

Services Friday For J. Hughes, 77

Funeral services for Joseph James Hughes, age 77, will be held Friday, March 27, at 10:00 a.m. at the First Christian church, Heppner. The Rev. Charles Knox will officiate, with interment in the Heppner Masonic cemetery.

Mr. Hughes, who had been in ill health for some time, died Tuesday, March 24, at Pioneer Memorial hospital. He had made his home in or near Heppner all his life, except for two years when he was employed by the railroad company at The Dalles.

The son of pioneer parents, John and Mary Hughes, he was born on a ranch in the Lexington area on May 28, 1886. On June 17, 1923, he was married to Olive Bassett in Newberg. He was a member of the First Christian church, over 20 years.

Survivors include his widow, Olive; three sons, Thomas J. of Heppner; Joseph J., Jr. of Los Angeles, Calif.; and William B. of McMinnville; two daughters, Mrs. Ellen Marshall of Sweet Home, and Mary Olive Hughes of Salem, and ten grandchildren. Also three sisters, Mrs. Mary Healy of Heppner, Mrs. Anna McNamee of Heppner, and Mrs. Nora Buffington of Portland, besides a number of nieces and nephews.

Final Rites Held At Masonic Cemetery For Florence Hughes

Memorial services for Florence May Hughes, 81, were held March 19 at Smith-Callaway Chapel in The Dalles, with the Rev. E. Ernest Taylor officiating. Graveside committal rites at the Heppner Masonic cemetery were conducted by Ruth Chapter 32, Order of Eastern Star, Heppner.

Mrs. Hughes died at her home on route 2, The Dalles, on Monday, March 16, following a sudden illness.

She was born April 24, 1882, at Pembina, N. D., and resided many years in Heppner, where she was a member of the Episcopal church, Sans Souci Rehebeal Lodge 33, and Ruth Chapter, O.E.S. Her husband, Hansen, died in 1943.

Surviving are one brother, Harry C. (Brick) Hoffman, and a sister, Mrs. Henry Peterson, both of The Dalles.

Pallbearers were John Wightman, Paul Jones, Howard Bryant, Frank Parker, Harold Becket and Oliver Creswick, all of Heppner.

John Day Judge Seeks Election To Supreme Court

It has been more than a half-century since an Eastern Oregon judge has won a seat on the Oregon Supreme Court bench by election, but this year could break the long drought.

One of the candidates for election to Supreme Court Position No. 7, from which Justice George Rossman will retire in January, is Circuit Court Judge Edward H. Howell of John Day.

Judge Howell is one of four candidates for election to the position. Two of his opponents in the race are also circuit judges, William S. Fort of Eugene and Ralph M. Holman of Oregon City. The other is Jason Lee of Salem, who is without judicial experience.

Of the three judges, Howell is senior in length of service on the circuit court bench and is probably the most traveled within the state.

A native Oregonian and a graduate of Willamette University Law School, Howell was admitted to the Oregon bar in 1940. After only five years in private practice of law and four years in the U. S. Army Air Corps during World War II, he was appointed to fill a circuit court vacancy in the 11th Judicial District in 1949, with the backing of his colleagues in the district. He was elected to the position in 1950, 1956 and 1962.

Because his own judicial district is thinly populated—though widely spread—and his caseload relatively light, Judge Howell has frequently been assigned by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court to assist in other districts. As a result, he has heard a wide variety of cases, civil and criminal, in more than two-thirds of Oregon's 36 counties, in all sections of the state. Consequently he has had an opportunity to become widely known, especially in legal circles. Like Judge Holman, Howell has been a pro-tem Supreme Court Justice, serving in that capacity for an extended period in 1960 and 1961 to assist in clearing a backlog of high cases that had been honored by his fellow court cases. Like Fort, Howell circuit judges by election to the presidency of the Oregon Circuit Judges Association. Howell has also been a member of the executive committee of the Oregon Judicial Council, which includes all Supreme Court Justices and Circuit Judges.

Typewriter Ribbons and Mimeograph Stencils now available at the Gazette-Times office.
