Many New Laws Benefit State

Legislative adjournment, unfortunately, always leaves some public questions unanswered, whether for reasons practical or political.

As for laws passed or failed this session, continuing speculation no doubt will continue to be heard from two sides. Although casualties often produced the biggest headlines, many bills passed by the record-length 1967 session will emerge in final summation as major victories for the future of Oregon.

Most disappointing to many here were Senate unacceptance of time-consuming proposals to let voters decide on a revised Oregon Constitution and whether we want a sales tax to raise property tax relief money. Last week's Senate defeat of single-member subdistricting also was a blow to many who would carry the "one-man vote" concept down to the level of head-on races for all legislative seats.

Many legislators and their constituents wish the session had resulted in more laws to improve highway and motor vehicle safety—although they did gain approval of a major bill providing for periodic driver's license re-examination. And, in final weeks, falling state revenue expectations necessitated cutting many budgets deemed worthy by responsible supporters.

But look at the successes: Largely because of what is generally regarded to have been outstanding Senate committee leadership, every major air and water quality bill introduced this session passed both houses. Legislators are satisfied that, in this area of great public concern, they have met all goals they set for themselves in January.

Because of these bills' passage, Oregonians can look forward to cleaner air and water in the near future. Reasons are many: creation of regional air quality districts to deal with problems geographically and qualify for federal aid, re-structuring of the State Sanitary Authority and giving it more power to crack down on water polluters, planned phase-out of wigwag burners and restrictions on field burning, new forest fire protection laws, giant strides in development of municipal sewage treatment plants, incentives to spur industries to take immediate cleanup action, etc.

Numerous streamlining changes have come about in election and candidacy laws, as noted in past columns. Improvements are due in many licensing requirements and exemptions, and in several instances of meat, food and beverage products sold for home consumption.

Other measures passed late in the session will raise benefits for unemployed Oregonians and create lower unemployment tax rates for employers with good job-providing records, raise the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour for some 10,000 workers not covered under federal law, and esablish a new benefit schedule for on-the-job accidents. Oregon is joining 43 other states for industrial development attraction through passage of a bill allowing port districts to develop land and buildings, without public bidding, and in turn lease or sell facilities to industry.

Most observers here agree that, all in all, it has been a profitable—if long—session resulting in concrete benefits for nearly all segments of the state's society. Whether the efforts of those responsible for successes will be appreciated fully is something only the months ahead will tell, but there is a feeling of confidence here in accomplishments expected to stand the test of time.

Nonda Clark Gets Grange Insurance $500 Scholarship

Grange Insurance Association of Seattle, has awarded its 1967 first-place B. L. Barnard Memorial Scholarship in the amount of $500 to Miss Nonda Leona Clark of Heppner.

Miss Clark, in addition to maintaining high scholarship standards, has been particularly active in 4-H and in many school activities, doing especially fine work in speech and drama. She is a member of the Rhea Creek Grange, of which her parents are long-time members. Nonda has been accepted at Linfield College, where she will major in speech or in physiotherapy.

Nonda is one of eight young people who will be aided by GIA in continuing their education this fall at colleges of their choice. They were selected from the 108 applicants who turned in completed applications from the seven western states in which the Association does business. Of GIA's other scholarship winners, five are from Washington, one from Montana, and one from Idaho.

In case Nonda is unable to use the scholarship, it will be given to Bruce Lamm, of Camas Valley, who is the named alternate. Bruce is a member of Camas Valley Grange 521, and was graduated from the Camas Valley High school this spring. He has been active in Grange, church, and school activities. He hopes to go on to Southern Oregon College in the fall.

These scholarships are awarded annually from the proceeds of GIA's Improvement Fund. Winners of the scholarships are selected on the basis of scholastic ability, character, need, and purpose. Applicants for scholarships must be Grange members or have parents who are Grange members.

Gribbles Enjoy Festival Parade

Mrs. Lowell Gribble and Barbara were in Portland and Salem over the past week-end while Barbara took part in the Rose Festival Parade as one of the Arlington rodeo court.

Arlington's court, in attractive outfits of hot pink and fuchsia, took second place in their class in the parade. Barbara reported a wonderful day riding in the parade and especially found it fun to identify Morrow County people among the crowds gathered to watch.

First person she saw was Mrs. Earl Gilliam, a good friend from Heppner, sitting on a portable chair she had brought along. She saw Mrs. Gilliam later and then after the parade met her again at the Mallory Hotel.

Other Morrow county people she sighted were the Fullertons, Ray Franches, and Theresa Moran, all of Heppner; the Lindstroms and Bob Davidsons, all of Ione.

Following the parade, Mrs. Gribble and Barbara enjoyed visiting the Rose Festival Fleet and seeing "The Sound of Music in Portland. They went on Sunday to visit with Mrs. Gribble's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mills, in Salem. Before returning home Monday, they toured the facilities of the Merritt-Davis Business School.

Boardman Sailor On 'Constellation'

Aviation Electronics Technician First Class James H. Jones, USN, son of Mrs. Donald H. Baker of Boardman, visited Hawaii recently as a member of Attack Squadron 46 aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Constellation, enroute to the Western Pacific.

His squadron, known as the "Blue Diamonds," is no stranger to the Pacific waters. In 1966, this squadron, then aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ranger, conducted a highly successful cruise and returned to the U. S. as one of the most highly decorated squadrons in the fleet.

The carrier Constellation is one of the world's largest warships and was commissioned on October 27, 1961.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID POTTER were among guests of honor at a luncheon sponsored by Heppner elementary teachers at the Wagon Wheel cafe last Tuesday afternoon. The event was for teachers leaving the elementary school this year and for the Potters. (G-T Photo).

Informal Luncheon Honors Teachers Leaving Heppner

An informal luncheon at the Wagon Wheel Cafe on Tuesday, June 6, complimented Supt. and Mrs. David Potter and teachers who are leaving the Heppner Elementary school this year.

The departing teachers were guests of the other teachers on the Heppner Elementary faculty. Supt. Potter has resigned effective August 1, and Mrs. Potter has served as a teacher in the elementary school.

The event was informal and there was no program, although Principal Al Martin gave a short talk of farewell and Supt. Potter responded with a few words. Mrs. Jessie Faye Morris was in charge of arrangements for the luncheon and most of the elementary faculty was present.

Flood Souvenirs Available at Paper

Souvenir sheets of the Heppner flood, bearing a facsimile of the front page of the Heppner Gazette of June 18, 1963, proclaiming, "Days of Sorrow in Heppner," and six clear pictures of the flood on the back are available now at the Gazette-Times office at 25c each.

These are printed on good quality book paper, approximately 12x20 inches. An earlier printing of the souvenirs was sponsored by the Wagon Wheel and were distributed with the compliments of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Leonnig. Their supply of 1000 was soon exhausted by the demand.

Since then, there have been so many calls for copies that the Gazette-Times has arranged to buy the engraving from the Leonnigs and has printed an additional supply. Because of the size of the sheet, it would be difficult to send them by mailing without folding. However, if there is sufficient demand for mail orders, the paper may obtain a supply of cardboard mailing tubes and arrange to mail them at additional charge to cover the cost of the mailing.

Varied Summer Activities Keep Teachers Busy

Heppner High school teachers have made a variety of plans for this summer, according to Mrs. Gail McCarty, office secretary, who took time out to list them for the Gazette-Times.

A number of teachers will be involved in school work for the county district on a local level. These include Elmer Weitzel, who will teach summer school; Mrs. Madge Thomson, supervising library work and open hours at the library; Hal Whitaker, going with FFA students to various livestock shows; Mrs. Vi Lanham, and Dick Carpenter, principal, who will keep busy with office duties.

Others will be working or catching up on home activities in Heppner. These include Mrs. Doris Brossnan, Adrian Cook, Bob Clough, Mrs. Ann Hilderbrand and Mrs. Leona Winters.

Attending school during the summer will be Gary Thompson, at the University of Washington; Miss Terry Linecum, at the University of Oregon; Mrs. Rachel Dick, at Oregon State University, and Ed Hemstra, at Portland State College.

Biology teacher Kirk Horn will be working for the U. S. Forest service near Yachats, Ore.

ALWAYS A WELCOMED GIFT—A gift subscription to the Gazette-Times. Only $4.50 per year anywhere, with gift certificate. 47fx

Grange Plans Dinner

Rhea Creek Grange members and their families will meet at the grange hall Friday evening, June 16. A potluck dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., with entertainment following. Original plans to honor Dr. Francis Nickerson of Eugene at the meeting were cancelled, as he has found it impossible to attend, due to other commitments.

Adding machine tape, 25c roll, Phone 676-9228

Martin to Attend Summer Session

Principal Al Martin of Heppner Elementary school will attend the summer session at Portland State College beginning Tuesday, June 20, to take graduate work. He will leave Heppner on Monday.

The Martin family will remain in Heppner during the summer and he will return on week-ends throughout the session.

Alfred Lovgren Wins 'Who's Who'

Alfred Lovgren of Heppner wins $30 this week for correctly naming Charles O'Connor of Ione in the Who's Who Contest and listing all the clues in advertisements in last week's paper.

His name was drawn from a boxful of potential other winners Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Elaine George, who acted as judge.

Clues that he listed correctly included: 16 years, fishing, grain elevator, Theresa, native, hunting, Lions Club, Elks, June, A.F. & A.M., Eastern Star, Marjorie Lee and N. Main.

Entries for the contest in this paper (June 15) must be deposited in one of the entry boxes at Peterson's Jewelers, Murrys Rexall Drug, Gonty's or the Wagon Wheel before 4 p.m. Tuesday. Again the winner has the possibility of getting $30.

Groves Top Putter in Pendleton Event

Six golfers from the Willow Creek club took part in the Pendleton Open golf tournament on the Pendleton course Saturday, and Maurice Groves won a putting contest against the field. He received $12 in merchandise for his victory.

Clint McQuarrie came in with a tie for fourth in his flight (15 to 20 handicap) but lost out in a chipping contest to break the tie.

Others taking part in the tournament from here were Lowell Gribble, Joe Balfe, Harry O'Donnell and C. C. Carmichael.

Who's Who In Morrow County?

"Clues Hidden in Any Ad in This Section or in Any Ad by Merchants in This Newspaper"

- This is a family fun contest. Entries welcome from every member of the family old enough to fill out his or her own. You may submit one entry per person at any OR ALL of the Sponsoring Merchants whose ads are heavily bordered this week—but only one entry per person at any one store (more than one will disqualify all entries of that person for that week).
- Anyone may enter unless a member of your family is employed by The Gazette-Times. Sponsoring Merchants and their families and their employees and families are most welcome to enter EXCEPT during the weeks that the ad of your own store is heavily bordered in this section.
- Nothing to buy. Use any slip of paper for entry blank. DO NOT put your entry into an envelope. Not necessary to be present at the drawing to win. Not necessary to be a subscriber to The Gazette-Times to participate.
- WHO'S WHO may be anyone in Morrow County. Clues to his (or her) identity will be hidden ONLY in ads of Sponsoring Merchants (every sponsoring Merchant has a little ad in this group ad). Clues may be hidden in ANY ad of ANY name you think the WHO'S WHO Sponsoring merchant. ANYWHERE in the paper. Clues will be scattered—many ads will have no clues, while others may have as many as five. This is a contest of skill, and we intend to do our best to outfit you. We'll be delighted if you succeed in outguessing us, in spite of our best efforts!
- If by coincidence, the name of the WHO'S WHO (or other facts about him) happen to appear in news items, editorial matter, or other places in this newspaper, these will not count as clues.
- To enter, write down the WHO is. List all the clues you can find in all the ads of the Sponsoring Merchants in this issue. Don't forget your own name and address! Then, drop your entry at any Sponsoring Merchant whose ad is between the heavy borders in this group ad this issue. You may enter at all four if you wish. There are no other places where entries will be accepted—and mail entries will not be accepted. Any member of the family may bring in all entries for that family. Children under 12 must be accompanied by an adult.
- This week's contest starts when you receive this issue, and closes at 4 p.m. Tuesday of the following week. At that time, a drawing will be held. The first entry drawn that correctly identifies the WHO'S WHO will win $50. If THAT entry also lists every clue hidden in all ads of Sponsoring Merchants, a BONUS of $25 will be added. Whenever this BONUS is not won, it will be added to next week's BONUS which will continue to grow until it is won. Winning the BONUS requires a PERFECT list of clues—the exact number, and all copied exactly as in the paper (watch those capitals, etc.).
- Every possible precaution will be taken to prevent typographical errors that might be mistaken for clues, but erroneous typography CANNOT BE GUARANTEED (by anyone.) The Gazette-Times will be the judge in all questions, and their decision is final.

Family participation gives you a better chance to win the Jackpot. Your wife, husband, or some bright-eyed youngster MAY spot a clue that you miss!
Got any Perry Mason in you? ... Think YOU can outwit the contest! —Remember, you can't win if you don't enter!
