Light Grain Crop, Low Prices Hurt

Morrow county's 1964 farm in-come is down 21% below 1963. County Agent Nels Anders on said in his annual report to the state extension service mailed

Contributing to this decrease was a smaller wheat crop, sold on a lower market, and a calf crop sold at from five to seven cents a pound less this year.

There were only three farm commodities produced in the county that exceeded the 1963 income—sheep, wool and truck gardening.

In submitting the figures, An-derson said, "With agriculture contributing a majority of the income in the county and pay-ing approximately 75% of the taxes, it is valuable to determine estimates of agricultural in-come from cash farm market-
