Soroptimist Club Speaker Reports On Fulbright Tour

Experiences of travel and study in Europe under a Fulbright scholarship were told by Mrs. Larry Lindsay, Lexington, when she spoke to members and guests of the Heppner Soroptimist club at its luncheon meeting last Thursday noon. Her talk was illustrated with colored slides of countries she visited during the year, September, 1961, to September, 1962.

Mrs. Lindsay was accompanied to the meeting by her mother, Mrs. Albert E. Remily of Portland, and was introduced by Mrs. Jim Thomson, co-chairman of the program committee.

After getting her degree from the University of Portland, Mrs. Lindsay was awarded the scholarship for 10 months of advanced study in chemistry at the University of Cologne in Germany. She was one of several exchange students who made the 11-day voyage across the Atlantic on the ship, M. S. Berlin.

Her first month was spent living in the private home of a German family, learning the German language and customs. Her "father" was a finance minister of the country. Contrasts in styles of architecture were of particular interest to the speaker. Very evident were contrasts between the old and new, modern structures built to replace those destroyed during war years, and many combining the two when parts were rebuilt.

"Many of the beautiful stained-glass windows were taken out of cathedrals to preserve them from bombings," she said, "and allied planes tried very hard to keep from destroying the art treasures and cathedrals." She spoke of the advantages and extra privileges given students in social and educational programs in Germany, encouraging them to further their education.

She was one of 40 students who spent a Christmas vacation in Austria enjoying the winter sports near the scene of where this year's Winter Olympics were held. She discussed contrasts between east and west Berlin which she visited in March and April, vacation months at the university. Very impressive were the many soldier guards, the crudeness of the Berlin wall, with broken glass embedded in it, barbed wire and railroad ties extending along it, and the lack of any restoration to bombed buildings, windows and walls boarded and much anti-propaganda along its division. Tourists are discouraged in trying for entrance into the east sector by length of "red tape" and hours of waiting at each checkpoint. Freedom and truth were impressed on West Berliners through Voice of America broadcasts, now closed, the speaker regretfully pointed out.

Mrs. Lindsay has been a strong supporter of the National Fulbright scholarship program, and encourages qualified college graduates to apply whenever possible.

Other guests of the club were Mrs. Gordon Hutchens and Mrs. Ora Evans.

Ceremony in Portland Unites Larry Ritchie and Theresa Williams

ONE—Of interest to many friends here was the beautiful wedding on Friday, February 7, at 8:00 p.m. at the home of the bride, when Mrs. Theresa Williams became the wife of Lester W. (Larry) Ritchie. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gordon E. Dalton before the fireplace. The mantel was tastefully decorated with bouquets of white stock and pink carnations and reflected the glow from rose colored lamps on either side.

The bride was lovely in a pink lace dress over pink taffeta with white accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage. Her matron of honor was Mrs. Bruce Fletcher of Portland and best man was Nicholas M. Roth of Olympia, Wn., brother of the bride.

After the traditional first piece of the three-tiered wedding cake was cut by the happy couple, Mrs. Lynn Wilcox, sister of the groom, served the guests. She was assisted by Mrs. Richard Pfeiffer, daughter-in-law of the bride, who also poured punch. Coffee was served by Mrs. Nicholas Roth, sister-in-law of the bride. Miss Julie Williams, daughter of the bride, had charge of the guest book.

Guests in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Blake, Dorothy Olston, Eunice Wardfield, Leona Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. James Pfeiffer, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pfeiffer, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schiele, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Roth, Mr. and Mrs. George Roth, Vesta Mallatt, Barbara De Marco, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Fletcher, Mrs. William Cowley, Miss Julia Williams, and Gregory Markle all of Portland. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Lindstrom of Ione, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Ritchie of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lovell of Beaverton, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lovell, Hillsboro, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lovell of Troutdale, Mrs. Robert Allstott of Hermiston, Mrs. Verda Ritchie of Tygh Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas M. Roth, Olympia, Wn., Ted Troge, Clackamas and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Goll of Clackamas.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie are employed in Portland, she at Physicians and Surgeons hospital and he at Portland Casket Co. They are now at home at 4106 S. E. Lincoln St.

Also a luncheon invitation was read from President Lillian Smith of Sunbeam PNG club in Hermiston, to be its guests on March 14. This is for all past noble grands and noble grands in the district.

Mrs. Bernice Nash was hostess for the social hour, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Shirley Connor, and Mrs. Mildred Padberg.

Circus Theme Used For Birthday Party

Decorations which carried out a circus theme sparked a party atmosphere Sunday afternoon when Teresa Wright celebrated her twelfth birthday.

Mrs. Winn Crist and Teresa's mother, Mrs. Ed LaTrace, bedecked the room with such things as a circus wagon filled with balloons, pictures depicting circus animals, side show attractions and a three-tiered cake decorated with animals and topped with a candy striped canopy held up by red and white striped straws.

Enjoying the fun filled afternoon of circus motif games and refreshments were Teresa's guests, Susan Melby, Glenda Van Winkle, Sandra Mathews, Patty Howell and Jeanine Hunt.

Among those driving to the John Day-Heppner basketball game Friday night and continuing on to Burns for Saturday's game there were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dick, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan McCurdy, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Padberg, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. D. Bauman, Tad Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hunt, Bernard Doherty, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brown, Mrs. Irene Wyman and Mrs. Eloise Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gonty motored to Ukiah Sunday to help their little granddaughter, Patti Kay Blevins, observe her first birthday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Blevins. Others going were their sons, Tom and Doug, Mrs. Ellen Campbell and son, Terry, and Johnny Johnson. After the birthday dinner, cake and gifts were enjoyed by the little miss.
