Shower of Dahlias Helps Replace Loss

Mr. and Mrs. William Rawlins were pleasantly surprised with a "dahlia root shower" at their home in the Eightmile area on Sunday, May 2, when a large group of friends gathered. The party was planned by the Lone Garden club with the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Huston.

The dahlias were to replace the prize collection of over 125 different varieties, which the Rawlins lost in the December freeze.

Since May 1 was also Mr. Rawlin's birthday, Mr. and Mrs. Huston presented them with a garden cart, into which guests had placed their dahlias. Mrs. F. T. Martin also presented them with a money tree with which to purchase more dahlias.

A lace covered tea table was attractive with a centerpiece of yellow tulips, lilacs, and daffodils arranged by Mrs. Omar Rietmann. Several Garden Club members brought cakes and Mrs. Ralph Crum brought one specially decorated for the occasion. Mrs. Martin poured coffee, tea, and punch, and Mrs. Crum served the cake.

Special guests present were Mrs. Rawlin's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ben I. Phillips of Vancouver, Wn., and another aunt, Mrs. Eula Rix of Orchard, Wn. Other guests were present from Heppner and Lone.

Cinderella Fairyland Setting For Junior-Senior Events

The storybook splendor of "Cinderella" was evident with the lavish preparations for the annual banquet and prom, honoring the Heppner High school class of 1965, in the school's multipurpose room April 28 and May 1. The same theme was carried out in decorations at both banquet and prom.

Sophomore girls, serving as waitresses, stepped from pages of the Cinderella story, dressed in brown jumpers with pink blouses, to serve their subjects. Large foil "cinderella" slippers, filled with flowers and greenery, surrounded by pink and white angel hair, centered the attractive tables. Pink and white candles, entwined with flowers and angel hair, centered with attractive gold slipper nut cups placed for each guest. Mothers of the junior class students prepared the roast beef dinner.

With Mark Brown serving as toastmaster, introductions included Brenda Young, junior class president, who gave an address of welcome to the seniors. Doug Anderson responded to the welcome with a brief talk. Humorous after dinner speeches were given by Judy Jones and Sheridan Wynan, and a special musical number was presented by Carol Miller, band instructor of Lone, playing a trumpet solo. Leonard Toll entertained with some vocal numbers, accompanied by his electric guitar.

Chairman of the banquet decorating committee was Brenda Young, assisted by Karen French, Leslie Meador, Karla Luciani, Theresa Munkers and Diane Schaffitz. Jean Healy served as chairman of the food committee, with Susan Drake, Maureen Doherty and David Clark, assisting. With Sheridan Wynan as chairman, the entertainment committee consisted of Gayle Batty, Barbara Gribble and Theresa Monahan, and in charge of waitresses was Karla Luciani, helped by Erna Winchester, Theresa Munkers, Ginger Majeske, Shirley Erwin and Sandy McDonald.

The seniors were again feted by the junior class Saturday, May 1, at the formal prom. Couples danced to the music of The Shanteles of Kennewick, in the magical ballroom atmosphere of the Cinderella story. Lavish figures of the famous characters, Cinderella, her prince, mother and sisters, complete with coach and horses, were placed before large outdoor mural backgrounds of colonial colonnades and windows.

At the magical hour, a royal court was announced to reign over the festivities. Crowned as queen was Barbara Blake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blake, now of Monmouth, and chosen as king was Lee Daggett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Daggett. Completing the court were Princess Tamara Smith and Prince Doug Anderson.

The hours of art work were under the direction of Erna Lynn Winchester. She was assisted by Maureen Doherty, Mike Pierce, Mark Murray, Gayle Batty, Jean Healy and Shirley Erwin.

Refreshments of punch and fancy cookies were served under the direction of Susan Drake, chairman, along with Joan Stockard, Diane Schaffitz, Judy Jones, Janice Baker and Karen French.

Chairman of the music committee was Gene Heliker, a n-1 obtaining chaperones were Mark Murray and Tim Driscoll.

After the prom, Mr. and Mrs. Dave McLeod opened their home to seniors and their dates and served an early morning breakfast.
