Cardinals Split Week-end Games; To Meet Vikings

Ione's Cardinal basketball team split a two game stand over the week-end as they dropped a Friday contest to Echo's Cougars, 59-53, and walloped Umapine by a 66-51 count on Saturday.

Poor shooting and a slack defense were the causes of the Friday night defeat. The Cards managed to shoot only a meager .250 clip from the field and their defense couldn't contain the Cougar gunners.

Tom Heimbigner led the Ione effort on Friday with an output of 13 points.

Saturday night found a different Cardinal performance on the court as the Redbirds outclassed the Chiefs from start to finish in the one-sided contest.

Ione jumped to a 22-4 first quarter lead before the Chiefs could score from the field. From this point the Card bench took the reins and coasted to victory.

Jay Ball garnered high point honors for the Ione five as he found the range for 17 marks.

Friday night the Cards will host the Umatilla Vikings in the last game of the first round of play in the Umatilla-Morrow league. The Vikings currently hold down third position in the loop with a record of 5-2. Ione will be seeking to improve its 3-4 league standing at the expense of the Vikings.

Saturday night the Cards will journey to Arlington to meet the scrappy Honkers in a non-league tilt. Earlier in the season the Cards belted the Honkers, 69-61, in another non-counter. The Cards will seek a repeat performance in the Saturday fracas.

Ione Youth Wins Free Throw Shoot

Jim Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gar Swanson, Ione, won the Heppner Elks' free throw shooting contest Monday.

As winner of the local contest, young Swanson will travel to Corvallis Saturday to compete with youngsters from other parts of the state who won in similar contests.

The shoot-off among the top grade school free throw shooters in the state is slated for the halftime of the Oregon State-Stanford game in Gill Coliseum.

The winner of the state contest will be awarded a trip with the Oregon State team on one of its future jaunts this season. And quite a prize it is! The Oregon State eagles are currently rated as the 10th team in the nation.

Swanson won the trip to Corvallis by winning a shoot-off with Steve Pettyjohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pettyjohn, Heppner.

At the end of the first round of competition, both Swanson and Pettyjohn had hit on 29 of 50 attempts from the charity stripe, making the shoot-off necessary.

On the second try, Swanson hit 16 of 25 and Pettyjohn canned 13 of 25.

The competition was held in both Heppner and Ione, with about 12 boys competing at each site, according to Clint Agee, supervisor for the Heppner competition.

The snow continues to fall in the mountains and every week-end more and more skiers are crowding the slopes of areas in Oregon. The largest crowds ever recorded were skiing at Timberline, Anthony Lakes, Hoodoo Spout Springs and Arbuckle Mountain. Saturday was a perfect ski day—sunny skies and powder snow. Sunday there was more powder—it continued to fall all day. The snow pack was at about the four-foot mark last week-end, and no doubt will be deeper by next. Local residents are beginning to realize there is a new recreation available in Morrow county and are really enjoying it. They come, they look, and they can't resist trying!

Two beginners on Sunday were Father Spencer and Mrs. Spencer. Betty and Louis Carlson had been watching their kids progress—this week they took to the skis themselves. It is wonderful to see entire families enjoying the sport. Jack and Tim Loyd were back on the mountain for the first time this year. Dick McElligott brought the kids, and decided to ski. Lee Daggett and Tommy Green tried a cross country trip on Sunday. About half way to the top of the mountain they decided the snow was too deep. Three gals that braved the snowy road alone are Margaret McCarter, Anita Stockard and Mary Ellen Myers. Each week they make the drive alone, or with children, for lessons. They deserve a star for courage!

Everyone who enjoys the skiing at Arbuckle owes a word of thanks to Bill Scott of Kinzua Corporation. He is responsible for the road being plowed out, allowing cars to make it to the area without difficulty. With the deep snow this year it would be impossible to make it without this service.

Marvin Newby of the National Ski Patrol was one of the early arrivals at the area Sunday. Local patrol members enjoyed visiting with him during the day and learning more about the National Ski Patrol System. The ski patrol is a very necessary item in any ski area. National Ski Patrolmen are a voluntary, unpaid group.

Don Wise spent Saturday at Spout Springs. He reported they received 15 inches of powder snow on Friday night. This, with 400 students brought in by bus for lessons, and 150 youngsters on hand for the annual Walker Cup races plus a huge crowd of other skiers, made for quite a busy day at Spout. A group of young people from Ione also visited Spout Springs on Sunday. Susan and Bob Baker and John McElligott were among those in the group.

The 1964 Winter Olympic games will be starting at Innesbruck on January 29. Oregon residents should be proud to be represented on that team by two excellent girl skiers, Jean Saubert and Linda Meyers. It is interesting to know that Jean Saubert started her skiing career at a very small ski area, similar to Arbuckle, near Lakeview. She is considered the best bet for a Gold Medal for the U. S. team. The Olympic hopefuls trained at Bachelor last August, and the Nordic team were at Spout Springs training for cross country and jumping during December. You will be hearing of events such as Downhill, Slalom, Giant Slalom, Nordic Combined, Jumping and Cross Country. All are interesting to watch and will be televised—so be watching for them. The jumping is especially thrilling to watch. Contrary to what you might think, jumping is one of the safer forms of competition.

We appreciate Arbuckle Mountain when we read of long lift lines and crowded conditions at large areas—when the snow is deep and fresh, unmarked by any track—when the first skier comes down the slope leaving rooster tails of powder in the air—when everyone turns out to pack the slope—when the kids in classes show big improvements from day to day—when entire families arrive at the hut, puffing from the climb and eager to get on their skis—when we drive home in the evening, refreshed but tired from a day of fun on the hill. SEE YOU ON THE HILL!

Heppner Jayvees Swamp John Day; Edge Burns Team

Heppner's Jayvees kept their winning basketball ways as they swamped John Day's Jayvees, 69-38, in Friday night's contest here, but they had to fight off a big Burns team to take a victory Saturday night, 47-45.

These two wins boost Heppner's Jayvee basketballers to a record of five wins and four losses.

The first game with Grant Union was little challenge for the more-talented Mustangs as they rolled to a 39-13 half-time score. In the final quarters it didn't change for the Baby Mustangs kept throwing the ball through the hoop from all places on the floor and took the effortless win.

Heppner's Jayvees outscored the Burns Jayvees in every quarter except the third and led at intermission, 32 to 20. In the third period Burns closed the gap to seven points, 38-31, but in the final quarter the visitors surged and at one time led by one point until the home five battled back for a win in the last seconds, 47-45.

Gene Heliker swished a shot through the net with just seconds remaining to overcome the Burns one-point lead. A free throw later brought the two-point margin.

John Wagenblast led the team in scoring for the two-game outing with 23 points, followed by Scott Barratt and Dave Hanna, each with 22.

Bill Bond and Bill Guber led the John Day Jayvees with eight each. Mundy and Soule led the Burns attack with 10 and 7 respectively.

Skills and Efforts Combine to Win 4-H State Honors

Attending the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago is the dream of every 4-H'er—and two Oregon young people have achieved that goal through hard work.

Alice Kaseberg, of Wasco, and Joe Monahan, 18, of Condon, raisers of prize-winning swine and beef, have returned to classes at the University of Oregon after an exciting, post-Thanksgiving week in Chicago.

Joe Monahan Alice Kaseberg

Miss Kaseberg, 18, who won the state swine award, received her trip from the Moorman Mfg. Co. In 1958 and 1961 she had the grand champion market hog at the Sherman County Fair. She was grand champion showman at the County Fair in 1962, the same year she won a blue swine ribbon at the State Fair.

A freshman at the university, Miss Kaseberg was valedictorian of her high school class. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paulen Kaseberg, operate a 5,648-acre ranch.
