Merry Mixers Meet

A meeting of the Merry Mixers 4-H club was called to order by Kathleen McElligott. We made chocolate pudding. Natalie Tews was appointed sergeant-at-arms. We learned to use measuring spoons and cups. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Pettyjohn.

JUNIOR LEADER Maryanne Pettyjohn demonstrates and explains horse judging to members of the lone 4-H Horse club.

Howard Keith Serves Aboard Repair Ship

Disbursing Clerk Third Class Howard L. Keith, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Keith, Sr. of Irigton and husband of the former Miss Janice Arnold of Eugene, is serving aboard the repair ship USS Klondike at Kaohsiung, Taiwan. The ship has recently completed a 43-day tour of duty in Yokosuka, Japan, where it provided repair services for U. S. Naval vessels stationed off the coast of Vietnam.

As a repair ship with the Seventh Fleet, Klondike functions as a floating shipyard whose principal advantage is mobility.

lone Horse Club Carries on Busy 4-H Activities

By BIRDINE TULLIS
County Extension Aide

The lone 4-H Horse club, with a current membership of 13, is one of the oldest and most active clubs in Morrow county. The enthusiasm and hard work of this group of young horsemen is well known throughout the county. Members of this group are usually seen exhibiting their horses at both the 4-H Horse Shows and the open classes at the county fair.

Demonstrations are an important part of the training and teaching of this club, as well as horse health and care, horsemanship and showmanship.

This year's officers are Cassy Chapel, president; Kathleen McElligott, secretary, and John Ekstrom, news reporter. Maryanne Pettyjohn serves as Junior Leader. Co-leaders of the club are Maxine Linnell and Mary Hammond.

Any boy or girl in the lone area who is nine years of age or over and interested in horse club membership and its activities should contact members of this club, their leaders, or the county extension office.

Club Studies Color

The Nimble Thimble Stitches 4-H club met February 12 at the home of our leader, Mrs. Albert Wright. A business meeting was conducted by the president, Diana Wright. Each member tried on color bibs to see what colors look best on them. We also looked at pattern books. Mrs. Wright helped some of the older members with their skirts. The assistant leader, Mrs. Kenneth Wright, helped the younger members. Refreshments were served after the meeting. Our next meeting was on March 12.

FOURTH IN A SERIES—

The Nation's View of Rural America and Rural Electrification

(From a national study conducted for the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association by International Research Associates, Inc., of New York City. The study is based on 1394 personal interviews, sampling the adult public, one-third in major cities, one-third in suburban areas satellite to these cities, and one-third in small towns and rural areas).

The View of Rural Problems

Despite his stated contact with small towns and rural areas, the average American does not believe rural problems to be as important as others that face the nation. He ranks them lowest in priority among seven major issues and tends to set the problems of the cities at a significantly higher level. Residents of the rural areas themselves tend to view rural problems as secondary in the national context and consider them only slightly more critical than those of the cities.

In terms of possible solutions to community problems — whether urban or rural — the average citizen believes first in the concept of self-help. Only slightly below this in acceptability are solutions that, although sponsored by either government or industry, involve the citizenry and become self-help projects.

Certain slight differences are perceived by the public between the "proper" solution for urban and rural problems. Private industry is seen as playing a more significant role in solving urban problems than in solving rural problems — probably because of the belief that industry is not as available in the rural areas to help. Perhaps for the same reason, the role of government is seen to be more important, relative to private industry, in rural areas than in urban.
