

Directors Reject Teacher Proposal

Ron Daniels had reported to the board that the Ordinance run is over a very rough road that has taken a high toll on district vehicles. He said, however, that County Judge Paul Jones had agreed to meet with the Umatilla county court in an attempt to reach an agreement to oil the road which extends into both counties.

Purchase of one pickup was also approved. These purchases were recommended by the transportation committee of the district which met prior to the board session.

Car Rental Okayed

Another proposal from the committee was that the board consider rental of a car for the superintendent instead of a replacement purchase. Daniels said that a car could be rented as an auxiliary driver training car at $60 per month. The car would be turned in to the dealer every six months. When one of the regular driver training cars was out of service for any reason, the superintendent's car could be used for a replacement.

This was also approved by the directors who felt it would be less costly to rent a car than to purchase a replacement.

Other recommendations of the transportation committee that were approved were: 1. Combine the Blackhorse - Sandho 110 routes and make a regular bus run there. 2. Make the run to the Bob Van Schoiack place at Rock Creek a part of a regular bus run. 3. Extend the Lena run to pick up the Bob McLaughlin children.

Savings of $7000 Seen

It was pointed out that these steps would increase salaries of bus drivers on the runs affected by something over $1000 per year but would eliminate some $9000 on contract runs. Net saving to the district was figured at $7200 per year.

Long discussion was held by the board on the minor matter of allowance to school secretaries for using their own cars for picking up mail and running other errands for their respective schools. The Heppner High school secretary has received $10 per month for this purpose.

Meanwhile, a letter was presented to the board from Arnie Hedman, Dean Naffziger, Terry Linecum and Dorothy Agee, all teachers, asking for 5c per mile allowance for their travel between Heppner Elementary and Heppner High schools, made necessary because they teach in both schools.

Mrs. Lanham asked that this be referred to the professional consultation committee for consideration, and this request was granted.

As to the secretaries, the board decided to pay them for use of their personal cars for school purposes on a mileage basis, with the admonition that this use be kept to a minimum.

Secretaries' Work Outlined

Principals Dick Carpenter and Alan Martin gave a full accounting of the time spent by the secretary in each school during the summer, detailing their duties and responsibilities. This apparently was in response to a request for information. Last year the board had acted to curtail the secretaries' work in the summer. The matter evidently will be further considered in the preparation of this year's budget.

Supt. Daniels reported on a meeting in Ontario Saturday concerned with the reorganization of intermediate education districts. L. E. Dick of Heppner is a member of the committee on reorganization, and Daniels urged that some of the directors attend the meeting with Dick.

The superintendent also reported on the lugs coming loose from the wheels of a school bus, allowing both tires to come off. He said that he has issued a letter to all bus drivers pointing out procedures to follow in driving and checking busses and said that two days of inservice training for drivers will be given prior to the start of school next fall. No one was hurt in the accident and the driver kept the bus under control. Daniels said that when a tire was changed the lugs were not properly tightened, and that the person responsible has admitted making the error.

Daniels also reported that he has learned that National Defense Education Act matching funds for vocational equipment that he had hoped to obtain for the district are exhausted, with community colleges getting the bulk of funds available.

term does not expire until 1973. Judge Kaye has already announced that he will be a candidate for the office he now holds.

On the county level, positions of interest coming up for election include those of sheriff, clerk, one county commissioner, treasurer, two justices of the peace, and four port commission positions.

The term of County Commissioner Walter Hayes of Boardman expires this year, but he has not announced whether he will be a candidate for reelection.

This year for the first time, the port commissioners will run as non-partisans. Their names will be on the nonpartisan ballot instead of the party ballots. Three positions will be for 4-year terms and one will be for a 2-year term.

Commissioners whose terms are expiring include those of Dick Krebs, Dewey West, Os-Krebs and West are completing car Peterson and Larry Lindsay, regular terms while Peterson is completing a 2-year term to which he was elected in November, 1966. These three positions will be for 4-year terms on the ballot this year. Lindsay was appointed to the commission to succeed the late Barney Malcom, and so this position also comes up for election this year. It will be for a 2-year term.

Both justice of the peace positions in Morrow county (5th and 6th districts) will be up for election, the one in Heppner now being served by Justice Gribble and the other in Irrigon (15th) now being served by Justice Ernest Jorgenson.

Those seeking nonpartisan offices will be listed on a separate ballot, apart from the Democratic and Republican ballots, in the primaries. However, Mrs. Parrish points out that if there is only one candidate for a nonpartisan office, he will not be on the ballot in the primary, but rather, will be on the ballot in the general election, scheduled for Tuesday, November 5.

Mrs. Parrish was at a meeting on elections at John Day Monday, Jack Thompson, director of elections, was in charge of the session and clerks from many eastern Oregon counties attended.

Conservation Meet In Irrigon Tonight

Clarence Underwood, of the Boardman Soil and Water Conservation District, calls the public's attention to a correction in the date of the district's annual meeting.

The meeting will be held tonight (Thursday), January 18, instead of Tuesday night, as was announced in last week's paper. The dinner, furnished by the district, will be served at 8:30 p.m., at the A. C. Houghton school in Irrigon, followed by the annual meeting and guest speaker Ted Sidor of Oregon State University.

Burglars Enter Bristow's Market

Burglars entered Bristow's Market in Ione apparently Saturday night and stole a considerable quantity of groceries, leaving some $25 in change in the cash register untouched. Sheriff C. J. D. Bauman said Monday.

Entry was made by breaking glass in the store's front door. Don Bristow told the sheriff that a considerable quantity of groceries was taken, but it is difficult to determine exactly how much is missing.

The sheriff said that investigation is continuing but few clues were left to work on. The entry was discovered sometime Sunday.

Meanwhile, the Union 76 station at Boardman was entered also Saturday night, according to Ed Kuhn, owner. Tools, tires, generators, spark plugs and a box containing some 2000 contest tickets being used in a Union Oil promotion were stolen.

Entry was through a rear door. Suspect in another burglary is now being held in Pendleton, the sheriff said. Dusty Shirley, 21, who used the name James Rogers in registering at Van-Winkle's motel here recently, is in custody in Pendleton facing charges of larceny and issuing bad checks in Umatilla county.

Jack VanWinkle has filed a felony information against him following the loss of some $30 from the motel office, Shirley was the only guest at the motel recently on the day the money was taken, it is reported. The operators went away from the premises for a time, and when they returned both Shirley and the money were gone.

The sheriff said that Shirley worked for a time at Kinzua. He was picked up in Pendleton on a routine check charge and later was held on the other charges. Another charge against him from Wheeler county apparently has been dropped, the sheriff said.

A typical farm may be 30 acres, cut up in two or three acre plots for diversified use, she said. There is an abundance of rainfall, but many farms don't have running water. Agricultural research stations are continually working on the development of varieties of crops suitable to the country and climate, she said.

Miss Conner, who was scheduled to make other appearances on her visit here, showed colored slides that she had taken to illustrate her talk.

She was introduced by Gail McCarty, Morrow county extension agent.

JUDY CONNER

Life in Ireland Reported in Talk By IFYE Speaker

A glimpse of Ireland was given to the Heppner-Morrow county Chamber of Commerce at its luncheon meeting Monday by Miss Judy Conner of Lorane, Ore., who has completed a six-months visit to that country through the International Farm Youth Exchange program.

Speaking to a full house in the Wagon Wheel Cafe's banquet room, Miss Conner said that English is spoken in 30 different accents in Ireland, which she called "a land of contrasts."

The west is the poorest area but has the most dense rural population. The reason is that the English took the fertile lands of the south and east for their estates, she said.

Ireland left the British Commonwealth in 1936. As in the United States, cities are growing fast and draining population in the rural areas.

There are few natural resources, but two such are peat and coal. Peat, used for fuel, is harvested just as any other crop. It is cut from natural bogs in bricks and laid out to dry before being sold.

"Farmers don't think they are getting enough for their produce," Miss Conner said, and noted the similarity to farmers in the U. S. on this point. She said, however, that farmers there did something about it when they marched to Dublin and made their demands. The dairy industry got the biggest boost as a result of the march.

Sixty percent of Ireland's exports are agricultural produce, one of the principal ones being butter.

There is an abundance of rainfall, but many farms don't have running water. Agricultural research stations are continually working on the

Mustangs to Play Burns High Here; Grant Union There

By BOB DOBBS

This week-end two games are slated for Heppner High. Friday the Mustangs go against the Burns Hillanders in Heppner and on Saturday they travel to John Day to meet the undefeated Grant Union Prospectors again. Neither clash is a league counter but John Day is a strong favorite in the eastern half of the Greater Oregon League, so the game will test the Mustang strength.

The Mustangs meet Burns also for the second time this season. In the first tilt, at Burns, Heppner walked away with a 63-54 win which they pulled out of the bag despite a strong second half rally by the Burns squad.

Saturday night's game at John Day pits Heppner against a team which is rated fourth in A-2 standings by at least one newspaper. The Prospectors have won twelve straight and are the only undefeated team among the rated squads.

John Day squeaked by the Mustangs in the season opener here by a 54-51 margin. The scoring went almost even throughout the game, with both squads scoring 28 points in the second half. The difference seemed to have come in the first quarter when the Horsemen were out-scored 14-11. This three-point spread turned out to be the Mustangs' "Waterloo."
