4-H Builders Meet

At our last meeting we selected a name for our 4-H club. It will be the "Boardman Builders." We answered roll call by naming a tool that we have used before. Our motto is "we learn by doing." We studied about kinds of measurements and kinds of woods. We learned to drive a nail straight into a board, using 8-penny nails.

Holiday Season Rhea Creek Topic

"Twelve Days of Christmas" was the title of the program at the meeting of the Rhea Creek home extension unit at the grange hall November 6.

Ann Bergstrom and Muriel Palmer, leaders, helped members use five management steps to solve pressing problems of the holiday season. Included were making the most available family skills, time, money, energy and know-how. They pointed out that these stamps are identical to those used by business executives in making high level decisions.

An orderly procedure takes worry and frustration out of the homemaking job, they said. The leaders showed several demonstrations of getting things ready for Christmas the easy way. Nineteen members were present.
