Skoubo Wins Study Grant

By MARY LEE MARLOW

BOARDMAN — Dick Skoubo, Riverside High school senior, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Skoubo, of Boardman, is one of the 17 top high school seniors from across Oregon who have been chosen as first recipients of intern-management study grants in the Oregon State University Department of Agricultural Economics.

Names of the 17 students were announced by Forrest S. Baker, director of the OSU Transportation Research, who developed and directs the program. The internships will pay from $4,000 to $5,000 during their four years of university work by bringing the classroom and business and industry into partnership. Each award will provide the first year of university tuition, plus three summers of intern training with a business firm at an intern income of $1,200 for each summer.

The present program is aimed primarily at the specialized fields of transportation and agricultural business management, but has great possibilities for other fields and departments, university officials believe.

Mailbox Week Claimed
May 17-22 is Mailbox Improvement Week, announces Flossie Coats, local postmaster.

The purpose of MIW is to call attention to the need for providing mail receptacles which are conveniently located, neat in appearance, safe to use and which protect the mail from the weather. Mailboxes that meet these requirements contribute to a more efficient delivery operation, and therefore, result in improved service to the entire route.

The boxes should be painted preferably white or silver with a bold red flag, and should be on a sturdy post, with all grass and debris cleared away.

Morrow County

CROP-WEATHER SUMMARY

(Compiled by U. S. Department of Agriculture)

For week ending May 8

Initial summer fallow operations have been completed for the most part throughout the entire county. Some fertilizing being done. Much of the winter wheat is spotty and not growing as rapidly as spring grains which in general look excellent.

Alfalfa fields have made excellent growth the past few days as weather has warmed up. Much alfalfa was set back by the cold weather of a week ago and these heavy frosts damaged much of our apples and cherries that were in bloom.

Asparagus was also hurt by the frost but will come back with a few days of warm weather such as this past week-end. Most livestock growers have finished working calves—branding, vaccinating and marking, and they have gone to spring and summer range.

Sheep shearing is complete. We need rain quite badly to wet top soil. Deep moisture is good.

Grain Exports Show Increase

Some 57,000 more tons of grain were exported from the Port of Portland in April than in March.

Figures released by the Oregon Department of Agriculture show grain inspectors of the department checked 296,267 tons of grain for export at Portland in April compared with 239,217 tons in March.

Incoming grain at Portland also showed an increase in April, with the April figure 401,624 and the March total 360,393.

During April the Merrill office of the division made 33 track inspections and three truck inspections. Pendleton made 138 track inspections.

Sewing Club Meets

A meeting of the Hard Working Bees 4-H club met April 24 at the home of our leader, Mrs. Charles Williams. All members were present. The Busy Beavers were at our meeting. We finished making our shears cases, then Mrs. Williams taught us to twirl batons. Ginger Nedry served cookies and Frances Wiley served punch.

Ullman Requests Delay in Exchange of Public Lands

Congressman Al Ullman, in a letter to the Secretary of Interior, has requested a delay in the classification for exchange of public domain lands of Eastern Oregon until all proposed exchange areas are reviewed by local advisory boards.

Ullman said that the controversial Point Reyes exchange proposal involving public domain timberlands in the Port Orford area has demonstrated the need for more clearly defined policies governing all public land exchanges. Specific proposals for exchanges have not been made in the case of Eastern Oregon lands, but Ullman advised that up to 450,000 acres are scheduled for classification. He urged Secretary Udall to delay any final order "pending the establishment of certain guidelines."

The 2nd District Democrat proposed that such exchanges "must not be detrimental to the integrity of long-term management of public lands—either for sustained yield timber management or for multiple-purpose range management." He asked that BLM District Advisory Boards be consulted in advance on all proposed classifications involving lands for exchange. He also said that "adjacent landowners should get first consideration in any land trade, and that a system should be devised to resolve equities between competing applications."

He concluded by pointing to recent progress in improving and managing Eastern Oregon public lands, and advised the Secretary that trades should only be proposed where there are "mutual benefits to the local economy and to the long-range management of these lands in the public interest."

4-H Club Entertains Guests at Dinner

Bee's Busy Buddies 4-H club of Cecil held a dinner and business meeting at the home of Stanley Magill on April 27. Jane Krebs was toastmistress at the turkey dinner, prepared by mothers of club members. Marlene Magill led the flag salutes and said grace. Gary Thomas gave the welcome address, followed by a response from Mrs. Thomas. Clinton Krebs provided entertainment.

At the business meeting, Gary Thomas was elected president; Clint Krebs, vice president; Marlene Magill, secretary, and Jane Krebs, news reporter. Each club member gave a demonstration and exhibited all his finished projects. Mrs. Ewing Hynd presented the club with a beautiful set of American and 4-H flags.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Nels Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Hynd, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krebs, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Magill and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Thomas.

Department Checks Scales in County

Heavy duty scales in Gilliam and Morrow Counties are being checked this week by weights and measures inspectors of the Oregon Department of Agriculture.

Inspectors operating this equipment are Ray Fleischmann, Dick Mathis and Jack Holman.

Later this spring meter testing equipment of the department will check petroleum meters at plants and on trucks and liquid petroleum gas liquid meters in the two counties.
