A veteran television and radio commentator and civic leader, Tom McCall of Portland, entered his candidacy for secretary of state last week on the Republican ticket, and a veteran legislator, Alfred H. Corbett, also of Portland, announced that he will seek the position on the Democratic side.

McCall, who was administrative assistant and news secretary to Governor Douglas McKay in 1949, has been associated with KGW television and radio since 1952. He has been active in the work of some 20 community and government organizations in the past 20 years, mostly as an unpaid volunteer. In February he received the Brotherhood Award of the Oregon Regional Conference of Christians and Jews.

Corbett has a record of 11 years in the state legislature, of which eight years were as senator. He has served twice as chairman of the Ways and Means committee. He has served on many legislative committees. Corbett has been a member of the Oregon Bar since 1940.

On the Democratic ballot for state treasurer will be Robert W. Straub of Eugene, a former state senator from Lane county, and state Democratic chairman from 1959 to 1961.

Another filing of interest here is that of Circuit Judge Edward H. Howell of John Day as a candidate for election to the Oregon Supreme Court position 7. He has been judge of the 11th judicial district (Grant, Gilliam, Sherman and Wheeler counties) since 1949.

Filing to End Friday; Max Jones Seeks Court Post

Democratic side, W. W. (Bill) Weatherford will face Frank Hamlin for the nomination on that ticket.

For commissioner, only Jones has filed to date on the Democratic ticket and Hayes on the Republican ticket.

Mrs. Parrish is unopposed for county clerk, running for reelection on the Republican ticket, and veteran Sheriff C. J. D. Bauman is unopposed on the Republican ballot for sheriff. No candidates have filed on the Democratic ticket to this time.

Mrs. Sylvia McDaniel is the lone candidate for treasurer and is seeking reelection as a Republican.

While there are four candidates seeking the three 4-year posts for port commissioner, all will be nominated at the primary, unless late filings come in, because three are to be nominated by each party, and two Republicans and two Democrats have filed. The contest, then, will be in the November election.

The nonpartisan justice of the peace post in Heppner will bring a contest on the ballot in the primary. Candidates filing to succeed Oliver Creswick, incumbent, who will not run because of his candidacy for judge, are Mrs. Avon Melby, the Rev. Earl Soward and Jim Devine.

Rep. Al Ullman Introduces Bill On Meat Imports

Congressman Al Ullman announced Tuesday that he is introducing legislation in Congress to authorize quotas on beef imports to the United States, a telephone message from his office advised the Gazette-Times.

Rising imports from New Zealand and Australia have resulted in a depressed condition for western livestock producers, and the bill is designed to alleviate the problem, Con. Ullman stated. "The requirements for a stable livestock industry in Oregon and throughout the nation demand a reasonable limitation on imports," he said.

The proposal will provide for quotas based on the average of imports for the past five years with a growth factor agreeable to the industry.

Cong. Ullman said that his bill will also incorporate other recommendations of Oregon producers and the national cattlemen's association.

Oregon Farm Bureau federation directors Tuesday had pledged their full support to the livestock industry to secure "realistic" relief on beef and veal imports from the two countries.

Harold Beach, Hermiston, president of the organization, was highly critical of the voluntary quota agreement entered into with these two countries by the State Department and the United States Department of Agriculture.

"The voluntary arrangement is tantamount to no quota at all and appears to be part of a grandiose scheme for international commodity agreements in which our market would be divided with other agricultural producers in the world," he said.

Joe Hay Accepts Farm Bureau Post

Joe Hay, formerly a Morrow county agent, has accepted a position as field service man with the Oregon Farm Bureau federation and will work out of Pendleton, Nels Anderson, Morrow county agent, said.

Hay, who lost his position here in cutbacks necessitated following defeat of the state tax program in October, started on the new job last Monday. Currently he represents the federation in seven counties—Gilliam, Union, Umatilla, Malheur, Baker, Wallowa and Morrow.

The Hays plan to move to Pendleton at a later time.
