Hermiston Man To Start Church Series on Friday

Pastor R. W. Heinrich, Hermiston, will speak on the theme, "Changeless Christ in a Changing World" on Friday evening, November 1, 7:30 p.m., at the first of a three-week series of meetings in the Heppner Seventh-day Adventist church, according to H. E. Preston, local Adventist pastor.

"The meetings planned for Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights from November 1 through 23 are designed to provide a pattern of consistent Christian living which meets the needs of people living in this age of perplexities and mounting stresses," the pastor said.

"Lovely expensive Bibles will be loaned to everyone who attends the meetings, to be used in following the speaker as he refers to his Scripture texts by page number," said Pastor Preston. He adds that those who attend regularly will be privileged to keep the Bible as their own, free of charge.

Each Friday and Saturday a Sermon from Science film in living color, produced by the Moody Bible Institute, will be shown preceding the sermon for that evening, according to the speaker's printed program.

Admission is free and the public is invited to attend. The church is located at 560 N. Minor Street.

General Election Coming Tuesday

many years; Jim Barnett, independent challenger; and John Mollahan, Democratic candidate for the sheriff's post. This is expected to stimulate interest at the polls from the local level.

On the nonpartisan ballot, the one contest is that between Dale Parnell, state superintendent of public instruction, and Walter Blake, who is running for the office. Both have strong supporters in Morrow county.

Two measures are attracting particular interest, one taking a back seat only to the presidential election for top attention on the ballot. This is the proposal to limit property taxes to 1½% of true cash value (Measure 7), which has been widely discussed and debated for months across the state.

The other is Measure 6, called the Beach Bill, which would impose an additional 1c gasoline tax to retire bonds floated for the purpose of buying private beach lands for the public under state ownership. This also has brought strong arguments on either side.

Five other measures (all reviewed in last week's paper) and a number of uncontested offices complete the ballot. City elections will be held currently with the general election. In Ione there is competition for the positions of treasurer and councilman, but in Heppner all candidates are running without opposition on the ballot.

DeSpain Sustains Eye Lacerations

Bob DeSpain is making recovery at his home in Arlington this week following severe eye injuries incurred late last Thursday while playing a game of baseball with his son at their home. He received glass fragments in his eye after the ball struck him, breaking his glasses. He returned to his home Saturday following hospitalization in The Dalles hospital, but expects to be confined for several more days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan McCurdy, Jr., traveled to Portland Saturday, October 19, to attend the OSU-Arizona State football game that afternoon at the Coliseum. Their daughter, Karen, who attends Oregon State University, met her parents in Portland for the week-end. Also attending the game from Heppner were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McQuarrie.

PTA Leaders Plan For Next Meeting

Officers and committee chairmen of the Heppner Elementary PTA met with Principal Alan Martin for an executive meeting in the grade school library Wednesday, October 23.

Plans were discussed for the next regular PTA meeting and "Teachers Bazaar" on Wednesday evening, November 13, at the grade school. The business meeting will be held in the gymnasium and the bazaar, which will follow immediately, will be in the multipurpose room.

The bazaar will feature a variety of booths, with each teacher providing one for his room. Parents will be invited to participate in the evening activities.

Mrs. Lowell Chally and Mrs. Loren Lucore were appointed co-chairmen of a PTA membership drive now in progress. The drive, conducted by youngsters in grades one through five, will be out selling PTA memberships. The contest began October 28 and will last until November 8. Cash prizes will be awarded three top salesmen in the contest. Most memberships will be treated to an ice cream feed, announces PTA President Arnold Raymond.

Parents are reminded that this year it will be necessary to have a membership card to vote on issues at PTA meetings.

Money from the membership drive will be turned into the school office and parents may pick up their cards at the next regular meeting, November 13.

Let's Look at the Record...

HUBERT HUMPHREY

A long-term analysis of the votes of Hubert Humphrey by the National Farmers Union lists him as voting a total of 256 times on measures of vital interest to farmers—with a 100 percent record favorable to Farmers Union.

Following are quotations from recent speeches:

"This nation has a great debt to the American farmer, and it is not being adequately repaid. It will be repaid when America assures its farmers the same economic chance that others in our economy enjoy . . .

"We need people with a specific agricultural background permanently located at critical points throughout the government . . .

"I shall recommend a sizeable increase in Farmers Home Administration lending authority . . .

"I shall fight for federal tax reform to remove artificial incentives for the movement of non-farmers into agriculture . . .

"I want our basic farm program improved and made permanent . . .

"We need strategic reserves of major farm commodities . . .

"We also need stronger farm cooperatives . . .

"We need to build new export markets for our farm commodities . . .

"Every American must be provided enough to eat . . .

"Our farmers must get a fair price for what is nothing less than a major contribution to peace—here and in the world . . .

"I am ready to work with you and for you on new concepts in farm bargaining power . . .

"What the world needs is more leaders who really care about people."

Following are highlights of his voting career on farm issues:

—In 1949, as a freshman Senator, Humphrey supported unsuccessful efforts to retain the high 90% of parity price supports for basic commodities which had prevailed in the war years and the early postwar period.

—In 1952, Humphrey voted against an unsuccessful amendment to reduce the Army Engineers' flood control appropriation by $12 million.

RICHARD NIXON

A long-term analysis of the votes of Richard Nixon shows a record of almost 100 percent consistency against the Farmers Union position.

His career in the Congress was relatively short—serving from 1947 to 1950; then he became a Senator until he became Vice President in 1952.

In a major speech on agricultural policy delivered March 27, 1968 in Wassau, Wis., Nixon proposed a seven-point policy on farm problems: (1) replacement of Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman; (2) "awareness" of the important role American agriculture played in "defending the dollar abroad"; (3) a national effort to attract industry to rural America; (4) stepped-up research to find new and more diverse uses for "our enormous volume of farm production"; (5) a "new look" at existing price-support programs; (6) new policies to "lower the cost of production" for American farmers; and (7) a program to send farmers overseas to "teach people how to feed themselves."

In his career as Congressman and Senator Nixon voted 16 times on key rural issues—13 of those votes were against Farmers Union's position.

GEORGE C. WALLACE

George Wallace has no farm record in Washington. But Alabama farmers are among the poorest in the nation—with per farm income about half the national average, and half that of surrounding states with similar land and crops.
