ed at the meeting. This is a portion that is not being used for school purposes.

At the request of the Corps of Engineers the board reaffirmed its approval of the Equal Employment Opportunity Act which will require the contractor for Riverside High school not to discriminate in hiring workers in construction of the school building.

Joe Hausler was hired to manage the lone pool for the coming summer.

Bob Clough, who recently was named athletic director at Heppner High, was chosen for this position for the year 1966-67.

Calendar Approved

A school calendar for the coming year was approved. First day of school will be September 6. Thanksgiving vacation will be November 24 and 25. Christmas vacation starting at 1:30 p.m. December 23 and continuing through January 1, and spring vacation from March 13-17. Last day of school will be June 2, 1967.

School will also be dismissed for Pendleton Round-Up on September 16, for Veterans Day November 11, and for Memorial Day, May 30. There will be 178 student days in the year and 184 teacher days.

To Enter Hospital

Supt. Potter reported that he will enter the hospital April 27 for continued treatment on a kidney ailment for which he was hospitalized recently. The board appointed Ron Daniels of Riverside High to act as superintendent in his absence.

Proposed field trips were discussed. Two biology trips scheduled for April 15-17 were found to be somewhat in conflict with a state speech tournament which will take 14 students. It was decided to combine the biology trips, outlined by Kirk Horn, instructor. The trip will take students to the Malheur wildlife refuge, going to Burns and Frenchglen. Students will work in ornithology, entomology, botany and related fields on the trip.

They will take part in a seminar with a ranger naturalist at uled to get underway at 2 p.m. Included will be a trophy dash, a heat race, and the main event.

Donald Peck, brother of Bud Peck of Heppner operates the track, as he has for three years. He has installed an asphalt oval of one-quarter mile, and interest in the sport has been gaining considerably.

Races are held every two weeks through the spring and summer with the fields including stock cars, jalopies and hardtops.

Robison, who has lived here all his life and is a graduate of Heppner High school, is keenly interested in sports and was a high school athlete. In his first experience racing last year at Pilot Rock, he got the "bug" and will go into it more intensively this year with his "Dimico". He didn't win any races in his first season but expects to do better with the new rig.

In trial runs at the speedway recently, Dick was pleased with the performance of his hardtop and came up with some 15 second laps which he felt was satisfactory for a starter.

Peck is working hard at Pilot Rock to provide excellent racing programs and has a considerable investment in his venture. He is hoping that more from this area will drive over to see the racers in action and promises top and exciting action on his programs.

Jone's advisory board recommended to the directors that the state legislature be asked to change provisions in the law and order to put the advisory committees in Morrow counties on the same footing as others in the state.

Directors Note Increased Use Of Ski Course

Increased use of the ski course at Arbutuck Mountain was noted by directors of the Arbutuck Mountain Corporation at the annual meeting of stockholders in the old city library Monday night.

During the season, a total of 1077 persons came to the hill, 855 of them being skiers, it was reported by Bob Henry, who managed the operation.

Total receipts from operation of the facility were $828, and the course met current expenses from this revenue.

Henry recommended that price of season tickets be raised to $75 per season and that a longer season be promoted. He said that town must be rebuilt, although only one breakdown was encountered during the past season. The bus which carried skiers to the hill on a route from Condon, lone and Heppner "definitely should be continued," Henry said.

He commended Avery Taylor for coming every Sunday with tools, equipment and "know-how"; Loren Lucore of the U. S. Forest Service for "giving us every possible break"; Elwood Boyd for handling the ski patrol; Don Wise for wiring and "keeping us going"; Bill Flatt for furnishing buses on a non-profit basis; Tim Tullis for making Saturday bus operations feasible by teaching "a lot of kids how to ski"; and to Gerald Bunch and Bob Jensen, who helped with instruction. Henry also thanked business people who signed a note at the start of the season to provide funds for the operation.

Many plans and ideas were discussed at the meeting with Kent Peck, president, in charge. He said that a Pomalift is available from the Mt. Hood area for $7000, and the group discussed ways and means that it might be obtained.

Pros and cons of clearing more area for ski courses were discussed.

Peck said that he felt clearing more trees might hasten snow melt and cut the length of the ski season.

Lucore said that it will be necessary for the operators to clean up tree and slash that have been cleared and pushed back.

The meeting found the stockholders still groping for means to finance a more attractive operation for skiers but happy with operation of the course under Henry's management on a "shoestring" during the past season to keep the project alive. feeling was expressed that with recreational development in the area, the ski course will become a going venture in ensuing years.

Four directors were reelected, including W. C. Rosewall and Ed Dick, two year terms; Peck and Wes Sherman, one year terms. Avery Taylor was elected as a new director for a two year term, succeeding Herman Winter, who said that press of business keeps him from serving longer.

Henry said that he could not manage the hill another year because of need to devote more attention to his work. Peck, who previously managed the course, indicated that he may be willing to resume.

Peck was reelected president, Rosewall vice president, and secretary-treasurer position will be filled at a later date.

Cancer Crusade Starting Here

"Tell Your Neighbors" is the major theme of the American Cancer Society's 1966 Crusade which is now beginning in Morrow county.

"The many ladies who will volunteer their services under direction of a 'team captain' will be communicators of hope rather than salesmen of fear," states the Rev. Kenneth Robinson, chairman. "It is hope, not fear, that make people take personal action against cancer."

"The purpose of the annual 'Crusade of the Society,' he said, 'is not just to raise money to advance cancer control for cancer research, education and service. It is to help save thousands of additional lives now.'"

During the next several weeks volunteers will go from house to house to speak about cancer, giving literature on the seven danger signals, and receiving donations to further the research in cancer.

In 1965 Morrow county residents gave a total of $1366 to the Cancer Society.

"It is hoped that in 1966 we can go over the top and do even better," said Chairman Robinson. "Welcome the volunteer who knocks on your door. The message is a life-saving one."

Zoning to Help Control Problems, Mayor Reports

Next step will be to present it to a citizens committee for study. Changes may be made any time until adoption, and after adoption it may be amended by following an established legal procedure.

A public hearing will follow the citizens committee meeting, Rosewall said, and then the city council may proceed with adoption of the ordinance.

He pointed out that zoning doesn't affect pre-existing conditions. Orville Cutsforth reported on work of the county parks committee at the meeting, saying, "This park thing is getting pretty big over the county."

He said the county must move soon in order to qualify for matching money that could be used for parks and said that "in the future we will have to have more money from some source."

A bridge is to be built soon at Anson Wright memorial park on Rock Creek, and trailer spaces with sewer, water and electrical connections are being planned for Cutsforth park, he said. Fees will be charged to help pay costs.

"The future of this town lies in recreation," the parks committee chairman said. "We are sitting in a fine position on recreation."

He again urged study of a proposed wild area from Cutsforth park to Arbutuck Mountain, and he discussed possibilities of an impoundment to provide for diversion of Ditch Creek water to Willow Creek. Cutsforth said that one of the sites under consideration might not be feasible because of the type of soil. However, he said that it could well be located a mile farther down. This might prevent the diversion of the water by natural flow, but Harley Young, Chamber president, suggested that perhaps it could be pumped from this site.

In describing plans for the proposed dam, Cutsforth said it would be 32 feet high and the 10 feet on top might be used for the water diversion with the remaining 20 feet providing for the fish impoundment.

State President Speaks to Jaycees At Meeting Here

Mel Campbell of Eugene, president of the Oregon Junior Chamber of Commerce, spoke on history of the Jaycees at an orientation meeting of the Morrow county Jaycees here Wednesday evening, April 6.

Campbell also touched on the present and went into detail concerning future of the organization.

Mayor W. C. Rosewall and Harley Young, Chamber of Commerce president, were honored local guests attending. They pledged their full support to the Jaycees for the betterment of the community and the county.

Campbell stressed the fact that building membership is the first and most important project facing the local organization. Clubs with 25 members or less tend to have a great deal of trouble surviving due to constant turnover and the fact that a small membership does not have the creative power that is needed, he said. Manpower to carry out the type of community projects that are essential for Jaycee and community growth are also lacking in clubs of small membership.

Second most important project, the state president said, is to select the correct community project to work on. The project must be one that will hold the interest of the members and one that is definitely needed for the community.
