Four Oregonians On IFYE Program

An international "young ambassador" program—in which Morrow county has shared—will mark a milestone this summer in Oregon when the 50th International Farm Youth Exchange delegate leaves the state for an overseas stay in a foreign country.

At the same time, the number of foreign youths who have lived in Oregon under the exchange program will pass the 100 mark.

Five Morrow county families have been hosts to foreign youths. They include: from Heppner—Randall Martin; from Jone—E. M. Baker, L. L. Howton, Fredrick T. Martin, and Keith C. Rea.

Oregon has been a part of the unique youth program since 1951. The 46 delegates chosen through 1963 had gone to 33 different countries for six to eight month stays. During their visit to the foreign country, they have the experience of living with two or three farm families.

The four outstanding young Oregonians scheduled for farm youth visits abroad this year include Philip Krouse of Applegate, who will go to England-Wales; Nellie Jo Van Calcar, Coos Bay, to Jamaica; Susan Amundson, Astoria, to The Philippines; and Gordon Cook, Canby, to Korea.

Miss Van Calcar will likely be No. 50 delegate since her departure is scheduled last.

Some 8 to 10 youths from as many different countries will be in Oregon this year under the program.

All told, nearly 300 Oregon families have been "hosts" for the 100 plus youths who have come here from 43 different countries around the world—including some Communist nations.

National 4-H Week Postponed Till Fall

National 4-H Club Week, formerly celebrated about this time, will now be celebrated in the fall, according to Esther Kirmis, Morrow County Extension agent. The National 4-H club office has designated the week of September 26 through October 3 this year.

It was felt that the fall, when new 4-H clubs were organized, would give them a better opportunity to promote 4-H membership, she said.

Serving on this year's committee are: Mrs. Robert Abrams, Mrs. Roger Campbell and Mrs. Harriett Evans of Heppner; and Mrs. Jim Pettyjohn, Ione.

North Morrow 4-H Council has designated Mrs. Harold Van Horn and Mrs. Chester Wilson, Irrigon; and Mrs. Earl McQuaw, Boardman.
