

Two Men Assigned At Fort Knox, Ky.

Army Privates Monty L. Crum of Ione and Paul A. Hisler, Jr., of Heppner are assigned to Company A, 10th Battalion, 5th Brigade, at Fort Knox, Ky. They will spend the next two months learning the fundamental skills of the soldier in today's modern, action Army—firing live ammunition under simulated combat situations, learning protective measures and first-aid for chemical, biological and radiological attacks, as well as being schooled in the use of modern arms.

Pvt. Crum is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Crum of Ione, and Pvt. Hisler is son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hisler, Sr., of Heppner. They will receive at least an additional eight weeks of advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify them in a specialized military skill after completion of basic training.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Nikander visited briefly in Portland last week with their son, Edward, and family. Nikander has just returned, with his family, from a two month's assignment in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He is employed as a customs engineer for IBM in Portland and had been working on the machines in the East.

Heating's no problem for him

Ever wish you were fur-bearing come winter when your home is drafty-cold?

Modern electric heating assures sunshine comfort for your family even on the coldest days.

Electric heating gives you smooth, even heat in every corner of every room.

It's cleaner, too—no soot, dirt or grease.

It's economical — electricity uses all its energy in heating. Individual room temperature control means you heat only those rooms you use—no heat is wasted.

Electric heat is practical—no flues, pilot lights or valves to inspect or clean.

And you get more room—there are no radiators or furnaces to take up valuable living space.

Changing to modern electric heat is a low-cost, simple matter. Get professional advice today from your rural electric system.
