is no danger of injury to crops through accidental drift. Simazine stays where you put it, too. No danger of lateral leaching in the soil.

Weeds controlled. Atrazine and Simazine control a wide range of annual broadleaf weeds and grasses and some perennials. Among these are the following important problem species: Cheatgrass, ryegrass, tarweed, Russian thistle, foxtail, quackgrass, mustard and puncture vine.

Safe. Atrazine and Simazine are relatively safe to humans and animals. Nonirritating to the skin and noncorrosive to equipment. Always follow label directions. Both are easily removed from spray tanks and lines by thorough flushing with water.

Rockhounds to Meet

A regular meeting of the Morrow county Gem and Mineral club has been announced for Saturday evening at 8 p.m. in the old library building. Members are asked to bring a guest. Special feature will be the showing of the film, "Stone Age on the Columbia."

Reading Conference Attended by Teachers Of Elementary School

Morrow county was well represented by teachers at the annual fall conference Saturday of the Portland-Oregon Council of International Reading Association which was held at Woodrow Wilson High school in Portland.

The conference was based on the theme, "Personalizing Reading Instruction," with keynote addresses given by Dr. Robert Van Allen, professor of education at the University of Arizona.

At the regular elementary teacher's meeting Monday after school, reports were given by those attending the sessions. There were 60 sectional meetings and the reports brought from the conference showed a lively interest in the creative teaching of reading.

Those attending from Heppner were Mrs. Cleo Robinson, Mrs. Hillard Brown, Mrs. Ed Dick, Mrs. Sam Miller, Mrs. Frieda Slocum and Mrs. C. C. Carmichael.

GAINS COMFORT FROM CALL

"Ob course I dot a code in my head, but dank you for calling," was the happy grandmother's reply to an unexpected long distance call from her son and his family. It wasn't Mother's Day or even Christmas. They just had the time to talk in touch, and the kids wanted very much to talk to Grandma. Even with the pleasant weeping caused by this call, her voice sounded good to everyone. Have you shared some tearful happiness with your folks lately? Call this evening, after 6, when the rates are lower. PACIFIC NORTHWEST BELL
