

6 Enter Protests On Exchange Plan At Power Hearing

sil, Condon and Heppner. Welty told of benefits that would accrue from the exchange from an engineering point of view and pointed out what might be expected in the future.

Hayes reported on a financial feasibility study that his firm had made with a 10-year projection for Columbia Basin. The cooperative would maintain a cash reserve of $400,000 at all times, and the reserve would reach $827,000 at the end of the 10-year period. The surplus would be available for capital improvements or rate reductions.

Manager Young told of service and maintenance plans and said that the cooperative would install a service crew in Condon, relieving the Heppner crew of the need of going to Gilliam county. He said that the exchange would mean economies on wholesale power cost and economies on service costs; that crews would be available in central areas for immediate dispatch; and that administrative economies would be made by billing through one office.

Additional consumers to be added as a result of the exchange would include some 98 services—summer homes, recreational areas and mountain ranches, Young said.

Kell said that the down payment of $750,000 that Columbia Basin would make to Pacific Power on the $1,492,000 purchase price would come from an REA loan of $450,000 and from current resources of the co-op of $300,000.

Present indebtedness of Columbia Basin is listed at $1,800,000 at 2%, and the $450,000 to be borrowed would also be at 2%.

Attorney Howe asked Jaeger, "What is the present membership of Columbia Basin?" The reply was that the firm has 800 services and 592 members, of whom 358 are in Morrow county, 211 in Gilliam, 15 in Umatilla, six in Wheeler and two in Sherman.

Mahoney requested the privilege of filing a written statement to be entered as testimony and Examiner Welch allowed five days for the filing and another five days for others to submit replies to this written testimony.

About 20 persons, other than officials of the hearing, attended the session in Heppner. The Condon hearing brought a full house.

Carnegie Course To Start Tuesday

First regular session of the 14-week Dale Carnegie course, sponsored here by the Heppner-Morrow County Chamber of Commerce, will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday night in the multipurpose room of the Heppner Elementary school, Bob Marsh of Parkdale, associate sponsor, announced.

Some 15 persons signed for the course at a demonstration meeting Tuesday night at the elementary school. The 39 present saw memory demonstrations by Mrs. Blanche Pettit, associate sponsor, of Portland and by Marsh.

Although Mrs. Pettit had only seen three in the audience before, during the meeting she called everyone by his or her full name after meeting them once at the door as they entered.

The audience was also given a quick lesson on memory work that proved highly effective and Mrs. Harold Erwin turned out to be the star pupil.

Marsh seeks to have 25 to make up the class and has been working in Heppner Wednesday and Thursday to contact others who may be interested.

He invites everyone in the community to be guests at the first session Tuesday night without obligation.

Al Lamb, Chamber of Commerce president, introduced Marsh to start the Tuesday night meeting.

Jim Morris on Job

Jim Morris, who worked on the Gazette-Times staff for the three months at the end of last year, has returned to the staff after joining the National Guard. He will leave in March for six months training in Fort Ord, Calif. Jim had planned to return to EOC, La Grande, in January to finish his college work for a degree, but was called for army physical examination and apparent impending induction. He chose to join the Guard and temporarily return to his job at the Gazette-Times.

Bishop Remington Dies in California

The Rt. Rev. William Proctor Remington, retired suffragan bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania and formerly bishop of the missionary district of Eastern Oregon, died December 19 in La Jolla Hospital for Convalescents, La Jolla, Calif., following a lingering illness.

The bishop was very well known by many in All Saints' Episcopal church here. When he served the eastern Oregon district more than 10 years ago he baptized and confirmed many in the Heppner church.

Bishop Remington was born March 13, 1879, in Philadelphia, Pa., the son of Joseph Price and Elizabeth Bailey (Collins) Remington. He attended DeLancy School, the University of Pennsylvania, where he obtained his B. S. in 1900 and his S. T. D. in 1940 and Virginia Theological Seminary, earning a B. D. in 1905 and a D. D. in 1942.

He was ordained deacon in 1905 and priest in 1906. He was consecrated suffragan bishop of the missionary district of South Dakota in 1918 and later bishop of Eastern Oregon in 1922. He became suffragan bishop of the Diocese of Pennsylvania in 1945.

Bishop Remington retired in 1951 at the age of 72 and moved to Rancho Santa Fe in the Diocese of Los Angeles. In 1953 he answered a unique request and became vicar of St. Ambrose Mission, Claremont, where he served until 1956.

Funeral service was held December 22 in St. James' Episcopal church, La Jolla, with the Rt. Rev. Francis Eric Bloy, bishop of Los Angeles, officiating.

pass them on to anyone else; that a reasonable income tax would need to be retained, particularly for those in higher income brackets; that encroachment of property taxes must be stopped so that a "floor" is established and property owners are not burdened with taxes too high for their property to bear.

Norris pointed out that property taxes of the farmers in Oregon are higher than those in any other states except for Montana and New Jersey. The Farm Bureau is not attempting to write a sales tax bill but is recommending a constitutional amendment which would act as a guide to the legislature in making a bill.

This amendment would set the rate at 3% with perhaps more on tobacco, liquor and gas and oil for sports car racing. Sale and use of the following would be exempt: food sold for home consumption, medicine by prescription, any item that becomes a part of a finished product. Of the net revenue 15% would go for reduction of income taxes, and a percentage of the property tax equal to 70% of the expenditures of the past two years would be returned for use in the counties. A millage limitation expressed in terms of percentage of true cash value would be established for each school district.

The talks followed a potluck supper at 6 p.m. Guests from out of the county, besides the speakers, were Mrs. Katherine Musa, wife of Sen. Musa and representative in the legislature from Hood River and Wasco counties; Arnold Hoelt, president of Umatilla Farm Bureau, and his son, Robert Hoelt; Tom Sumner, president of Gilliam county Farm Bureau; C. O. Burdick, vice president; Mrs. Donald Potter, secretary; and Donald Potter, Bill Jaeger, John A. Weimar, Ryan Steinke, Lester Harrison, all Gilliam county directors; Otto Steink, J. Z. Weimar, Harold Hartfield, Mrs. Lester Harrison and Howard Eubanks, all of the Umatilla county group.

Adult Reading Classes to Start

Would you like to improve your reading speed or comprehension, or both?

Starting next Monday night, January 27, the materials and equipment used in the Heppner high school developmental reading program will be available to adults under the supervision of Mrs. L. E. Dick, Jr., reading instructor.

The program will be scheduled in 90 minute time blocks, to enable each student to spend 30 minutes on one of the three pacing machines, 30 minutes on a reading for comprehension exercise, and to watch the reading films. Six persons may come at 7:30, with three more coming at 8:00 and another three at 8:30. The reading films will be shown at 8:30.

If more than 12 adults are interested in the reading, Mrs. Dick will show the films twice during the evening and start the instruction at 7:00.

Prospective students are requested to contact Mrs. Dick before next Monday night so that the schedule can be arranged in advance to suit the individuals taking the class.

All instruction is geared to the needs of each person. A small fee will be charged to cover the cost of the materials.

Fifth Member Urged for Board

Appointment of a fifth member to the Morrow county fair board was urged by a delegation that appeared before the county court Wednesday. About 12 were in the group, and Bernard Doherty and Al Fetsch of the fair board were present.

Maxwell Jones of Irigon was appointed recently as a fourth member of the board, but the group asked that a woman be named as a fifth member because of the fact that much of the fair is of interest to women.

No definite decision was made, but Judge Oscar Peterson said that if the present members of the board favor the fifth appointment, it probably will be made. Doherty expressed himself definitely in favor of the fifth member, and Fetsch indicated that he would not oppose it. Commissioners planned to contact Jones for his reaction.

Two women who would be considered for the position are Mrs. William Rawlins of Heppner and Mrs. Joe Tatone of Boardman.

Rogers, Walker Trials Started

Trial of John Patrick Rogers of Ukiah, who has pleaded innocent to a charge of killing a calf elk in a closed area, began in Morrow county justice court Thursday morning with Oliver Creswick, justice of the peace, presiding. A six-man jury was chosen in the morning and trial was scheduled to get underway in the afternoon.

Jeff Walker of Heppner, who is charged with aiding in a game violation, will also be tried following the Rogers trial. Justice Creswick said. The two charges involved the same incident. The two were arrested November 3, 1963.
