Exhibits which will go to the state fair are: Foods II—Elizabeth Abrams, Kathleen Ayers, Melinda Leoniz, and Shelley Wolff, all of Heppner. Foods III—Frances Abrams, Sandra Flaiz and Kathleen Sweeney, all of Heppner.

Young winners in horse judging contest Tuesday were George Kenney, Irrigon; Eddy Shuening, Irrigon; Barbara Bloodworth, Heppner; and Frances Abrams, Heppner. Thirty-six entered the contest.

Thirty-two competed in 4-H livestock judging with the following winners: Sue Greenup, Heppner, first; Theresa Harshman, Heppner, second; Jeanne Day, Heppner, third; and Tom Rawlins, fourth.

The 4-H Dress Revue brought out a big audience at the Catholic Parish hall Wednesday night and used the theme of "Mary Poppins". Results of the show will be printed next week.

Tonight (Thursday) is a big night at the fair with the 4-H pig scramble, the livestock auction, and the Rhea Creek Grange dinner on the bill of fare. Events will come to a close Friday and exhibits will be released.

Rodeo to Bring Full Three Days Of Big Events

saddle offered to the winner. Kinzua has donated a fine saddle each year for many years.

Local interest will be keen, too, in the Morrow county all-around with revolving trophy and $50 cash prize offered by the Orville Cutsforth family. Many other fine trophies are listed for various events.

Everything that goes to make an outstanding rodeo is included on the program for the three shows—bareback riding, calf roping, bronc riding, bulldogging, races of all kinds, team roping, bull riding, wild cow milking, wild cow riding, and barrel racing.

Court Adds Glamour

Adding glamour to the rodeo will be Queen Judy Sherer and her court, Princesses Susan McCoy, Ginger Majeske, Karla Luciano and Erna Winchester. The girls have captured the hearts of crowds at other rodeos and events they have visited during the summer, and their reign and performance here will climax a busy summer for them.

Fun at the rodeo will be supplied by hilarious Eric Muehlisen, the clown, of Enumclaw, Washington.

Howard Johnson's rodeo stock will be used in the shows, and Les Kelley of Roosevelt, Wn., will be one of the judges. Virgil Chapman of Irrigon will be flagman, Joe Daley of ePndleton will be announcer.

Many Help Out

It takes a big crew to present a rodeo, and a few who will help have been announced as follows: Elmer Schmidt and many Chamber of Commerce members on ticket taking; Herman Green, Gene Pierce, Tim Moore and George Currin, working in the chutes; Gail McCarty and Dick Struckmeier, untying calves; Art Vance, to open gates; Paul Hsler and Everett Struckmeier, to run stock from the arena; Bill Healy and Eddie Doherty at the bucking chutes; Lyle Cox and Jerry Rood, police; Mark Samples, carpenter work; Mrs. Jack Locke and Mrs. Howard Johnson, assisting Rodeo Secretary Locke; and Junior Chamber of Commerce, working with Little League boys on selling programs.

Many others, not yet announced, will be helping.

The rodeo board has held regular meetings throughout the year to prepare plans for the big week-end. Besides Chairman Miller, who has devoted much time and effort to the rodeo, the board includes Charles Daly, vice chairman, Jerry Dougherty, Raymond French, Roicie Fullerton, Don Greenup, Archie Munkers, Elmer Schmidt, Wes Sherman and Bob Steagall. Each has been in charge of specific parts of the preparation and staging of the rodeo.

Concessions Improved

A new concessions stand has been built near the buckaroo stand to provide refreshment there, an dthe Episcopal church women have announced that they will give service on concessions in the main grandstand this year. They and the American Legion have concessions rights this year.

At the last rodeo meeting some of the rules were clarified. For three events—Morrow county registered quarterhorse race, Morrow county derby, and quarter mile open race—the owners of horses entered must have lived in the county six months and the horses must have been in ownership for 30 days.

Wrangler cow riding will be open to county residents only.
