

New Barratt Home Warm With Welcome For Doc Severinsens

Athletic Director Jim Barratt and his wife Dorothy, were hosts for a warm OSU welcome to the university's homecoming honor guests of the day, Mr and Mrs. "Doc" Severinsens, on Saturday, November 9.

Several of the Severinsens' Eastern Oregon friends and relatives greeted them at the OSU-UCLA football game, where Severinsens made a guest appearance, and later at the new Barratt home on Crest Drive in Corvallis, where they were house guests for the weekend. Friends were renewed between those who had known "Doc" and his wife, Evonne, when they had lived in Eastern Oregon communities in former years.

The nationally known TV trumpeter delighted the capacity crowd at Parker Stadium with his guest performance with the university band at half-time, and received a standing ovation at his evening concert presentation, "Come Blow Your Horn," at Gill Coliseum.

His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Severinsens, Portland, his wife, Evonne, and her mother, Mrs. Ora Evans, Portland, were among honor guests in the audience and at the Barratt home.

Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hynd, Cecil; Miss Carol Hynd, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blake, Monmouth; Mr. and Mrs. Don Hatfield, Madras; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Sherman, all of Heppner; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jensen, Ione; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Labhart, John Day; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hinz, Corvallis; Louise and Marie Kopp, Portland; Ted Ferguson, Gold Beach; Dr. and Mrs. Gordon McGowan and Gordy, Mr. and Mrs. David Lorenzen, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Inglehart, all of Pendleton, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Skuzeski, Yamhill.

Rourke Book Reviewed For Bookworm Club

Mrs. Herman Winter was hostess to ten members of the Heppner Bookworms club Tuesday evening, October 29, as they gathered at her home for their last meeting of the month.

Book review for the evening was presented by Mrs. Robert Abrams, who reviewed "The Old Man's Boy Grows Older," by Robert Rourke. The book is composed of a series of true stories and incidents in the life of the author's grandfather.

Mrs. Bill Weatherford, president of the club, presided over the business meeting, after which the hostess, Mrs. Winter, served the refreshments to her guests.

Next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Cornett Green on Tuesday evening, November 19.
