SKI

TRAILS

By BIRDINE TULLIS

It looks like spring in the lowlands, but in the mountains the beautiful snow continues to fall. The skiing conditions last week-end were excellent with new snow on the packed slope and warm sunny weather. It's time to strip off a few layers of clothing and get ready for spring skiing. The hill was full of happy skiers both Saturday and Sunday. The snow pack is holding at about four feet on the slope.

Influenced by the Olympics, the younger generation set up a downhill course and a jump on Sunday and spent the afternoon in timed runs down the hill. All day they flashing down the hill in excellent form. The jump was small, but I was amazed to see some of the beginners flying over it. Not only the younger generation tried the course—quite a few of the older ones couldn't resist the challenge!

Many families who do not ski are finding it a relaxing trip to the area to watch the skiers, and enjoy the beauty of the mountains in winter. The road tends to be a bit rutty, but with snow tires or chains there is little danger. The short drive to Arbuckle permits families to spend an afternoon skiing, and also make it to church. Many have been asking if the club plans a carnival or competition this year. Two years ago we had such an event at the end of the season. No doubt, there will be a similar event this year.

A group of club members combined a work day at the area with a fun day—sneaked off skiing while the kids were in school. Perhaps if there is enough interest in such a ski day for adults, one could be arranged each week. Doesn't seem to hurt so much to fall if your kids aren't looking! The work part of the day consisted of improvements to the tow line, making it possible for beginning skiers to ride up the bunny side of the rope and unload.

Stephen Peck completed his first course of ski instructions for beginners last Saturday. Stephen is also available at most times for private lessons. Seen on the hill—Bob Baker sets a record—two pair of broken skis in one season! Directors standing at the top of the tow enjoying the view and planning for future development of the area. Beginners this week—Kay and Creston Robinson, Don and Gary Munkers, Larry Muessig, Merilee Murray, Steve and John Hedman and Bobby Dobbs.

Tips for happier skiing—more accidents occur after mid-afternoon—if you tire, QUIT. That last fast run down the hill is the bad one. Remember, the downhill skier has the right of way on the slope. If you are uphill, watch for everyone ahead. Warm weather makes the rope hard to grasp—try to find some rough surfaced gloves or

Rockhound Corner

By BETTY WAGNER

Well, here I am back at the typewriter again to peck off some of the recent and not so recent activities of the local rockhounds. First of all, to be sure you don't miss this announcement, I will tell you now that our next meeting will be on Saturday night, February 29. Guess we'd better go back as far as the October meeting and bring you up to date. We viewed an interesting set of slides compiled by the late Emory Strong of Portland. There, in color, were many petroglyphs and pictographs made by the Indians on the rocks along the Columbia. Many of these carvings and paintings are now under water which forms the lake behind The Dalles Dam. After seeing these slides and reading a little of the early activities along the Columbia, one's imagination runs wild as he contemplates what life must have been like then and what a contrast to a trip along the Columbia now!

Since no meeting was held in November, December brought us mitten to wear on warm or wet days. When the area is crowded, please space out on the rope, allowing the skier ahead a good distance before you load. This will allow him to unload and be out of the way at the top when you arrive. Ski under control—speed requires the ability to turn immediately under any condition. A study made by the National Ski Patrol System found that approximately 90 percent of all accidents were caused by the victim over-estimating his ability. Sun glasses are almost a must now—yellow lens for snowy days and flat light condition, dark lens for bright days. Fill your bathtubs or sitzmarks! They are a menace to the skier behind you.

So if you have decided not to hibernate this year, make a party and bring your friends or, better yet, bring the family—we'll SEE YOU ON THE HILL!

to the end of the year. The following officers for 1964 were elected; Ed Gonty, president; Dr. C. M. Wagner, vice-president; Randall Peterson, secretary-treasurer. Christmas-wrapped rocks were exchanged and the door prize, a lovely sweater guard, was given to Pastor Elwood Boyd. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edger.

On January 25, with Ed Gonty at the helm, we entered another year of activities. Ruby Miller consented to keep the club scrapbook up to date and Ora Evans will continue as program chairman. George Miller displayed his wonderful collection of arrowheads obtained along the Columbia between Arlington and The Dalles; and, by the way, this collection can be viewed in the showcase at the Courthouse during the month of February. Robin Neiman showed some beach stones and Indian war-paint rocks she had collected along the shores of Long Island, N. Y.

Oregon Gem Trails was the theme for the slides viewed that evening by our guests and members. Over the trails we went to visit the Priday Ranch (famous for its plume agate), the Painted Desert, John Day fossil beds, Nigger Rock near Vale, Crane Creek, south of Lakeview where eggs filled with agate and quartz crystals are found, Glass Butte near Bend where obsidian covers an area of 20 square miles. There were many other hunting areas shown revealing beautiful rock specimens and scenery. The George Millers were our hosts for the evening and the door prize, a tumbled agate on a neck chain, was won by a guest, Mrs. Gene Starks. Also, a key chain with tumbled agate cabochon, was auctioned off to Avery Taylor.

If you are interested in rocks or have some you would like identified, come meet with us on February 29 and "stump the experts." Another item of interest for rock collectors: the county extension agent is planning a class in Mossaics at Lexington on February 17, 24, and March 2. Anyone can sign up for it, but better do it right away. You'll get lots of ideas on how to use some of the specimens you have collected.
