its lack of floats," he said. Referring to the many from Hermiston, Pendleton and other towns who participate in the parade he said, "The day is coming when it will be harder to say 'Why don't you bring your float over to Heppner?'"

Peterson said that Heppner needs to reciprocate by taking floats to parades in the other towns. He said that he understood the Scroptist club plans to build its float this year so that it can travel to other towns. "Individual merchants should take more interest," Peterson said.

Dr. Wallace Wolf was appointed to represent the chamber at the PTA study group meetings which are designed to work towards making Morrow county more attractive for good school teachers.

Elder Elwood Boyd, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church here for nearly four years, expects to leave with his family for Omak, Wn., about May 1.

He will be pastor of churches at Brewster and Omak, he said. There are some 130 to 140 in the church there, and the school includes 10 grades.

Elder Boyd said that he has thoroughly enjoyed living and working in Heppner and said that the ministerial association here has been one of the finest groups he has ever known. The spirit of cooperation between churches is outstanding, he said. The Boyds came to Heppner on Thanksgiving Day of 1962.

Vandals Damage Office of Rodeo

Sheriff C. J. D. Bauman is investigating damage done to the rodeo office under the buckeroo stands at the rodeo grounds. The vandalism was reported to have been done several weeks ago but was not reported to E. H. (Tad) Miller, rodeo chairman, who learned of it only Monday. He notified Sheriff Bauman.

Glass pane in the office door was smashed and another window in a sliding metal frame was also broken out. Fluorescent light tubes in an inner room of the office were smashed on a table. Broken bottles and other debris were scattered in the office.

Miller said he was advised Monday that the damage was done during a dance at the fairgrounds some three weeks ago. The office was built two years ago and some of the records and supplies of the rodeo committee have been stored there. With the windows broken out, the materials were left to some exposure from the weather.

March 10 at Sherry Kemp's home. We made tomato soup and Jell-O salad. We met again March 24 at the Bloodsworth home.

The sounds of the fabulous Pacific Northwest!

Come on Gang, Let's Sing the Praises of Oregon!

You think you're proud of Oregon? Wait till you listen to what Bing Crosby, Jane Powell and Mel Blanc have to say about our beloved state in an exciting new FREE record album from Pacific Northwest Bell.

These famous Oregon boosters do a mighty entertaining job of making Oregon sound like the state of excitement it really is. Bing reminisces about his Northwest boyhood and golf and fishing. Jane sounds off on the subject of Oregon's festivals. And Mel? Well, he comes on as a double-voiced travel consultant trying to find out why people love to visit our state. What's the record for? Mainly, just for the fun of it—pleasant listening for any loyal Oregon son or daughter. But after you've heard it, why not send it along to an out-of-state friend or relative? It's the nicest possible way to invite them out for an Oregon visit. We'll include a new Tourist Map of Oregon, packed with authoritative and up-to-date information on Oregon's outdoor recreational opportunities. All this, plus an unabashed plug for the Northwest entitled, "It's a Great Place to Visit, But I'd Rather Live Here," by nationally known author, Murray Morgan.

Why does Pacific Northwest Bell keep inviting tourists to our state? Well, we're-home folks too, you know, and we like to show off the Northwest. (Yes—and tourist dollars help Oregon grow and prosper.)

So come on, Join Bing, Jane and Mel—and sing the praises of Oregon. On the down beat... one and, two and...
