Club Names Officers For Coming Year; Antiques Discussed

New officers of the Heppner Mothers club were elected for the coming year at the meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Melvin Dixon. Those who will be installed at the May meeting will be Mrs. Bob Abrams, president; Mrs. Pat Brindle, vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Methvin, secretary-treasurer. Co-chairmen for coming programs will be Mrs. Bob Bergstrom and Mrs. Vern Kethley.

Welcomed as a new member was Mrs. Bill Hust and guest of the evening was Mrs. Carol Baker.

Members voted to purchase flannel for baby layettes which will be made by workers at the Heppner Neighborhood Center and distributed to needy families through the center. As another service project, the club voted to continue the Readers Digest subscription for use by patients at Pioneer Memorial hospital.

An interesting program on "Antiques, Old and New", was presented by Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. Brindle.

An unusual collection of telephone insulators, which has been a hobby of Rev. and Mrs. Dixon during the past year, were on display and the historical background of each variety was discussed by Mrs. Dixon. Many in the collection were picked up in North Morrow county along old telephone lines that are no longer in use.

Their significance in the progress of communication was noted, with the earliest manufacturers dating back to 1844. Considered as a "new antique", interest among collectors of insulators is growing, as overhead lines are being replaced by those underground. Values of the insulators vary, according to dates and companies of manufacturers, the chemical glass content, shapes, colors and other distinguishing markings. Each member attending was invited to take home an insulator from her duplicate collection.

Mrs. Brindle presented some of her family heirlooms and antique collections, some dating back over 100 years. "To be authentic antiques, they need to be dated before 1830," she pointed out. Designs of carnival glass, porcelain, bone china, cut glass were found of interest, as were the early coffee grinder, sad iron, tapestries, and others. Important markings and types of materials were discussed as ways of dating antiques.

During the social hour, lemon-filled cake dessert was served with tea and coffee by the co-hostesses, Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. Brindle.
