Seven City Dads Up for Election

Seven of the city's official positions are up for election at the time of the November general election, Mayor Al Lamb said last week.

Terms of four councilmen, the mayor, recorder and treasurer will expire at the end of the year. Included are Councilmen Earl Ayres, Councilman W. C. Rosewall, Ed Gontly and John Pfeiffer; Mayor Lamb; Ted Smith, recorder; and LaVerne Van Marter, Jr., treasurer.

None of the incumbents has as yet announced plans for running for reelection. Councilman Rosewall was appointed to fill the vacancy created when Conicy Lanham resigned last year and his term therefore runs until the next election.

Three of the council positions will be for four-year terms and one will be for two years.

Candidates for the office must file at least 30 days prior to the election which will be November 3.

they had been visiting here a week.

Mrs. Clifford Howell, son Paddy, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howell were in Pendleton last Wednesday where they visited Clifford Howell who was in the hospital after being hurt by falling timber in the woods. Tom Ross brought Howell home Thursday evening for a few days, but was to return this week to have a cast put on.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Houser and daughter and two grandsons of Spring Valley, Calif., arrived last Monday evening for a week's visit at the home of Mrs. Houser's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Jones. They left August 23 on their way back home.

Miss Alta Stevens of Hardman visited one day last week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howell. Kathy and Kenneth Carlson of Lakeside, Ore., are spending a part of their vacation here with their father, Leonard Carlson of Kimberly.

Mrs. Carlyle Stewart of Bonanza, Ore., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Musgrave entered the John Day hospital last Tuesday evening as a patient.

Tommy Noland broke his leg last week while playing on the school grounds. His mother, Frances Noland, and Jessie Scott drove to John Day Tuesday and brought him home from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cupper of LaGrande spent the week-end with their folks. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cupper of Kimberly, and Mr. and Mrs. Murd Stubblefield of Monument.

Bread Price Rise Draws Questions From Wheat Men

By JOHN WELLES
Executive Vice President
Oregon Wheat League

Why the bread price rise?

This is the question the wheat producers would like to know. Unknown to most consumers, the wheat grower knows that it takes only 2-1/2c of wheat to make a pound loaf of bread. In recent news articles the increase is based on the price of wheat and very little is said on other cost increases including labor.

Those close to the problem know that the price a farmer receives for his wheat has little relationship to the price of a loaf of bread. For example, one knows that in 1948 when wheat was selling for about $2.75 per bushel, the price of a one pound loaf of bread was about 14c. Compare this today with $2.00 a bushel wheat and 21c for a pound loaf of bread.

In 1962, the price support on wheat was $2.00 per bushel. In 1963 the price support for wheat was $1.82 per bushel. During 1963 farmers received an average of $1.85 per bushel for their wheat, and bread prices were not reduced.

Under the 1964 wheat program, the price support on wheat was dropped to $1.30 per bushel, and millers were required to purchase certificates at 70c per bushel. The difference between the price support in 1963 ($1.82) and the price support plus certificates in 1964 ($2.00) is 18c differential. This differential is 1 1/4c increase in the price of a one pound loaf of bread.

And in 1964, with wheat plus certificates at about $2.00 per bushel, that same one pound loaf of bread is selling for 21c. This suggests that if farmers had not taken less for their wheat (about $2.00 from 1962 to 1963), consumers would have been paying at least one cent more for their bread during all this time.

Some are saying that under the 1964 program, the market price is above the support price, and this, together with the certificates, is forcing the price of wheat so much above 1963 levels that an increase of one cent per loaf of bread is justified.

USDA reports that during June, 1964, the average price farmers received for their wheat was $1.40 per bushel, with no certificates required. Millers paid less for wheat in June 1964 than in many years. In July, with 70c certificates required, the average price received by farmers had declined to $1.33 per bushel. Add the 70c certificates and we get a total of $2.03 per bushel. Subtract the $1.85 average price received by farmers in 1963 and we have an 18c differential. In the same 18c we started out with.

Under the 1964 wheat program, we can justify an increase in the cost of a one pound loaf of bread by only 1/4c. Any further increase in bread prices cannot be attributed to the price farmers received for their wheat. Just remember, if bread prices are increased by one cent, somebody else is getting three times as much as the farmer.

4-H Club Poultry, Rabbit Exhibits Set at State Fair

For the first time in several years, both 4-H rabbits and poultry will be on exhibit during most of the 1964 Oregon State Fair, according to Cal G. Monroe, Oregon State University state 4-H extension agent.

Changes in the schedule for this year's fair were made to make it possible for more 4-H rabbit and poultry club members to participate than in the past, he explained.

Rabbit judging, showmanship and judging contests will be held on Sept. 4. That night, 4-H club members living more than 100 miles from Salem will be allowed to take their animals home.

The poultry show will be held Sept. 5 starting with showmanship in the morning. Poultry exhibited by members over 100 miles from Salem will be allowed that evening.

This means enough cages will be available in the 4-H rabbit and poultry exhibit building to display both during the remainder of the fair, Monroe pointed out. Advantages of the schedule are that 4-H's from the far corners of the state will have to make only one trip to Salem and the judging of both poultry and rabbits will be done before school starts.

In addition to schedule changes, some new classes and other special events are planned to increase interest and participation in these particular 4-H projects, Monroe added.

C of C Directors Fill Vacancies

Vacancies in offices and board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce were filled at a recent meeting of the directors.

Resignation of Oliver Creswick as first vice president created a vacancy, and Randall Peterson, second vice president, was elected first vice president. Harley Young was chosen second vice president.

Mrs. Nona Sowell was elected to a director post, succeeding Wayne Brubacher, who has moved away. She will serve until December 31, 1965. Hillard Brown was elected a director to fill a vacancy on the board left by Creswick. He will serve until the end of this year.

Williamsons Move To Prairie City

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williamson and family moved Aug. 15 to Prairie City where he has been promoted to ranger in charge of the Prairie City district of the Malheur National Forest, U. S. Forest Service.

For five years Williamson was resource assistant for the Heppner ranger district.

Two new classes have been added to the rabbit show. One will be a class for "roaster" or "baker" rabbits, those that have grown beyond the fryer class. Rabbits in the new class can weigh between 4 1/2 and 7 1/2 pounds and be under 90 days old. Fryers will weigh in between 3 1/2 and 5 pounds and be under 65 days old.

Creswicks Move; New Family Here

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Creswick and family left Aug. 17 for their new home in Portland after selling their mortuary here to Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sweeney and family of Grants Pass.

The Creswicks' new address is 3866 S. E. Taylor, Apartment 5, Portland.

The Sweeney family moved in to the residence at the mortuary last Tuesday.

Creswicks stopped in Heppner Tuesday on their way back to Portland after vacationing in Washington and British Columbia.

Tim Moore and son, Bobby, ran into lots of rain on their camping trip to St. Maries, Idaho, last week. They planned to "rough it," but probably had it a little rougher than intended. They did lots of fishing but little catching. Tim was back at Tum-A-Lum Lumber Company Monday.
