So said Fire Chief Forrest Burkenbine of Heppner in quoting a study of the National Fire Protection Association on the occasion of National Fire Prevention Week, October 8 to 14. The study shows that the majority of lives lost each year in home fires have been needlessly lost because of failure to preplan and rehearse a simple exit drill in the home.

Congressman Al Ullman played a leading role in action October 3 by the House Ways and

"The President has refused to cooperate with our committee in establishing firm guide lines for spending cuts," Ullman said.
"Therefore, further consideration at this time seems futile."

The resolution — drafted by Uliman — temporarily puts the bill on the table "until such time as the President and the Congress reach an understanding on a means of implementing more effective expenditure reductions and controls."
