

THEY HAVE little ones, big ones and middle-sized ones!" So exclaims Harlan McCurdy, Jr., as he shops in Gardner's Men's Wear for coveralls to use in home improvement work. The store has a complete stock of all kinds of work clothes to satisfy the most discriminating do-it-yourselfer, as well as the pros in the contracting and crafts fields. (G-T Photo)

CLOCKS in a variety of styles and designs add to the decor of a modern home and can enhance any room. Here Mrs. Dean (Shirley) Connor at Peterson's Jewelers displays a new "perpetual motion" clock (right) and a French-type antique clock. The perpetual motion clock operates on a temperature-change principle. Randall Peterson, jeweler, will give a demonstration to anyone interested. His store handles a wide variety of clocks, suitable for any purpose. (G-T Photo)

Picture Display Hints Given

A wide blank wall space over a couch or sofa is ideal for a framed picture—or a group of pictures. But an expanse of wall can pose a picture hanging problem that requires careful study before the first nail goes into the wall.

According to the Picture and Frame Institute, if a single picture is to be hung, it must be large enough to command attention, and it should be hung decoratively in relation to the surrounding furniture. By all means, avoid the postage stamp look that comes from hanging one tiny picture in the center of a large wall space.

When grouping several pictures over a sofa follow these guidelines:

—Start with one important picture, the "key" picture, and build your arrangement around it. The key picture may be hung in the middle, top, or bottom of the group.

—Arrange and rearrange your secondary pictures around the key picture until the effect is pleasing. Keep the pictures somewhat close together to give the grouping a feeling of unity.

—The bottom line of the grouping should be even and the pictures arranged so that the eye travels easily from one to the next.

—The grouping should be six to eight inches above the sofa so that a seated person's head will not touch the bottom of the frames.

The grouping of pictures can be laid out on the floor and studied for a better idea of how it should be placed on the wall. Once the pictures are hung carefully in place, the time and study will be rewarded by a balanced coherence and the added warmth and color that framed pictures and mirrors bring to your home.

Never Leave Children Home Alone

As Spring Clean-Up Week left at home alone, for ev- rolls around again, the American Insurance Association reminds that little children, as a fire safety measure, should never be en a minute. Last year 12,100 persons lost their lives in fires, and more than 2,000 of these were children.
