

Merchants and Board Buy Fair, Rodeo Decorations

Heppner's downtown district is taking a gala atmosphere as a result of the decorations going up for fair and rodeo season. Merchants and the fair board have joined to purchase decorations that not only festoon the streets but adorn individual business houses as well.

The fair board contributed $500, the cost of 16 streamers for the streets. Three of these have flags bearing the rodeo dates, and two of them are placed at entrances to town.

The thirteen others have designs for either the fair or rodeo.

Businesses have purchased their own decorations, and virtually all businesses in town responded when a Chamber of Commerce committee called on them, Randall Peterson, president, said.

Each store has the responsibility of putting up and caring for its own decorations, he said, but a number of businesses have said that they would like to hire the work done. This would seem like a good opportunity for youths or some youth organization. Any interested are invited to contact merchants where decorations are not already on display.

The merchants' decorations cost about another $500, making the total in decorations some $1000. Since these will be retained from year to year, it is figured that it will prove to be considerably less expensive than contracting with a firm to install decorations each year.

Work of hanging the decorations was done by Columbia Basin Electric Co-op, and Peterson emphasized that this help is very much appreciated.

Decorations were obtained through the fair board and Chamber of Commerce for the merchants at cost, Peterson said.

Clair Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cox, is visiting with his parents this week from Corvallis. He operates Clair Cox Realty there.

Teams Practice For East-West Game August 21

The Pendleton Round-Up stadium on the evening of August 21 will be the scene of the 14th annual Shrine All Star East-West football classic between outstanding 1965 Oregon high school team graduates from A-2 and B schools located east and west of the Cascades.

The game is sponsored annually by the Shrine clubs of Eastern Oregon for the benefit of the Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital at Portland, to which cause the game is dedicated.

On August 8, both teams reported for training. The East team is quartered at La Grande and the West team conducted its drills at Pendleton. Both East Team Head Coach Arnold Lewis of Vale and his assistant, Milt Durand of Umatilla, have coached in previous East-West contests but make no claim that their combined experience will give the East any edge this year.

According to the record, the West has been the victor in the last two tries and West's head coach, Jim Porter of Hood River, and his assistant, Charles Halstead of Oakland, declare that they are going to try their best to make it three wins in a row.

Both coaching staffs are encouraged by prospects of coach weather in Eastern Oregon, and intensive drill sessions should get under way without a hitch the day following the reporting date.

QUEEN SHARON VORUZ, daughter of Mrs. Dortha Voruz of La Grande, will reign over the Shrine East-West football game at Pendleton on Saturday night, August 21.

Queen Judy's Coronation Due

Heppner rodeos when five years old, winning many ribbons in fair and horse shows. She has been active in the lone 4-H Saddle Horse club, serving as president for two years and as a junior leader.

In 4-H fair competition, she has won reserve champion horsemanship and grand champion showmanship ribbons and in 1963 won grand champion horsemanship, all at the county fair, and received a second in competition at the State Fair that year.

Judy was an active and popular student at lone high school. Her favorite hobbies, besides riding, have included reading and dancing. She was Sweetheart Princess for her school in 1961; was Homecoming Princess in 1963 and was Prom Queen in 1964. She held several high school offices, including class vice president two years; class secretary-treasurer; class reporter; annual editor two years; assistant paper editor; student council three years; vice president and president of Girls' League; cheerleader and majorette two years.

ton Implement but none was broken. Sheriff Bauman said that there are few clues to go on in attempting to solve the case, since no fingerprints were found and no other evidence left.

Thoughts for THINKERS

Sunday is the traditional Sabbath," it has been declared. And this is truth.

"The seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God," the Bible says. And this is truth.

What do these two statements mean?

For centuries the Christian church has marked the first day of the week as a day of rest. The church does not profess that it is the Sabbath of the commandment. Rather, the first day has been observed in memory of the resurrection of Christ, who was crucified on Friday, the "day of preparation" according to ancient Jewish custom, rested in the tomb on the seventh, or Sabbath day, and rose a victorious conqueror over death on the first day of the week, or Sunday.

And this first day, this new sabbath named by man, has become the heart of the Christian religion. Yet it has no foundation in the Bible, without which there would be no Christian religion. Sunday observance is based entirely on tradition!

Is there danger that Christ's words, found in Mark 7:9, might apply to Christians today? "Full well, ... reject the commandment of God, that ye may keep your own tradition." Or in Mark 7:7: "In vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men."

Mothers of Two Taken by Death

Mothers of Mrs. Kenneth (Ruby) Moser, owner of the Wagon Wheel Cafe, and Mrs. Lillian (Tillie) Ellison, who works at the cafe, died within a space of 18 days and each of the women left to attend funeral services.

Mrs. Vina Mattox, mother of Mrs. Moser, died in Oklahoma City, Okla., on July 14 and funeral services for her were July 16. Mrs. Moser flew there from Portland and just recently returned to Heppner.

Mrs. Sophia Thieman, 75, mother of Mrs. Ellison, died Sunday, August 1, in a Pendleton hospital, and funeral services for her were in Hermiston last Thursday at Burns mortuary. Mrs. Ellison returned here Monday night.

Each of the mothers had been ill for about a year. This was the second death in the family for Mrs. Moser in two months. Death of her brother occurred in Oklahoma City in June, and she also went back at that time for his funeral.
