4-H Youth Win Awards at Fair

Four members of the Oregon Trail Livestock club, led by Ron Davis of Olex, won championship awards in 4-H livestock and showmanship entered in the Gilliam County Fair in Condon. The young people attend school in Ione, but live just across the Gilliam county line, so exhibit their projects at Condon.

A 105-lb. market lamb owned by Jodi Snow won for her the grand champion lamb ribbon. This was the fourth grand champion lamb entered by the Snow girls, from stock purchased from the Greenup ranch, Heppner. It was purchased by The Dalles Branch, First National Bank, bringing 70c lb.

Jodi was also awarded for her first place ewe lamb, won reserve championship for ewe and lamb, and won the Preserved Food award in her division, presented by the Ball Company.

Grand champion awards went to Jeri Snow for her breeding ewe, and for her ewe and lamb. Her 110 lb. market lamb was judged reserve champion, and was purchased by Agri-Chem of Wasco and Moro, for 65c. She was judged reserve champion in sheep showmanship. Jeri also won the Mrs. Ray Rogers record book contest for outstanding 4-H record book, with a scholarship to summer school.

The two girls are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Snow.

Marcia Linnell won several honors. She was named champion in Junior Beef Showmanship, and was reserve champion in all-around Beef Showmanship. Marcia received a first place blue ribbon on her 4-H dress project and was winner of the first place trophy in the Keyhole racing events.

Brook Linnell received a trophy for being named champion Intermediate Beef Showman. He also won the Western States Angus auxiliary trophy for his outstanding 4-H Angus exhibit. In racing events, he won first place trophy in barrel racing and first place trophy in pole bending.

Marcia and Brook are children of Mr. and Mrs. Don Linnell. All four of the above 4-H members received blue ribbons on their record books. The Morrow county 4-H Ski Club, led by Mrs. Snow, received a blue ribbon on its booth entered at the fair.

Quarter Horse Show Slated

Third annual Quarter Horse Show, sponsored by Columbia Basin Quarter Horse association, will be held at the Umatilla County fairgrounds in Hermiston on Saturday, September 28.

Mrs. Don (Arlene) Smith, show secretary, announces a full schedule of halter and youth events to start at 8:00 a.m. followed by the working events at 1:00 p.m.

Twenty quarter horse shows were held in Oregon last year, with only eight as Class A shows. The Columbia Basin shows have been confirmed by the American Quarter Horse association as Class A shows for the past two years, attracting exhibitors from all over the Pacific Northwest to vie for the additional points which come with placing in the Class A show. Oregon has 10,773 registered American quarter horses, a breed which originated more than three centuries ago in the United States.

Exhibitors will show some of the amazing versatility of the breed in the variety of working events, which include Western pleasure, cutting, reining, roping, working cow horse, barrel racing, Western riding and pole bending. A new Western pleasure class is open this year for the owner-rider who is non-professional.

Entry blanks are available by calling 567-6272 evenings, or writing Mrs. Don Smith, 1555 West Highland, Hermiston, Oregon.

Visiting Tuesday and Wednesday of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Brown were their niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt of O'Neill, Neb. The couple was on a vacation trip and have been visiting relatives on the west coast.

Rev. Dirk Rinehart left Sunday afternoon for Pilgrim First Conference center where he will attend a leadership skills institute. He was accompanied on the trip by the Rev. Richard Payne, Pendleton, and expects to be gone about five days.
