

Drunken Driving Conviction Rate Low, Speaker Says

place a lampshade on his head. "He's not drunk at this point," Hanners said. "I've been to preacher parties where they acted as silly as that."

Not everyone who drinks becomes an alcoholic, the speaker pointed out at the beginning of his talk. However, he said that alcohol is habit-forming and when it is used as a means of handling problems it is a "dangerous kind of drinking."

Whenever drinking interferes with a person's normal everyday functions—his job, his marital relations, his family relations and so on—he may be an alcoholic.

Hanners pointed out the importance of example in dealing with alcoholics.

"Somebody is a key in every alcoholic's life," he said.

"If you're going to use alcohol, be aware of some of the problems," he urged. "Don't use it as a crutch."

Reception given to Hanners by his audiences in this area indicated that they agreed that he lived up to his reputation as "one of the most brilliant speakers for alcohol education in the western states." He mixed a generous amount of humor with the factual presentation.

Dick Carpenter, Heppner High school principal, remarked to the Chamber after the talk there that Hanners' presentation at the high school earlier that day was "outstanding," that the students were very much impressed, and that the school would like to have him return.

Dr. A. D. McMurdo spoke to the Chamber preceding Hanners' talk, giving a tribute to Abraham Lincoln that he had written and telling highlights of Lincoln's life.

Dick Ruhl, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ruhl, was among a group of Oregon football coaches in the state who were selected to attend a "coach of the year" clinic in San Francisco, Calif., last week-end. Among others attending was Coach Dee Andros of Oregon State University. Ruhl is assistant football coach this year at Roseburg High school.

Ruggles Finishes Fifth in State's 'Bowl Down Cancer'

Charles Ruggles, an enthusiastic bowler at Heppner's Fiesta Lanes, has won fifth place in the state "Bowl Down Cancer" tournament conducted by the Oregon State Bowling Proprietors association for the benefit of the American Cancer Society, Oregon Division, it was announced this week.

In four games, Ruggles' score was 722, the best game being the final one at 203. With his 4-game handicap of 205, his total score was 927.

He is kicking himself for not doing better in the final game.

"I had a good one going," he said. If he had registered a strike in the last frame, he would have placed higher in the state rankings. Two points more and he would have tied for a color television set, given for third.

Winner of first prize in the men's division was Sidney Swehosky of Albany, who received a new Volkswagen for a prize. Women's winner was Mary Lou Will of Woodburn, who also won a Volkswagen. Ruggles' prize is a canvas top canopy. He had not received it by the first of the week.

Sherman to Take Richfield Station

Calvin Sherman, for many years a resident of Heppner, announced this week that he will start operation of the new Richfield service station (formerly Wes' Richfield) beginning Tuesday, February 20.

Wes Marlatt retired from the station recently after operating Richfield service in Heppner for the past 11 years.

Sherman has been attending Richfield service training school in Seattle for the past month, and his wife, Beverly, is with him there this week. Since 1950 he has been employed by Stone Machinery Co. in Ione and Heppner working with Caterpillars.

The new station operator said that he will carry a complete line of Richfield products and automotive work to be done, besides lubrication, will include motor tuneup, front end alignment and muffler work.

The station also will do car washing and waxing, Sherman said.

Harlan McCurdy, manager of Morrow County Grain Growers, Inc., attended a meeting of the Pacific Northwest Grain Dealers in Portland Wednesday. He is a member of the warehouse committee. On Friday he will participate at a meeting of the Managers and Directors Association of the North Pacific Grain Growers, also in Portland. McCurdy is secretary-treasurer of the managers and directors association.

his family. On a ranch in Ontario he played with Shaw, who then was seven years old and Herb was six.

"We hit it off real well," Herb recalled. But the years slipped by and they had no other opportunity to visit.

When Shaw picked up the long fare, he had in mind that this would be a good chance to come around and renew acquaintances.

He is also close to Bob and Bill Lowe. They are not directly related but close enough to consider themselves as related. Shaw is a cousin of Hynd on the latter's mother's side of the family. The Lowes are cousins of Herb on Hynd's father's side.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scott, both now deceased, once operated the store at Cecil. Mrs. Scott (Louise) was a sister of Shaw.

The taxi driver, who once had a fleet of six cabs but is now taking it easier and has cut down to the one which he drives himself, is taking his time about getting home. Since arriving in Los Angeles he has done a great deal of sightseeing and particularly enjoyed the trip up Highway 101, which he said, is "the most beautiful highway you would ever want to travel." This was the first time that he had seen the Pacific ocean, and he picked up some artistic specimens of driftwood that delighted him. Previously, he had made two trips to Florida, so he had seen the Atlantic.

Shaw plans to spend more time here before continuing back to Toronto, visiting with the Lowes, the Hynds families, with the relatives in Monument and others.

He said that he is very fond of Morrow county, even on his first visit, and declared with a laugh that he wasn't confused by the traffic on the highways. He is used to driving in a city of 1,870,000 persons.

Since leaving Los Angeles, he has rolled up 2311 miles on his late model taxi, making a total for the trip so far of 5863 miles.

When he and Herb made the trip to Heppner Tuesday from Cecil, Shaw started the cab's meter.

"Why, that thing registered 55c before we ever moved," Herb declared. "When we got to Morgan it had rolled up more than $5. I told him to 'shut that thing off.'"
