The young guest also told of work of the new club, which now has six members. Among activities recently was a parents' night dinner at which the members' parents were told of craft work being done and were given demonstrations.

Lanham's Return From Winter Study in France

A winter of treasured experiences will be recalled often by Mr. and Mrs. Conley Lanham, who returned home Friday from study in Europe and a leisurely six-weeks tour in the United States.

Leaving her teaching duties in Heppner High school, Mrs. Lanham and her husband enjoyed several months study last winter in Luyne, France, after a plane trip to London last August and some sightseeing there.

"We enjoyed very much our association with the French people," relates Mrs. Lanham, but she added that they did find the winter weather somewhat uncomfortable with the climate being unusually damp and cold. The sunshine of Morrow county was welcome to them on their return, and with great enthusiasm, she remarked, "It's wonderful to be home."

The Lanhams arrived back in the U. S. March 30 after a "rough and rolling" 10-day sea voyage on a ship out of Holland. They spent some time touring in their new Mercedes-Benz, which they brought back from Europe, and went to Ft. Eustis, Va., visiting a son, Capt. M. C. Lanham and family. Next stops were with two of Mrs. Lanham's brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Houston in Paris, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rode in Bellevue, Ill. In Kansas City they saw a cousin, Bill Rose, and after going south to Slidell, La., visited her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glen McFarland. Crossing the southern states to California, they were guests of Conley's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gunnarson and family in San Diego. In Menlo Park, they were happy to see his two sisters, Mrs. Ray Wiand and husband, and Mrs. Mildred Harris. Continuing north to Seattle, they were guests of an aunt, Mrs. Georgia Lacey.

After their studies were completed in February in France, the travelers spent some time in Spain, Belgium and Holland before taking the boat home. Questioned on picture taking, their hope is that they have a few good pictures, in spite of unfavorable weather conditions most of the time.

Peterson, Jones Win; Contests Loom in November

posited, received 653 in the county on his ticket. The two will be matched on the general election ballot in November.

For state senator, 18th district, incumbent Ben Musa of The Dalles, lone candidate on the Democratic ticket, polled 628 in Morrow county, and he will face Giles French of Moro, Republican, who polled 718 without opposition on the GOP ballot.

Irvin Mann, running for state representative, 28th district, received 725 votes unopposed on the Republican side while his general election opponent, Martin Buchanan, Democrat, gained an even 600 votes on the Democratic ticket in the county.

In winning the Republican nomination for county judge, Judge Peterson tallied 255 votes, just 18 more than his nearest rival, Berl Akers of Ione. The winner came out on top in three precincts, S. E. Heppner, N. E. Heppner and S. W. Heppner, and Akers won in four precincts, Ione, Hardman, Lexington and Boardman. Oliver Creswick, running third with 185, won in Irrigon, while Ambrose Chapin, finishing fourth with 117, received an edge in N. W. Heppner.

In winning the Democratic nomination for judge, Paul Jones won in every precinct but Hardman where he was edged by one vote. Oddly enough, Judge Peterson, even though Republican, polled four votes there, against three each for Jones and Haskell Sharrard. Jones' 329 votes made him nearly a 2-to-1 winner over his nearest competitor, W. W. (Bill) Weatherford with 197. Peterson, as a write-in, had 100, followed by the third and fourth Democratic candidates, Frank Hamlin with 86 and Sharrard with 42.

For county commissioner, incumbent Walter Hayes was unopposed on the Republican side and received 658 votes. Maxwell Jones, challenging without opposition on the Democratic ticket, received 591 and will meet Hayes in the general election contest.

Sadie Parrish, county clerk, was unopposed for nomination for another term on the Democratic ballot and polled 685 votes. She also won the Republican written nomination, there being no candidates on that ticket, with 110 votes.

Sheriff C. J. D. Bauman topped the Republican ticket for all offices as best vote-getter, receiving 808 while running unopposed for sheriff. Sylvia McDaniel, treasurer, was second most popular, receiving 772. She also was unopposed.

Candidates for port commissioner were without opposition in the primary although there were three candidates on each ballot. Don Turner, Republican, seeking a two-year term as a commissioner, tallied 610 votes while Joe Tate, Democrat, received 459 for the nomination on the party ballot. They will vie in November.

Two Republican candidates for 4-year terms were John R. Krebs, who polled 675, and Dewey West, who received 597.

On the Democratic side Al Lamb rolled up 600 votes for one of the 4-year terms while Lloyd Berger of Irrigon received 33 to be nominated for another of the 4-year terms.

Yet to be determined is the outcome of the races for party delegates to national conventions. They were the last to be counted around the state. However, Morrow county's choices are known. Democrats in Morrow county gave Al Lamb a vote of 620 for 2nd Congressional district delegate to the convention, as against 341 for Gene Conklin of Pendleton, 220 for Bob Goad of B. Overhulse. Two are to be chosen from the district, and outcome hinges on the count throughout the district.

Judge Edward Howell found high favor from Morrow county voters as he sought position seven on the State Supreme Court bench, getting 723 votes here to 457 for Judge Ralph Holman of Clackamas county, 225 for Judge William Fort of Eugene and 103 for Jason Lee of Salem. However, throughout the state Judge Howell ran second and has the prospect of a November runoff against Judge Holman.

The Rev. Earl Soward tallied 636 votes for Heppner justice of the peace against 395 for Jim Devine, 158 for Avon Melby and $2 for Bert Corbin. The twelve scattered votes for others will make the Soward-Devine runoff necessary. Devine said Wednesday night that he plans to continue campaigning for the position and does not intend to withdraw.

Election proceeded smoothly in Morrow county with no known hitches. Election boards reported a good steady turnout throughout the voting period without large numbers bunching up at any particular time. Counting boards moved swiftly and the huge task of tallying and the votes was done speedily. Some precincts were finished shortly after 10 p.m. although it had been estimated that none would be done before midnight.

Unofficial tally was complete for all positions, including the delegates, by 5:30 a.m.,
