Impressive Ceremony Joins in Marriage Ginnylou Turner and Lt. Douglas Burpee

A beautiful June ceremony joined in marriage Miss Virginia Lou Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Turner, and Lt. Douglas Bruce Burpee, USMC, on Sunday afternoon, June 11, at All Saints' Episcopal church in Heppner.

Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Burpee, were in attendance from their home in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan. The candlelight double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dirk T. Rinehart at 2:00 p.m., in the presence of many relatives and friends.

Floral arrangements of long stemmed white roses and asters, combined with the stately soft blue larkspur in tall white standards, attractively carried out the bride's decor at the altar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was lovely in a distinctively styled gown of crisp dotted Swiss. Encircling the regal A-line skirt were alternate bands of Brussels lace, which also accented the oval yoke neckline and wrist length Persian sleeves. A red velvet ribbon extended to the waistline on which was placed her St. Paul's school cross. Her veil of cascading white tulle extended to a headdress of white roses and stephanotis. A bridal bouquet of white roses and stephanotis was carried over her mother's prayer book.

Attending as maid of honor was Miss Virginia Moore, Heppner. Bridesmaids were Nancy Richmond, Eugene; Nikki Schaeffer, Billings, Mont; Sandy Kiser, Osburn, Idaho; Sue Calender, Los Altos, Calif., all sorority sisters of the bride, and Anne Fenton of Portland.

Gowns of the attendants were floor length pale blue dotted Swiss, with midriff and cuffs of the elbow length sleeves banded in Venice lace. Their headdresses were halos of blue and white asters and carnations, fashioned by the bride. They carried bouquets of blue, pink and white carnations and asters, tied with wide green bows.

Lighting the tapers before the ceremony were Robbie Abrams and Jim Schaffitz.

Organist for the ceremony was Mrs. Dirk Rinehart, who played the traditional wedding numbers.

Ring bearer for his sister was Tom Turner.

Best man was Roger Burpee, Broomfield, Colo., brother of the groom. Ushers were Tim Temple, Gary Grove, both of Pendleton; Tom Fenton, Portland; Bill McCarriston, Honolulu, Donald Peel, Eugene, and Jeff Turner, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Turner chose to wear an A-line pale blue linen dress with ribbon detail on the sleeves and neckline, matching shoes and a flowered whimsy. Mrs. Burpee, mother of the groom, appeared in a lace-tiered sleeveless shift afternoon frock, with pink shoes and whimsy. The mothers wore orchid corsages.

Maternal grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Olive Adams of Portland, attended in a light blue ribbon knit ensemble, with matching accessories. Mrs. Virginia Turner, Heppner, paternal grandmother of the bride, also an honor guest, chose a blue lace afternoon dress, with matching accessories, and white miniature orchid corsage. The couple greeted their

Annual Elks Picnic Is Pleasant Outing For Lodge Families

Heppner Elks Lodge enjoyed a perfect day for the annual Elks Picnic at Cutsforth Park on Sunday, June 18, and a slight breeze made the mountain park a fine place to spend Sunday afternoon while back in the valley temperatures rose considerably higher.

A large crowd of lodge members and their families took advantage of the opportunity to partake in picnic refreshments and games in the mountains and all found suitable enjoyment.

Pre-school children had a money scramble and grade school youngsters competed in a series of races. Mothers and daughters and fathers and sons took part in an egg-throwing competition and baseball enthusiasts carried on a continuous baseball game with considerable variation in team membership during the afternoon.

Those not inclined to physical activity spent the afternoon visiting in the shade and being spectators of the contests and baseball game.

Another event for the lodge in June will be initiation on Thursday, June 22, with a stag dinner and entertainment.
