Irrigon Council Reviews Items Of City Concern

(Held Over From Last Week)

By LAVELLE PARTLOW

IRRIGON—Mayor Chester Wilson presided over the September council meeting, with the first part of the meeting conducted by flashlight, due to an electric power outage.

City Recorder Marguerite Houghton reported a letter had been received from Judge Jones stating jurisdiction of city streets and alleys within the city limits had been officially turned over to the City of Irrigon.

Mayor Wilson said the papers had been completed for the city to acquire the Chevron service station property. The building will house the recently purchased city equipment. Wilson also reported he had had a telephone call from Pacific NW Bell Telephone company, stating they were investigating the possibilities of offering a franchise to the City of Irrigon.

The council reviewed the auditor's report and voted to accept same. Discussion was held as to the possibility of widening the entrance to 11th Street south of South Main St.

Mrs. Albert Partlow and Sheryl, Mrs. Myrtle Markham and Donna Kay Pummel drove to Heppner Saturday evening to attend an Assembly of God Youth Rally. Featured speaker for the evening was rodeo cowboy Bud Godby, who had participated in the Pendleton Round-Up. Godby will return to this area in October and speak in several churches in the area. He will be in Irrigon Saturday evening, October 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jorgensen attended a Justice of the Peace Conference at Madras last Thursday and Friday. Kenneth Johnson, deputy state treasurer, Farley Morgan, Oregon State Police Chief, and Vern Hill, Dept. of Motor Vehicles, were among the several guest speakers. 4-H CLUBS SHOW YOUTH WAYS TO BECOME LEADERS

In 4-H there is a leadership program that last year attracted a record enrollment: 206,000 boys and girls.

These young people are the citizens of tomorrow, and hundreds have already assumed leadership roles in school, church and community, observes Miss Emmie Nelson, a field representative of the National 4-H Service Committee. The next steps will lead to leadership in their chosen careers, she predicts.

At the present time nearly 140,000 junior leaders are working with volunteer adult leaders in 4-H Clubs throughout the nation.

"Leadership consists of numerous components, and is a term not easily defined," explains Miss Nelson, a former assistant state 4-H Club leader, and who in recent years has conducted leadership workshops in many states.

"Becoming a leader is largely up to you," she observes. "You must be ready to assume responsibilities and be a self-starter. Success in small undertakings will prepare you for larger responsibilities."

Among the ingredients for leadership, she notes, are enthusiasm, friendliness, tact, patience and a sense of humor. "Be adaptable," she says. "Be ready for a fishing trip or a formal dance; be able to preside at a meeting or help a younger 4-H'er correct his mistakes."

At the end of this 4-H Club year, county, state and national award winners will be named by the Extension Service. The awards will again be provided by The Sears-Roebuck Foundation, sponsor of this particular program for the last five years. Altogether, Sears has supported some phase of 4-H work for more than four decades.

Twelve junior leaders will claim $500 scholarships, 50 will receive all-expense paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago, and an estimated 10,000 will earn leadership medals.

Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, and from there to Kingsgate, East Port, Cranbrook and Ferry B. C., where they visited friends and relatives. They visited other friends and relatives in McCloud, Calgary, Edmonton and Hardesty, in Alberta. They reported driving through snow Thursday.

The Irrigon Assembly of God church honored Terry McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben McCoy, with a farewell party following the Wednesday night youth service. Terry was presented with a gift, and refreshments of cake and punch were served. Home movies and colored slides were shown for entertainment.

The Ta Wa Pit Kin Camp Fire Girls had their first meeting of the season at the home of their leader, Mrs. Elmer Zehner, Tuesday. The girls will continue to meet on Tuesdays after school, and anyone interested in joining may contact Mrs. Zehner. Ta Wa Pit Kin, translated into English, is "Sun Girls."

Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson, Dennis and Mike, attended a family reunion at Drake Park in Bend, Sunday. Forty-seven relatives, all children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Mrs. Louise Puckett were present, from all parts of Oregon.

Mrs. Ruth McCoy returned to Irrigon after spending two weeks in Long Beach, Calif., where she attended the wedding of her granddaughter, Mrs. McCoy flew from Long Beach to Portland, accompanied by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Chase McCoy, and the three drove on to Irrigon. The Chase McCoy's stayed through the week-end and took in the Pendleton Round-Up and Happy Canyon. Also with Mrs. Ruth McCoy for the week-end was another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mac McCoy of Long Beach. Mac McCoy was one of the riders in the Long Beach Mounted Police Riding Unit, in the Westward-Ho Parade. Also participating in the
