ALL WATER USERS

Of Willow and Rhea Creeks and Tributaries

Due to the drouth period during the season, we have a critical domestic and stock water problem in the lower part of the county. These hold precedence over use for irrigation.

Please remove all diversions and pumps so that water may flow more freely to needed users below.

Deputy Dwight Townsend will be making periodical checks to observe stream flow and consumption.

All cooperation will be greatly appreciated. If rules are not observed, more rigid action will have to be taken. This covers District 5 which includes Morrow and Umatilla counties.

This program will hold until more extensive rains or until further notice. At this time, however, this does not include new seedings.

GOING, GOING!

Very much a going industry around Ontario, Oregon, is the buying and selling of livestock. One of the commission companies operating livestock auctions here is ranked among the top ten in the nation. Last year the dollar volume of such sales approximated $12,500,000, involving 106,000 head of cattle, 5,000 hogs and 17,000 sheep. Weekly sales attract buyers and sellers from all over the West, and special sales often feature animals of a particular class, and occasionally livestock from a particular area.

In many transactions in this busy market readily available bank credit is a primary consideration, and the people of First National are on hand to make this possible. The First National branch manager shown here with the commission company manager is experienced and informed when it comes to the livestock business. He is able to bring First National know-how and resources to bear on any phase of business management. He is a part of the community he serves, and like all First National people, he knows how business is done in his area. In Ontario, and in all of Oregon, First National is people, serving the banking needs of other Oregon people.

Heppner Branch Manager John Venard and his staff have a total of 100 years experience in banking. They know people and conditions in the Heppner area. Consult these hometown people for every banking need.
