Ione High's surging basketball team rode roughshod over Helix Friday night on the Grizzlies' floor, 78 to 52, in a league game and then dumped high-geared Dufur at Ione Saturday night, 62 to 57, for a week-end sweep.

The Friday victory held the Cardinals in fourth spot in the Umatilla-Morrow B circuit, in a challenging position to knock over the league leaders.

They will have the opportunity to climb this week-end when they face undefeated McEwen of Athena Friday night at Ione, and then travel to Stanfield Saturday night for another league tilt.

McEwen currently is undefeated for the year and has nine straight in league games. The Scotties defeated Ione at Athena on December 16 by only three points, 47 to 44, and Coach Gene Dockter's boys will be hoping to turn the tables in the Friday meeting. Stanfield topped Echo over the week-end, and this points up the fact that they will be tough to defeat Saturday night. Before Echo lost to Ione on January 20 the Cougars were undefeated.

Statistics show that the Cardinals recorded 34 assists among them for the two games against Helix and Dufur, as against only nine for the pair of games the prior week-end. Coach Dockter feels this indicates his boys are working together better and really starting to click as a team.

Against Helix, the Redbirds led all the way, forging to a 21-14 first quarter lead and climbing to 34 to 25 by half-time. Coach Dockter used reserves liberally, starting in the third quarter and every member of the squad got into the game.

Surprisingly, rebounds were close at 43 to 41 in favor of Ione with Frank Halvorsen picking off 13. The Cards shot 41% on 28 of 68 tries, while Helix hit only 22% on 17 of 75. Chris Lovgren turned in perhaps his best game of the year as he hit seven field goals and three free throws for a total of 17 points. He also was credited for seven assists, indicating good team play.

It was also another good night for Swanson who blasted 10 buckets and added two free throws for 22. Terleson led Helix with 15.

In downing Dufur, the Cardinals defeated the team that had previously whipped Condon. Dufur is also ranked 13th in the state in one newspaper's rating for B teams.

It was a nip and tuck affair all the way. The five Ione players who started performed as ironmen with only Ron Palmateer breaking in for a short time. Ione trailed, 8 to 2, at the start but switched to a zone and took an 18-11 first quarter lead. They increased the margin to nine points by the half, 38 to 29, but Dufur, led by sharpshooter Doug Tienhaara, pulled to within three by the end of the third, 50 to 47.

At the start of the fourth, Dufur forged into a one-point lead at 51 to 50, but the Redbirds fought back to come out on top by the five point spread.

Each team had 25 field goals and took almost the identical number of shots, Ione trying 69 and Dufur 70. Difference came on free throws with the Redbirds getting 12 of 22 while Dufur made seven of 10.

Tienhaara, the big scorer, is one of the smallest on the Dufur team at 5-9. Limmeroth, his teammate, is 6-6, and Ward is 6-5. The Redbirds held the big boys but couldn't stop Tienhaara from scoring 29 on 13 field goals and three free throws.

Halvorsen took the honors for Ione with 23 points, and he also grabbed 23 rebounds. Swanson had 16 points and 12 rebounds.

Trip to Madras Set for Friday By Mustang Team

By BOB DOBBS

Heppner High's Mustangs have only one basketball game on tap for this week-end, with the Madras White Buffs. It will be played in Madras on Friday, February 2.

Friday night's encounter will be the first meeting between these two clubs this year; however, it will be Heppner's third league tilt. Heppner High, still working for that first league win, has already lost more games this year than any team in the last two seasons.

As things stand, Heppner's Mustangs can still pull off the trip to the District 7-A-2 playoffs. The La Grande tourney would be the fourth in four years for Heppner. To make it, the Mustangs can't lose another league game. They will have to start the winning streak by taking Madras Friday night.

One of Heppner High's big problems this year has been the boys' inability to get the good "percentage shot." The Mustangs have been making around 35% of their shots. This isn't really too bad, but the problem comes when they don't shoot the ball as often as their opponents.

Last week-end the Horsemen shot 52 times against the Condon Blue Devils, while the Blue Devils attempted 77. The Condon team, as described elsewhere, came out on top.

It had better change this week-end for the better, if the Mustangs plan to retain their sub-district championship.

Madras possesses the ability to be a top-rate team and as always to give the Mustangs a sound and hard clash. The Mustangs plan to do their best to start themselves on the way to La Grande again this year.

Heppner Jayvees Lose Close Games

By DEAN KINDLE

Heppner High's jayvees again lost their week-end basketball bouts, one with Wahtonka by a score of 65-61, and the other to Condon by a score of 45-40.

In the Wahtonka game, they didn't play real good ball until the last four minutes of the fourth quarter. They seemed to be sparked by something at that point and really closed in on the Wahtonka five. However, their rally wasn't soon enough to get ahead.

The Condon game was a close one until the final minutes of the last quarter, when the Condon jayvees spurted ahead. The scores came within three points at times. The jayvees fouled to try and get the ball, but the players they fouled wouldn't miss the free throws.

The Heppner jayvees have lost six games by margins of two to seven points, but to Grant Union by scores of 23 and 31. They have lost most of their six close games by poor shooting at the free throw line.

Rooks Drop Tilt To Rocket Five

By MELVIN ASHBECK

The Heppner High Rooks suffered their second basketball defeat in nine starts at Pilot Rock on January 25. Earlier in the season Heppner beat Pilot Rock on Heppner's floor.

The Rooks started out with a very cold first quarter. Though they scored on even terms the rest of the game, this deficit score from the first eight minutes probably determined the outcome of the game. Heppner hit 42% from the field, while Pilot Rock shot a spectacular 60%.

La Verne Van Marter took game scoring honors with 25 while John Hall came up with 13 for Heppner.

Both scheduled games were dropped by the Mustang varsity basketball team over the week-end. They were dumped by the Wahtonka Eagles, 58-46, at The Dalles Friday night in league action, and Saturday night they were again losers to the Condon Blue Devils, 73-67, in a non-league tilt at home.

Friday night the Mustangs led early in the game only to have the Eagles overtake them in the second quarter. They really lost the game at the gift line where they canned only 12-25 while Wahtonka potted 20-27 for an eight-point margin.

Heppner cut rebounded the Eagles, 50-30, with Jon O'Donnell grabbing 16 and Russ Kilkenny 13.

This loss was sad as the Mustangs had walloped the Eagles at the Mid-Columbia tournament during Christmas vacation.

Saturday night the Mustangs played much better ball but did not take enough shots to win the game. They only connected on 21 of 53, while Condon canned 32 of 77 for a 22-point difference that could not be overcome even though the Mustangs shot 25 of 39 at the gift line. Condon only managed nine of 20 chances.

This was the second time this year that Condon has beaten the Mustangs and is one of the few times in the past several years that they have taken Heppner.

The Mustangs, who have been looking good on the boards, led in this department with Jon O'Donnell, Steve Pettyjohn, and Russ Kilkenny snatching 14, 14, and 11 respectively.

These week-end losses have dropped the Mustangs to a mediocre 7 and 8 record. In order to even have a chance for a district tournament berth, they will have to win the last six league games.

Seminar Discusses Scientific Method

How far should the scientific method go?

This was the question that was put before a panel at a biology seminar Thursday evening, January 25. The meeting was open to the public, and many townspeople and parents attended with the students.

The model for discussion was Aldous Huxley's "Brave New World" which the advanced biology students had been required to read. The discussion covered such issues as the problems of man-made life, the definition of life and the determination of death, and tampering and replacing parts of the body.

Kirk Horn, biology instructor, moderated a panel of nine people representing several professions. On the panel were Pastor Don Pederson, the Rev. Melvin Dixon, and the Rev. Al Boscoe, religion; Dr. Wallace Wolff, medicine; Dr. Dorothy Krebs, biochemistry; Lynn Pearson, pharmacy; Robert Abrams, law; Mrs. Jane Rawlins, language arts; and Adrian Cook, psychology.

Freshmen to Play Condon Thursday

Heppner's "winningest" basketball team, the Heppner High freshmen, will play Condon freshmen in the Mustangs' gymnasium here Thursday (today) at 5:30 p.m.

The team defeated the Condon frosh earlier at Condon and recently defeated Pilot Rock on the young Rockets' floor, 69 to 53. The frosh have lost only two games this season.

Service Conducted By Church Youth

Youth members of the First Christian church congregation conducted 11 o'clock services at the church last Sunday, January 28.

Miss Teresa Harshman delivered the sermon message entitled, "Three Parts of a Human," the three parts being the body, the soul, and the mind.

Members also conducted the communion services, and special music for the occasion was provided by Glenda and Brenda Carpenter, Theresa Wright, Barbara Allstott, and Bruce Bergstrom, with guitar accompaniment by Jim Sherman.

Group advisor of the youth organization is Mrs. Bob Bergstrom.
