IONE — For her Saturday evening marriage to Michael James Moore at Milwaukie Lutheran church February 1, Janet Ellen Slonecker carried as "something old" a late 1800's Swedish psalmbook carried by her grandfather, the late A. H. Nelson, at his confirmation in Sweden.

Youth Attend Special Program in Portland

Members of the Christian Youth Fellowship group, along with other friends and some parents, enjoyed a trip to Portland last week-end, where they went to hear Nicky Cruz, guest speaker for the monthly meeting of the Full Gospel Business Men.

The interesting program was held Saturday morning at the Loyd Center auditorium following a breakfast meeting of the organization.

The speaker, a reformed gang leader from New York City, held the rapt attention of the youthful members of the audience as he told of his past experiences and how his acceptance of Christ had enabled him to reform and lead a normal, useful life. He helped found the Youth Outreach organization, a group whose primary concern is steering troubled youngsters in the 10-12 age group in the right direction, and is now operating a youth center in Fresno, Calif. His story appears in the book, "The Cross and the Switchblade," written by David Wilkerson, who works with the reformed gang leader and others like him, and is associated with the Teen Challenge organizations in New York City and San Francisco.

The Heppner students' interest in the Teen Challenge program began last summer when the youth group sent special offerings to be used in the program.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Marquardt and family; Carl Marquardt and Carlita, Lolita and Jim; Mrs. Barbara Jessmer; Mrs. Earl Papineau; Rev. Kneel and family; Gwen Drake; Linda Cooper; Linda and Kenny Baker; Grace Hawk; Karla Weatherford; Sue Chally; Homer Hughes and children; Roy Maggill; Mrs. Kip Morris; Rev. Robert Wolff and family; Ricky Pettyjohn; Richard Wadholm; Mr. and Mrs. Truman Messenger; Mrs. Norma Marquardt; and Carroll Messenger of Portland.
