

City Speed Limit Gets Confusing, Council Discovers

or 40 mile-per-hour speeds on the approaches to town. It was decided that they would agree on a 25 mile speed through town after Chief Kolkhorst gave assurance that the police "could live with that." The state will be informed on the matter with the hope that agreement can be reached, and motorists then will know how fast they may drive in the City of Heppner without fear of being "pinched."

Carpenter Tells Plan

Dick Carpenter, Heppner High school principal, appeared before the council to explain a plan he has in mind for improving street access to the school at a minimum cost.

Currently the city has $8000 of school district money in escrow. This was budgeted by the district and turned over to the city for improvement of Morgan Street Extension, if and when the State of Oregon agreed to undertake the job on a cost-sharing program that provides for state improvement of streets which have suddenly been subject to additional heavy use.

However, since the district money was made available, the state has turned down the city on the project once, and recent information is that if such a project were now undertaken, it would cost $45,000 with the local share climbing to $20,000 instead of $8,000.

Carpenter's plan is to improve the access street that runs to the Fulton Canyon road so that it may be used as a two-way street, thereby relieving Morgan Street. He said that conferences with the county have shown that the work could be done for some $2,000. He presented the matter to the council in order to obtain the city's reaction before he presented it to the school board and pointed out that his proposal was only of his own thinking and he had not been approved by the school board.

Under his plan, Morgan street would be continued as a one-way street, and a painted stripe would designate a pedestrian walkway.

The council passed a motion to authorize refunding the $8000 to the school board but rescinded the action after discussing the possibility that the state might be willing to split the Morgan Street improvement program into a 2-year project. Mrs. George was instructed to inquire from the Highway Department about this possibility.

Meanwhile, the $8000 will remain in time certificates on deposit to the city until the school board acts.

Requests Storm Sewer

Bill Siewert brought to the council's attention a problem at the corner of Elder and Quaid streets, near where he lives. He said that considerable water collects at the intersection in the winter time, that there is no storm sewer in service there, and there are no sidewalks.

During the past six years, he has paid for gravel to be hauled in on three occasions, but it washes out each time. Siewert said that he is willing to stand cost of blacktopping a walk in front of his house but would not want to work a hardship on his neighbors. He suggested that the city consider the possibility of running a storm sewer to Hinton Creek, a distance of some 75 feet. The matter was referred to City Supt. Vic Groshens and the street committee for recommendation.

The council passed on second reading an ordinance amending Ordinance 366, relating to the method of handling variances under the zoning ordinance. It passed first reading of Ordinance 370 which provides that the salary of the mayor of the City of Heppner be established by the council instead of being fixed by Ordinance 382 at $50 per month. This permits increasing the mayor's salary to $60 per month, which was recommended by the budget committee.

A resolution was passed authorizing increase of salaries of city employees 10% to be effective July 1, 1967. This recommendation was also made by the budget committee, and provision for the increase is included in the budget.

The council passed other "housekeeping" resolutions. One authorizes paying Marion Green $50 per month for repair of parking meters instead of the former $25, and another approves a contract with the county for use of the county jail.

Attorney Abrams said that while motions on these matters had been approved previously, the actions should have been in the form of resolutions to comply with the city charter.

Building permits were granted as follows:
Larry Cook, new roof, $300;
Lynn Pearson, add 20x20 garage, $300;
Toussaint Dubuque, sheet rock living room; and Howard Bryant, install roof on patio.

Rep. Ullman Asks For New Policy In Vietnam War

Congressman Al Ullman called upon the President today to "develop plans for a systematic turnover of responsibility to the Vietnamese" following the September 3 election in South Vietnam.

"We have lived up to our commitments, now the South Vietnamese must assume the major role in achieving their own destiny," Ullman said.

Ullman, who has been in general accord with the Administration's conduct of the Vietnam war, referred to his position as "a significant departure from apparent Administration policies in the far East." The Democrat's comments were part of a newsletter distributed periodically to his constituents in Oregon's second district.

The newsletter article follows: "I'm urging the President to develop plans now for a systematic turnover of responsibility to the South Vietnamese. I am asking him to make it crystal clear to the Vietnamese that their government will have to assume firm leadership in establishing the nation's security and in developing sound political and economic foundations. The final victory in thwarting Communism aggression depends now upon their own government and their own military forces. We have reached a turning point in the war. Our military and economic effort has brought the tide of aggression to a halt and has made possible a national election. We have lived up to our commitments, now the South Vietnamese must respond by assuming the major role in achieving their own national destiny. The transition should be accompanied by a systematic de-escalation in strength by the U. S. forces. This would involve a turnover of stabilized military areas and missions to the South Vietnamese forces, while providing continued U. S. air, sea, and logistical support until a just settlement is achieved through the United Nations or direct negotiations."

2nd LT. KENNETH DAGGETT

Kenneth Daggett Gets Commission

Kenneth A. Daggett, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Daggett of Heppner, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB, Texas. Lieutenant Daggett, selected for OTS through competitive examination, is being assigned to Laughlin AFB, Texas, for pilot training.

A graduate of Heppner High school in 1962, the lieutenant earned his B. S. degree in general science in 1966 upon graduation from Oregon State University.

Lieutenant Daggett received his commission on August 21 and flew home on leave for two weeks. His parents met him in Portland and brought him to Heppner. On Tuesday, September 5, he returned to Portland Air Base from where he was to go to Laughlin AFB.

He said that he likes the Air Force very well, and is looking forward to flying jets. Lieutenant Daggett hopes to have a civilian career in flying commercial aircraft.

Airman Completes Hospital Training

Airman Apprentice Carey W. Donald, USN, son of Mrs. Ray Hampton of Box 193, Kinzua, has completed studies in hospital techniques as well as in the practice of emergency first aid and was graduated from the 14-week Hospital Corps School, Great Lakes, Ill.

The school is located at the Naval Training Center, and is designed to train both men and women of the Navy and Coast Guard. Taught by Navy nurses and senior hospital corpsmen, the curriculum covered instruction in patient care, the study of anatomy and physiology, minor surgery, the nature and prevention of communicable diseases, and the administering of medicines. In addition to attending classes, he worked with doctors and nurses at the Great Lakes Naval Hospital where he put to practical use the knowledge he gained in the classroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Padberg returned last Tuesday from a 10-day vacation trip which took them to Nevada and California. After enjoying a visit and tour of Reno, Nev., they continued on to Chico, Calif., where they were guests of Mr. Padberg's daughter, Mrs. Frank Moore, and family. En route home they spent some time camping at Paulina Lake near Bend and traveled to Paulina Peak, with an elevation of about 8,000 feet. Upon their return they found that Mrs. Padberg's sister who they had intended visiting in Marysville, Calif., had come to Heppner to visit them over the rodeo week-end.

Dress-Up Parade To Open Round-Up Season Saturday

The Round-Up season in Pendleton officially opens with the Dress-Up Parade, Saturday, September 9, at 7 p.m. The colorful parade, under the direction of the Main Street Cowboys, will wind through downtown Pendleton streets and end up at the Round-Up grounds. Trophies are presented to the winning floats, riding clubs, bands, best-dressed cowboy and cowgirl, best-mounted and dressed family group, and various other entries. Last year's sweepstakes winner was the Milton-Freewater Chamber of Commerce entry.

The historic Westward Ho! parade is held Friday morning of the four-day Round-Up, and this year will be September 15 starting at 10 a.m., immediately following the judging of the American Indian Beauty contest in downtown Pendleton. The Westward Ho! parade depicts the modes of transportation used in the early days of the West prior to the use of motorized vehicles. Only one award is presented to a participant of the Westward Ho! parade and that is to the outstanding Indian. The award is fifty silver dollars in a Hamley leather poke, sponsored by Mrs. Roy T. Bishop, Tom and Bill Bishop, and Mrs. James Reville, in memory of Roy T. Bishop, first Indian director of the Round-Up.

Mrs. Anna Wannassay, 80, of the Cayuse tribe, was winner of the poke in 1966. She is the granddaughter of the late Chief Yellow Hawk of the Cayuse tribe. She was born on the Umatilla Indian Reservation and attended school in Carlyle, Pa., in 1906. Each year she is in charge of the registration for the American Indian Beauty contest and Junior Indian Beauty contest during Round-Up week. Mrs. Wannassay was wearing the buckskin dress of her grandmother when she won the award.

The Indians, who registered at the annual Root Festival at the Umatilla Indian celebration grounds last spring, will be moving onto the grounds of the Redman's Village Friday, in preparation for the annual Round-Up. Indian Director John Mulligan said some 850 teepees will be erected in the Indian Village for the remainder of the Round-Up. The Indians participate in tribal dancing in the Round-Up arena each day of the four-day show. More than 1000 Indians from throughout the Pacific Northwest come to the Round-Up each year.
