Special Holy Week Services Set by Churches

Christian churches of Lexington and Heppner plan two special significant programs during the coming Holy Week, according to Al Boschee, minister of the two churches.

There will be a dinner for members of both churches at 6 p.m. in the Heppner church dining room Tuesday, March 21. At the dinner Bob Mulkey, assistant director of development at Northwest Christian College will present a talk on the work of the school and on a new approach to Christian estate planning.

On Thursday, March 23, there will be a candlelight communion at the Lexington Christian church. Combined choirs of the Heppner and Lexington Christian churches, under the direction of Mrs. Fred Hoskins, will present sacred music complementing scriptural and devotional readings. This service begins at 7:30 p.m. and the public is invited to attend.

Death of Father Calls Mrs. Johnson

Mrs. Bill Johnson left by airplane from Pendleton Sunday for Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., after being notified Saturday of the death there of her father, Charles Eugene Hughes, Sr. He had been in the hospital for about a week and his condition became grave Friday. Mr. Hughes had suffered a heart attack in the summer of 1966 and Mrs. Johnson went back there at that time. He had been feeling much better in recent months, however, and his death came unexpectedly.

Memorial services were held at Ft. Lauderdale Sunday, and funeral services were Wednesday in Gadsden, Okla., where he had lived for years. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes moved to Ft. Lauderdale about 10 years ago.

Mrs. Johnson expects to spend some time with her mother at Ft. Lauderdale, and the time that she will return to Heppner is not definite.

Local health departments and private physicians recommend protection for babies soon after birth against infectious and contagious diseases for which vaccines are available.
