Mid-Year Outlook Mixed for Barley, Wheat, Oats, Hay

Mid-year prospects hold prom-ise of harvest time prices for Oregon feed barley, oats and hay moderately above last summer, but wheat and malt-ing barley prices are likely to be

New federal grades will be in effect on the 1964 crop. These aim to reward those who produce uniform lots of wheat with fall grazing following the June fewest defects. How markets will adjust to the supply and demand for each of the new grades remains to be seen, Record large marketings of Cattle from feedlots during the second quarter of this year apparently depleted supplies of heavyweight slaughter steers by mid-June, Marks said.

Oats may share some of the strength expected in the feed barley market, but prices probably will average about the same as in 1963.

For growers who don't own For growers who don't own their own storage, October could be a good time to sell both barley and wheat this year, Thomas says. It has worked that way often in recent years.

For those with storage, there may be some gains in later sales, he adds. January barley prices have been close to the

Secretary Freeman Eyes Bread Prices

Secretary of Agriculture Free-man has said again that there is no justification for any sub-stantial increase in flour prices. This is a result of reports that flour would increase 80c a hund-red due to the new wheat program.

The increased cost of wheat in a loaf of bread will amount to 1/5 of a cent more than last year but about the same as in 1962-63. Any increase in bread prices beyond the 1/5 cent will be to costs other than wheat. It must be remembered that prevmust be remembered that prevmust be remembered that previous wheat costs in a pound loaf of bread was only 2.4c.

Information received at the Oregon Wheat Growers office says that more flour was milled in the month of June this year than any other month in history. Some reports indicate the production was up over 25% from duction was up over 25% from June, 1963, thus having a larger inventory to start the 1964 year. Freeman says there is no constitutional question involved in the 1964 voluntary wheat pro-

Two bills have been introduced in Congress to abolish the wheat program—one by Representative Abbitt, Democrat, Virginia, and the other Representative Broy-hill, Republican, North Carolina. Both of these Congressmen come from areas of small wheat producers-often times called the 15-acre men—where wheat is not a major source of income.

Prices on Cattle Likely to Remain Lower than 1963

Oregon cattle prices the sec-ond half of 1964 are likely to remain somewhat below levels a year earlier, but lamb and hog prices probably will average a little higher.

That is the livestock outlook at mid-year, Stephen C. Marks, Oregon State University extension agricultural economist, re-ports in the new Oregon Farm and Market Outlook Circular published by OSU, Copies are available at the county extension offices.

Cattle market prospects ap-pear more optimistic since the June rains relieved the drought situation, Marks observed, but odds are against a sustained upward push on prices mainly be-cause of the record large cattle population and poorer range conditions than a year ago. However, slaughter cattle prices this fall are not expected
